AIR THRILLS TO START TODAY

G. O. P. PLEDGES TO OBEY VOTERS ON PROHIBITION

Mrs. McCormick to Accept Mandate.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Illinois Republicanism went wet today to the extent of agreeing to be bound by the results of the triple referendum on prohibition on Nov. 4, the day on which the state will elect a new representative in the United States senate.

A few minutes later Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, senatorial nominee, echoed the declaration of the platform adopted by the state convention and went a step farther by pledging herself to accept as a mandate the vote of the state on the referendum of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

"If a majority in Illinois are recorded as favorable to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment," Mrs. McCormick said, "I stand ready, when elected senator, to obey the mandate, and I shall vote to submit the question of its repeal to the several states.

Views on Modification.

"If the expressed will of the people is for modification of the Volstead act, my course as a member of the senate would be in sympathy with the principles so approved, but the definite course to be pursued would be dependent, of course, upon the nature of the modification demanded.

"It is impossible for any candidate honestly to agree in advance to a blanket endorsement of modification proposals.

"I also wish to make it clear that until the constitutional amendment is repealed or until the Volstead act is repealed or amended, I stand squarely for enforcement of both measures."

This action by the Republican party of the state and its standard bearer this fall was referred to by come correspondents as "provisionally wet," but it was unprecedented in the political history of the state. From this standpoint, the party was considered as running neck and neck with the Democrats, who adopted a dripping wet platform here two days ago.

Party Leaders Are Elated.

There was tremendous elation at this outcome of the deadlock that for approximately twenty-four hours had kept the big guns of the party at loggerheads, and did not end until shortly before dawn today.

The convention itself, held in the arsenal, as the antique building joining the state house is known, although it stores no arms or munitions, was on tiptoe as to the result of the all night conference; but before it had been in session an hour the outcome of the tug of war had become known. Snow had won against Gov. Emmerson. Snow is the county chairman heading the Chicago delegation.

Gov. Emmerson had marshaled the dewatate dry forces. All night they had faced each other, the governor and his henchmen arrayed against three from Chicago—Snow, his political chum, County Treasurer George F. Harding and David E. Shanahan, speaker of the house. Backing Emmerson were Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling, State Treasurer Omer N. Custer, State Auditor Oscar Nelson, State Chairman C. J. Doyle and enough more to make up a round dozen.

Emmerson Loses Fight.

According to reports considered reliable, it was about 4 o'clock this morning that Gov. Emmerson, despite the numerical strength behind him, agreed that generalities on the prohibition issue would not do at this stage of proceedings. Reluctantly he and his associates acceded to the Snow program and the scene shifted—after a few hours of sleep—to the state arsenal.

There was a time, it is said, when Gov. Emmerson went so far as to declare that he should not preside at the state meeting, that he was hurt by the mutilation of the platform that he thought was about right; but, the same authorities report, he listened to argument against his running out on the show. At least he retained custody of the gavel throughout the convention intrusting it at times to C. J. [Top] Doyle, the state chairman.

Chicagoans Ready to Fight.

Under these conditions the delegates, including many from Chicago that appeared ready to fight at the drop of the hat, met in formal session, created its committees and got down to business.

Except for the delegates everybody knew the secret. Everything was settled—all cut and dried except that

CUBS WIN, 12 TO 4; LEAD BY 3 GAMES; SOX TRIUMPH, 6-4

The Cubs defeated the Giants, 12 to 4, before 42,000 at Wrigley field yesterday, increasing their lead over the New Yorkers to three full games. Charley Root pitched his fifteenth victory and Gabby Hartnett hit his twenty-seventh homer with the bases full in the eighth.

Ted Lyons won his eighteenth pitching victory of the season yesterday when the White Sox defeated the Red at Boston, 6 to 4.

Drum Throbs Open Festival Tonight

MUSICAL FETE TO BE SERIES OF SPECTACLES

100,000 Seats Ready in Soldiers' Field.

Perfect Weather

"Fair; gentle winds." With this forecast for today the weather man added his voice to the other auspicious omens for the Chicagoland Music Festival tonight, promising a continuation of the surpassingly fine weather that has beamed on Chicago for several days.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

History will touch with its dignity this evening's great festival of song on Soldiers' field.

You will hear the drum that sounded the long roll at Shiloh and again at Chickamauga.

The soldier who beat the old drum during the two grim days that it took Grant to overcome Johnston and Beauregard will beat it tonight.

Drummer Boy Is 91 Now.

He was a youth of twenty-three years then. He is a spry veteran of ninety-one now.

The little town of Douglas, Mich., sends him to this Chicagoland festival of song and battle music and oratorio—a colossal concert in which celebrated trans-Mississippi bands from Iowa, German choirs from Milwaukee with three-quarters of a century of musical tradition, the best singers of Negro spirituals in Chicago, and bands, drum corps and vocalists from thirty-five cities of five states of the Union will take part.

Town Sends Its Veteran.

The revered veteran of this evening is W. T. Kimsey, a printer.

The five hundred inhabitants of Douglas—led by Postmaster Roy McDonald—joyfully contributed to the fund which will bring Comrade Kimsey before the biggest audience he has played for since those April days of sixty-eight years ago when the rivulets around Shiloh church ran blood.

He will be accompanied by Comrade W. H. Baker of Freeport, Ill., and Comradette Jamie Rice of Dixon, Ill., who at the age of 7 has won a name for miles around as champion pumpkins on the snare drum.

Another Wartime Drummer.

Capt. Baker is 83 years old and he, too, did a great deal of inflammatory drumming during the civil war.

The trio will be escorted on to the field at 7:50 o'clock by 556 of the snappiest, snarliest drum corps performers of five states, among them a corps of Scots in kilties.

The two veterans, the infant, and their honor escort will march from the south gate of Soldiers' field to the band and chorus platforms at its north end, the sixteen corps moving in a formation as broad as the arena.

This spacious arrangement will give the spectators in the lofty tiers of seats on the three sides of the arena ample opportunity to see and to greet Mr. Kimsey and Capt. Baker.

Nor will this memorable group be the only piece of historical pageantry that will unfold tonight on the great stage of bandstands and greensward that is flanked by the Doric columns of the arena.

Strains of Martial Music.

From first to last there will be spectacular thrills.

When the music of Tschaikowsky's overture "1812" reaches the episode of the burning of Moscow the vast scene will be flooded with a sinister glow by the burning of red fire. It is then, too, that the huge bronze bells uttering the holy city's doom—and Napoleon's—will toll, and in the passages which echo the roar of guns, the strains of the "Marseillaise," and the prayer of the Russian hymn, "God Preserve Thy People," in the Borodino episode—then artillery on the remote lake front will sound the deep diapason of the cannonade.

Spectacle After Spectacle.

From 7:30 o'clock until eleven, spectacle will pile on spectacle.

From my view of the rehearsals I would confidently say, "Don't Miss The Grand Entry."

Come early for it.

One hundred thousand seats—none of them reserved—await you. For the traffic arrangements, which have been carefully thought out by the police and the festival managers, see another page of this paper.

The grand entry of twenty-one brass bands and sixteen drum corps—all

2 MEN SLAIN IN SACCO, VANZETTI DEMONSTRATION

Avella, Pa., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Two men were shot and killed here tonight at impromptu observance in memory of Sacco and Vanzetti, executed three years ago today in Massachusetts.

The victims were George Harkoff, 35, of Cross Creek township, near here, and Stephen Mina, 40, of Avella. Police were seeking Pietro Patrella.

Police pieced together a story of a street carnival, held in Browntown, near Avella, at which a group of men opened a Sacco-Vanzetti demonstration.

Whether Harkoff or Mina were among the speakers was undetermined, but Patrella was said to have started an argument, pulled out a revolver and shot the two men.

Patrella escaped.

LOOKING BACKWARD

German Flies to Greenland; Eyes U.S. Next

Announcement yesterday of the finding of the bodies of Salomon A. Andree and his two companions on White island solved a 33 year old mystery of the Arctic. Andree was the first man to attempt to explore the polar regions from the air. He used a balloon. The story will be found on Page 6.

BY AXEL THORSTEINSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 22.—In a surprise flight of 11 hours over nearly 1,000 miles of open sea, Capt. Wolfgante von Gronau, German aviator, and his three companions flew today from Iceland to Ivigtut, a tiny settlement on the southwest coast of Greenland. The message received from the Greenland authorities said that their Dornier-Wahl plane had landed safely at 3:30 p. m. Icelandic time [1:30 p. m. Chicago daylight time].

The German took off unexpectedly from Reykjavik harbor at 6:35 this morning [4:35 a. m. Chicago daylight time] with 750 gallons of gasoline aboard. Only a few people were aware of his departure, and he even tried to screen his intentions yesterday when he said, "Tomorrow I may be home," indicating that he meant to return to Germany.

His associates here believe that Capt. von Gronau deliberately concealed his intentions so as to avoid demonstrations or cause disappointment in case the attempt either failed or was called off. It is now regarded here as highly probable that he will continue the flight to the United States.

Confusion as to his real destination arose when it was seen that he was flying southwest instead of setting his course southeast towards the Faroe islands. But an hour after the takeoff strong radio messages began coming in from the plane, clearing up the mystery. They told how the flyers were battling the storm on their way to Greenland. Capt. von Gronau then gave his position as 65.50 latitude north and 26.20 longitude west.

Bucking head winds as they neared Cape Farewell, the southernmost tip of Greenland, slowed up the progress of the plane, according to the radio message received here at 1 p. m. Icelandic time [11 a. m. Chicago daylight time].

Hungary Arms to Stop Otto's Grab of Crown

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 22.—The police today occupied public buildings and strategic highways approaching Budapest, as well as the municipal airdrome, as rumors swept through the city that the pretender to the throne, Archduke Otto, 18 years old, had arrived to seize the Hungarian throne.

One rumor said Otto was smuggled into Budapest in the midst of a group of Belgian students coming to attend the 900th anniversary celebration for St. Emory. Another is that he is living in the palace with his cousin, Archduke Albrecht, who swore loyalty to Otto and who a couple of days ago suddenly returned from South America. The third rumor declared Otto entered the country disguised in a priest's garb.

Brand Rumors Fantastic.

The government officials characterized the rumor of Otto's return as fantastic, but admitted that the ministry of the interior had ordered the national gendarmerie to keep a close watch on all the highways leading to Budapest for an automobile containing the handsome young archduke and his heavily veiled and black dressed mother, the former Empress Zita, and to arrest them and bring them to Budapest.

The rumors among the excited population illustrate the growing tension, as Otto's eighteenth birthday on Nov 20 approaches. The popular guess is that a revolt will be attempted before rather than on or after the birthday when Otto becomes of reigning age.

Fear Coup Would Start War.

The Hungarian army and the people appear strongly in favor of the Hapsburg restoration. The government, however, seems to think that the time is not yet ripe, due to the hostile attitude of the allies, particularly the little entente, and most particularly Czecho-Slovakia and Romania to whom the Trianon treaty turned over 2,500,000 Hungarians, whom Hungary openly vows it will get back.

Czecho-Slovakian papers in Prague yesterday declared that the placing of Otto on the Hungarian throne would be a cause for war.

PURPLE MARTINS GO SOUTH; LOOKS LIKE EARLY FALL

The purple martins, prophets of the end of summer, are winging their way from Chicago to their winter home in Brazil.

For two days none of the 10,000 martins, which have inhabited the trees of Washington park during the summer, have been in their usual haunts, according to park officials. Last year the birds were seen in the park until Sept. 11.

T. E. Clarke of Hinsdale, a host to purple martins every summer and who has kept a complete record of their coming and going for years, said last night that most of his visitors left on July 29. He said he hadn't seen a purple martin since last Saturday.

Civil War Veteran of 82 Weds Veteran's Daughter

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—John Speer, 82, of Pittsburgh, who ran away to war when 16, yesterday married Mrs. Ida G. Burton, 59, of Blairsville, Pa., daughter of a civil war veteran, and tomorrow they will start for Cincinnati to spend their honeymoon at the annual encampment of the thinning Grand Army of the Republic.

ACES OF SKY READY TO OPEN NATIONAL RACES

Byrd Honored at Inaugural Banquet.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Today the 1930 national air races open at Curtiss-Wright-Reynolds airport with the arrival of two cross-country Derbies and the first aerial stunting of famous flyers and their speed planes. Fair and warmer weather was promised by the weather bureau.

The opening gun will be fired at 1 o'clock as the first planes take the air, beginning the ten day tournament of speed and spectacle. Air race officials expect 40,000 fans to fill the half mile of grandstands during the opening day of the meet.

Most of the face cards of flying were in Chicago last night waiting to take part in the meet and more are due this morning. The army, navy and marine corps flyers arrived at noon, thundering over the loop before flying off to Curtiss field.

Honor Byrd at Banquet.

One of the largest groups of aviation celebrities and officials ever to gather in Chicago attended a banquet given by the Chicago chapter of the National Aeronautic association at the Hotel Sherman last night to inaugurate the races and honor Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, aerial conqueror of the north and south poles.

Addressing this body of representative aeronautical men, Admiral Byrd took engineers to task for failure to improve upon the efficiency of three motored planes of the type he used in both of his polar expeditions.

"There has been much improvement in aviation since we left two years ago," he said, "but I noticed particularly on my return that the trimotored plane is little superior to that we used in Little America. I believe that engineers and transport operators should go a little further into the aerodynamics of the three motored plane. At present it is 50 per cent less efficient than the single motored plane. Unless it can be improved upon we should abandon the three motored design."

Hints at Another Expedition.

Later in his speech the admiral hinted that he was planning another expedition, but declined to reveal its objective.

"I am in the market for an aircraft that can pick up its feet like a bird and put them under the wings," he said. "Such a plane would have a wide cruising radius. I put my order in for that plane right now, although I'll not say where I'm going with it."

Admiral Byrd paid high tribute to Van Lear Black, publisher of the Baltimore Sun and aviation enthusiast, who was lost at sea two days ago during a cruise. The admiral requested a brief silence in tribute to Mr. Black, whom he called a great patron of aviation.

French Visitor Is Speaker.

Maj. Albert Roper of Paris, France, secretary general of the international commission on air navigation, was another speaker. After him were introduced Maj. Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aviation; David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy for aeronautics; Earle H. Reynolds, president of the Chicago Air Race corporation; Brig. Gen. B. D. Foulois, assistant chief of the army air force; Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, the foriegn flying team, and many other Washington officials and flyers.

Among the noted pilots present were Smiling Jimmie Doolittle, who left Washington yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and came in a Stinson cabin plane to the banquet last night bearing a message from President Hoover addressed to Senator Hiram Bingham, president of the N. A. A. and toastmaster. President Hoover expressed his regrets at not being able to attend.

Miami Derby Ends Today.

The men's Atlantic Derby class A is due to cross the finish line at Curtiss field about 3 o'clock, ending a 1,500 mile race from Miami, Fla., for $3,500 in prize money. Art Killups from La Grange was in the lead last night when the flyers landed at Augusta, Ga.

An hour later the men's Pacific Derby class B will end the last lap of the 1,300 race from Brownsville, Tex. John Livingston of Aurora held a substantial lead over his competitors when the racers landed yesterday at Tulsa, Okla.

Army, navy and marine corps fighting ships will take the air for their first maneuvers today and there will be stunting by civilian teams. Toward

Government Reports Food Prices Drop Further

To market, to market to get a fat hen—a worthy visit, and an economical one right now. For hens are cheaper than at any time since 1924. Some say it's because a hen's work isn't appreciated the way it used to be. That with eggs down to pre-war prices, the cackle in the barnyard no longer puts much in the farmer's purse. But that's only the half of it. The fact is that Biddie's fate on account of her egg is a symptom of what the government finds with nearly all eatables. Prices generally are down. And a report just issued states that there has been a further drop of 3 per cent within a month, so that food now costs 8 per cent less than a year ago in Chicago. A market basket full of groceries costs less now than at any time in the past six years.

Chicago Tribune
THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

the close of the program Al Williams, former navy flying ace, and his famous team of foreign flyers will make their bow before the grandstand with a program of aerial capers.

Capt. Frank Hawks, transcontinental record holder, sailing over the crowds in a glider towed by an automobile, will be another performer and Jimmie Doolittle is scheduled to cut didos with his fast "mystery" ship.

Races over the five mile triangular course will include a civilian pilots race for planes of 300 horse power and a sportsman pilots race. Parachute jumping and balloon bursting by airplanes will vary the program. At night the three Fireflies, a team of army stunters from Dayton, will maneuver in their illuminated planes.

While the ordinary airplane with wings, propeller and a fuselage, will bear the greatest burden in the program, a variety of other flying craft will be on hand to perform. Yesterday afternoon Juan de la Cieva's "flying windmill" flew in from Philadelphia with Jimmy Ray at the controls. The autogyro, sustained in the air by whirling blades instead of wings, descended to the airport almost vertically when it arrived yesterday. Taxiing to the hangar one of the blades was damaged slightly, but will be repaired in time for a performance later in the week, its pilot said.

Dirigible to Arrive Today.

The army dirigible Puritan is due to arrive today from Dayton and will be moored to a mobile mast at Palwaukee airport, west of Curtiss field. Another flying freak due to take its place alongside the autogyro is the Waterman "flopping wing" plane, on its way here from Los Angeles.

The three "Hell Divers," a navy stunting team from San Diego, dropped in unexpectedly yesterday. The three pilots, Lieuts. Buckworth, Southwick and Thatch, said they would remain here until Tuesday and take part in the flying program.

Clarence Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flyer, was the last of the airmen to arrive at the airport last night. He flew here from New York.

The service planes arrived simultaneously at noon yesterday, flashed a brief welcome to Chicago and flew out to the race field. Leading the group were 18 Wasp-Boeing fighters from the first pursuit group at Selfridge Field, Mich., thundering over the loop in a formation which spelled "Chi." Out of the south came the "Red Rippers," fighting squadron five from the aircraft carrier Lexington, and after them came nine twin motor Keystone bombers from Langley field.

Parade Staged in Loop.

While the service planes maneuvered above, a huge parade in honor of the visiting pilots and aviation leaders moved down Jackson boulevard and over La Salle street to the city hall while thousands of loop workers crowding the sidewalks on the line of march cheered and office employés tossed ticker tape from the windows of La Salle street skyscrapers.

From the reviewing stand set up before the La Salle street entrance of the city hall, high army, navy and marine corps officials, city representatives and Chicago aviation leaders looked on.

In the reviewing stand were Senator Bingham, Mr. Reynolds, consuls and consuls general of the various foreign nations, Rear Admiral Moffett, Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, Rear Admiral W. S. Crosley, Lieut. Col. T. C. Turner, chief of the aviation bureau of the marine corps, and the members of the international flying team, Lieut. R. L. R. Acherley, Great Britain; Marshal Pietro Columbo, Italy; Marcel Doret, France; Capt. Fritz Loose, Germany, and Lieut. Rupert Preston of the British air force. Mrs. Al Williams, wife of the former navy flyer, and Mme. Doret were also in the party.

Brig. Gen. Foulois arrived too late for the parade. Flying over Curtiss field yesterday morning in a plane piloted by Capt. William Street, Gen. Foulois noted that the "stop and go" lights, designed to regulate air traffic during the races, were in operation and that the red light was against him. For some time the army official flew about waiting for the light to change, finally landing in a nearby field in order not to disobey traffic rules. He learned that the field staff was merely testing the lights.

AVIATOR LANDS BLAZING PLANE; MAIL IS SAVED

Baker, Ore., Aug. 22.—(AP)—A blazing mail plane with one wing virtually destroyed by fire was brought to earth here today by Abe Warner, veteran air mail pilot who escaped with minor injuries. Attendants at the municipal landing field saved all the mail.

Warner, who was cut above the right eye in landing, said gasoline from a line leak started spraying his face about thirty miles from here. He said he was twice nearly overcome by fumes. The fire broke out in the cockpit and one wing.

Saves Self with 'Chute.

Parkersburg, Ia., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Eddie Fries, 25, of Echo, Utah, was in a hospital here today with back injuries which he said he received when he jumped from a cabin monoplane with a parachute about 10:20 o'clock last night.

Fries said an accident to the rudder put the ship out of control. He said he was en route to the Chicago air meet from Los Angeles. A search was being conducted for the plane.

Member of Air Squadron Falls Dead After Diving

Rudolph Baumgartner, 26 years old, an enlisted man attached to the 1st pursuit squadron from Selfridge field, Mich., here for the national air races, died of heart disease last night at the Belmont Y. M. C. A. after he had dived across the swimming pool. Baumgartner complained of feeling ill after the long under water dive, and fell dead while a doctor was being called.

HOLD UP STORE; SLUG CLERK.

Max Serkis, 20 years old, clerk in charge of the Springfield pharmacy, 3901 West Division street, was knocked down last night by two robbers, who escaped with $70 from the cash register.

WOMEN TO SHARE IN SPOTLIGHT OF U. S. AIR EVENTS

Berlin Aviatrix First Contestant Here.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Above and through the swoop of wings and the whirr of propellers as the national air races start off today at the Curtiss-Reynolds airport, the voice of flying femininity will be making itself heard. For among famous pilots the roving spotlight of public interest can hardly pass by the women who have made their names count for something on the airways.

Naturally there will be much interest in the diminutive figure of Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh, when and if she arrives with her famous husband, the flying colonel. Mrs. Lindbergh is the latest recruit to the ranks of women pilots. And Amelia Earhart, whose name and fame hinges on her trans-Atlantic crossing, but is not confined to that feat alone, will claim her share of attention as a national official for the event, when she lands during the week.

German Woman Arrives.

Yesterday Fraulein Antonie Strassmann of Berlin, first of the women flyers to arrive and the only foreign entrant, was capably holding the fort at headquarters in the Hotel Sherman — and when she spoke practically everybody within range cocked an attentive ear. For this distinguished European, daughter of Dr. Paul Strassmann, combines a charming personality with a distinctly decorative presence, and her interest in aviation is as practical as it is enthusiastic.

Fraulein Strassmann refused to forsake her vocation as a Shakespearian actress when she took up aviation. Nor has she deserted her stage career. She tells it thus, in excellent English:

"When Lindbergh made his ocean flight I decided it was time for some German women to take an interest in aviation, if they ever were going to. So as my parents had left for this country, I went to the Staaken field —on the way to Potsdam—and took lessons during the morning, and in the evening I played my rôle as the queen in 'Midsummer Night's Dream.' I went as far as women are permitted to go in Germany; that is, I obtained a stunting license and a private license.

Barred as Transport Pilots.

"Women in Germany are not permitted to carry passengers as transport pilots, but we may do so if we do not charge for it. Nor can we be commercial pilots, except in a limited field. That is because the opportunities for employment for men are so limited, and they want to keep down competition. In this country they can do anything men do in aviation. Yet, I find that even here, flying still is a wealthy girl's sport. When business men take up flying as a matter of course, and interest broadens, things will be better in the flying game."

Fraulein Strassmann is enthralled with Americans and especially their cordiality toward foreign flyers. She has entered the "dead stick" competitions, in which she will fly a Bird plane identical with that purchased by Col. Lindbergh for Mrs. Lindbergh. The "dead stick" refers to a motionless propeller, the engine being switched off while the plane is in the air, then landed as close as possible to a set mark.

PHŒBE OMLIE IN VAN OF WOMEN'S RACE FROM DIXIE

Mrs. O'Donnell Holding Lead from Coast.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Phoebe Omlie was first of the six entrants in the women's dixie air derby to land here this afternoon, bringing her plane down at 3:26:07 [E. S. T.] to complete the second lap of the flight. Her time from Richmond, Va., was 55 minutes. Mrs. Omlie's total elapsed time for the first day's flight was 1 hour 33 minutes and 7 seconds. She was followed by Miss Vera Dawn Walker with an elapsed time of 1 hour 42 minutes. Others in the order of their arrival here, with total elapsed time, were: Laura Ingalls, Chicago, 2:07:04; Mrs. Leslie Bowman, St. Louis, 2:11:14; Mrs. Charity Langdon, 2:45:35; Miss Nancy Hopkins, 3:25:08.

All flyers reported the weather conditions very "soupy."

Mrs. Omlie First Away.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Scooting across the field in speedy and almost perfect takeoffs, six feminine flyers started the women's Dixie air Derby before an enthusiastic crowd of nearly 5,000 persons at Washington airport just before noon today.

Following a 1,575 mile route through the south by way of Richmond, Va.; Raleigh, N. C.; Columbia, S. C.; Atlanta, Ga.; Birmingham, Ala.; Memphis, Tenn.; St. Louis, Mo., and Springfield, Ill., the racers will cross the finish line Tuesday afternoon at Curtiss field, Chicago, where the national air races are in progress. The Derby prizes total $4,000.

Promptly at 11:01 a. m. the first plane, piloted by the favorite, Mrs. Phoebe Omlie of Memphis, roared away from the starting line, and sixteen minutes later the last one carrying Mrs. Charity Langdon of Norfolk, was in the air. The others already had disappeared in the murky sky south of the capital.

Mrs. O'Donnell Holds Lead.

Wichita, Kas., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Successfully negotiating a severe wind and rain storm which forced three other entrants to make forced landings, Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell of Long Beach today increased her lead in the Long Beach-Chicago women's air Derby to an hour and 50 minutes.

Miss Marjorie Doig, Danbury, Conn., second in the race in elapsed time, lost her way soon after leaving Enid, Okla., but soon corrected her mistake and followed Mrs. O'Donnell into Wichita, tonight's control point.

Ruth Stewart of St. Louis, was forced down in a cornfield near Elk City, Okla. Farmers aided her in taking off again in the rain.

Mildred Morgan of Beverly Hills, Cal., was forced down near Enid, and Miss Jean Larene of Kansas City near Waukomis, Okla.

All of the Derbyists reached Enid in time for a scheduled takeoff for Wichita, however.

The racers will rest here for 24 hours and take off for Kansas City at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Total elapsed times: Gladys O'Donnell, Long Beach, 9:55:51; Marjorie Doig, Danbury, Conn., 11:05:13; Mildred Morgan, Beverly Hills, 15:00:15; Jean Larene, Kansas City, 15:38:29; Ruth Stewart, St. Louis, 17:10:12; Ruth Barron, Hollywood, 29:16:50.

Shot to Death in Parked Auto Protecting a Girl

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Protecting his girl companion with his last breath, John Raffone, 27, was shot and killed tonight as he sat in a parked automobile, by a man who approached with his pistol covered with a handkerchief.

Raffone saw the slayer advance and he leaned forward toward his assailant and so protected his companion, Miss Mary O'Brien, 21, from the bullets.

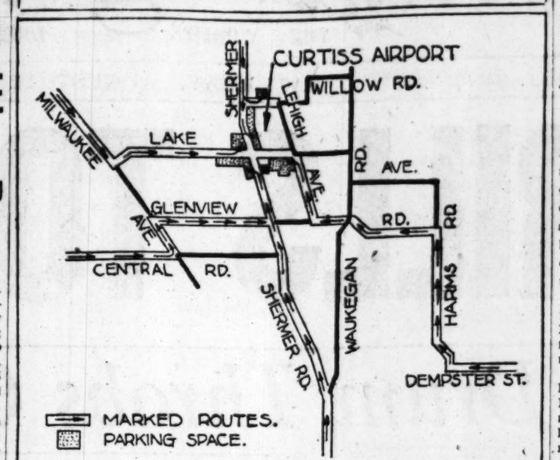

The slaying occurred in East 76th street. Raffone had intended to take Miss O'Brien for a drive.

The slayer escaped.

RESCINDS FINE; FREES SUSPECT.

Simon Lucas, an alleged bookmaker arrested in a police raid at 39 West Adams street, was discharged yesterday by Judge Fetzer in State street court when, after being fined $100, the police admitted they had no search warrant. The fine was rescinded.

NOTES OF THE AIR RACES

Brig. Gen. B. D. Foulois of Washington, who is here with Mrs. Foulois, is the oldest flyer in the army in point of service. When a lieutenant, in 1908, he was given the plane designed for the government by the Wright brothers and told to take it to Texas, where there was lots of space, and learn to fly it. He was given an appropriation of $200 by congress to run the plane a year. Whenever he cracked up, which he did frequently, he wired the Wright brothers to ask what to do next. Usually they didn't know.

Capt. Fritz Loose, German flyer, started learning to speak English last week. Already he says "O. K." and "O, yeah?" [which he makes "O, yes? "] and is very proud of his American slang. He thinks American women more beautiful than those of Germany, Spain, Morocco, Turkey, Switzerland, or China, in which countries he's been flying since the war.

Marshal Pietro Colombo of the crack Italian first pursuit squadron is a small, sunburned young man, 28 years old, who clicks his heels together and bows, or salutes, on meeting anyone. He is shy, and when interviewed through Commander Paul Sbernadori, air attaché of the Italian embassy in Washington, he said, "Why do I deserve this attention? I am simply a flyer, like everybody else." He was decorated twice for valor in service in Libya, Africa, in 1926-'28. He wears the black amulet of the Fascisti.

Lieut. Marcel Doret, French stunt flyer, who is here with Mme. Doret, uses only one English word, "Hello," but has named his dog "Whisky," after America. And although he talks mostly in French, he entertains visitors by card tricks and match tricks, in which he is expert. Lieut. Doret volunteered in the artillery when 18 years old, receiving the Legion of Honor, the Medaille Militaire, and seven Croix de Guerre medals. In 1918 he entered aviation. Known throughout Europe for his daring, he is afraid of elevators in American skyscrapers.

Flight Lieutenant R. L. R. Atcherley, British Schneider cup flyer, 26, hopes that America will try to take the Schneider cup away from England next year. The son of an English nobleman, and typically English, even unto answering "O, ra-ther" to all questions, Lieut. Atcherley disproves the theory concerning the English sense of humor. "O, how jolly to be interviewed," he said. "Please say I'm looking for a wealthy American heiress whose parents are just about to pop off."

Lieut. Rupert Preston, 28, who accompanied Lieut. Atcherley, is distressed because a report was published that he was the prince of Wales' pilot. There is no such thing as a royal pilot, he said, the prince having a complete squadron and one civilian pilot at his disposal. He is a lieutenant of the Coldstream Guards and honorary secretary of the Household Brigade Flying club, the most exclusive in England, being made up of past and present officers of the king's personal bodyguard.

The foreign pilots were anxious about their planes as they were unloaded at the field. The Englishmen spent the night at the field assembling theirs, arriving at the Sherman just in time for a bath before the parade. Lieut. Doret ran along beside the truck on which his plane, crated, was being carried, talking fluently in French. Finally, to be perfectly understood, he scrawled "450,000 francs" on the crate.

Lieut. Arthur I. Ennis of Washington, who will broadcast to the crowds over the microphone at the races, directing the bombers' maneuvers over the radio from the speakers' stand one day next week, is a former Chicago lawyer. He has been flying since he went in the aviation service in 1917. His mother is Mrs. James I. Ennis, 6122 Winthrop avenue.

10 DIE AS CZECH PLANE CRASHES, BURSTS IN FLAMES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, Aug. 22.—A monoplane carrying 13, including the pilot and mechanic, over the Czecho-Slovakian state airline between Prague and Bratislavia, crashed through the roof of a brickworker's home at Friedrichshof, near Iglau, this afternoon. The plane burst into flames after the crash.

Five burned to death outright, including the pilot and mechanic, and of the eight who were dragged out of the burning ship alive five died en route to the hospital. Two more are badly injured, but may live. The other passenger was so badly shaken up that he was unable to give a coherent account of the accident.

It is believed, however, that the pilot got lost in a thick fog and attempted an emergency landing. Before hopping off the pilot joked about starting with 13 passengers on Friday.

4 MEN'S DERBIES CONVERGING FOR CHICAGO FINISH

Nonstop Racers Ready to Start.

East St. Louis, Ill., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Running a neck and neck race on the next to the last leg of their two man derby from Brownsville, Tex., to Chicago, John Livingston of Aurora, Ill., and W. G. Moore of Kansas City landed at Curtiss-Steinberg airport one minute apart from Springfield late today.

Livingston's elapsed time was unofficially calculated as 11:28:12, and Moore's as 12:42:10. The distance so far traveled is approximately 1,290 miles.

The flyers will remain overnight here and complete their race to the National Air Races at Chicago tomorrow. A stop will be made for lunch and refueling tomorrow at Aurora, Ill.

Roberts Leads into Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 22.—(AP)—The five flyers in the Hartford to Chicago air derby arrived here from Buffalo this afternoon with their positions in the race unchanged.

Total elapsed time for the five from Hartford to Cleveland were: Verne Roberts, Moline, Ill., 3:44:37; Tony Little, Philadelphia, Pa., 3:49:37; J. Wesley Smith, Philadelphia, Pa., 3:52:05; Charles Myers, Cleveland, 4:05:46; Lee Brusse, Glendale, Cal., 4:11:12.

Mamer First at Billings.

Billings, Mont., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Nick Mamer, Spokane, Wash., arrived here at 4:49:50 p. m. today, the first of the Spokane-Chicago air derby flyers to reach tonight's control point from Butte, Mont. His elapsed time was 1:47:50. Frank Kammer of Wenatchee, was second, landing at 4:50:38 with elapsed time of 1:46:38.

Storms Delay Dixie Flyers.

Augusta, Ga., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Art Davis, Art Killips and George Burrell, Miami-to-Chicago air derby flyers, were held here today on account of storms over the mountains of western North Carolina and eastern Tennessee. They will leave at dawn tomorrow for Sky Harbor, Tenn., resuming their original schedule except for the day delay here.

Rule Changes Accepted.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Changes in rules suggested by the five entrants in the nonstop air derby from Los Angeles to Chicago, a part of the national air races, have been approved by officials.

The entrants, Lee Shoenhair, Art Goebel, Wiley Post, Bill Brock and Roscoe Turner, requested the starting point be shifted from Los Angeles municipal to the Metropolitan airport so they would not be forced to fly over Los Angeles and that they be permitted to start individually on any of nine days beginning Aug. 24. The first racer plans to take off Sunday morning.

SCHNEIDER LANDS IN WICHITA ON HIS RECORD ATTEMPT

Wichita, Kas., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Eddie Schneider, 18 year old New Jersey youth, seeking to establish a junior transcontinental flight record from west to east, landed here at 3:13 p. m. [C. S. T.] today from Albuquerque, N. M. He plans to take off at daybreak tomorrow on a nonstop hop to New York.

BINGHAM URGES SLOW PROGRESS IN PLANE WORLD

Need Scientific Planning, Senator Declares.

Public psychology is a dominant factor with regard to the success or failure of aviation development. Too great and too sudden expansion, mushroom growth results in an increase of airplane accidents. These remarks were made by Senator Hiram Bingham, Connecticut's flying senator and president of the National Aeronautic association, meeting at the Sherman hotel, in his address before 300 members of the organization yesterday.

"I am in favor of a slow, sane and scientific planning in both the construction of airplanes and the development of aviation projects in general," the senator said. In forecasting a marked growth in commercial air transportation in the future, he recommended a standard system of ticketing for simplicity and economy.

Deplores "Encumbering" Laws.

Clarence D. Young, assistant secretary of the navy in charge of aviation, deplored the enactment of "encumbering" legislation for airplane traffic. Referring to the Bratton act passed in the last session of congress, he said: "A tremendous expense will be involved if the department of commerce is required to make a detailed investigation of every airplane accident no matter how trivial as the act requires. Also, the stipulation that a wrecked airplane must remain at the scene of the accident until a personal representative of the department of commerce views it is obviously faulty.

Hear Addresses of Welcome.

Addresses of welcome at the opening of the meeting yesterday morning were given by William D. Saltiel, city attorney; Earl H. Reynolds of the Chicago Air Race corporation, and L. H. Manning, president of the Chicago chapter of the National Aeronautic association.

Among members of the various committees appointed for the sessions are Godfrey L. Cabot of Boston, past president of the association; Porter Adams of Boston; L. S. Horner, president of the Niles-Bement-Pond company; Dr. George W. Lewis, director of aeronautical research for the government.

"The completion of two new transcontinental air routes now being planned by the postoffice department will find an increased use of air mail," said W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general, in charge of air mail, in speaking before a meeting of traffic managers of the American Air Transport association at the Palmer house yesterday. "Speed is the keynote of business, and the air services are being increasingly utilized," he added.

U. S. MAY OPEN NATIONAL GUARD QUIZ IN CHICAGO

Corbin Questioned About Johnson Demotion.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—A special war department investigation of the circumstances surrounding the demotion of Arthur Johnson, army civil service investigator, whose activities resulted in the indictment of Col. Charles B. Kraft in the latest Illinois National Guard scandal, appeared imminent today.

War department officials have sent a letter to Lieut. Col. C. L. Corbin commanding the quartermaster depot at Chicago, requesting an explanation of published reports that he had demoted Johnson from a position as superintendent of labor at the depot to the status of an ordinary workman following completion of the Kraft investigation.

Newspaper dispatches carrying reports that before Kraft's indictment Lieut. Col. Corbin had given Johnson the choice of dropping the inquiry or resigning were included in the communication.

Action Depends on Answer.

Whether Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, inspector general of the army, will be directed to make a searching inquiry into all the ramifications of the Johnson demotion will depend largely upon the answer received at the war department from Lieut. Col. Corbin. War officials declined to comment in the absence of word from Chicago, though there were indications that the projected inquiry may uncover a far reaching army scandal.

Col. Kraft, who commanded the 202d coast artillery, Illinois National Guard, before he was ousted, was charged in an indictment returned July 2 with the embezzlement of several funds in connection with the renting and administration of the Broadway armory. James C. Lea, the United States district attorney who presented the case to the grand jury, said the amount of federal money embezzled was approximately $100,000. State funds embezzled were estimated at approximately the same amount.

Surprised at Amount.

Militia bureau officials, to whom the final report on the Kraft case has not yet been sent, expressed surprise at the amount of the peculations disclosed by the inquiry into the Broadway armory case. It was said today that if the charges in the indictments are upheld, the Illinois National Guard scandal will stand out as the largest uncovered in National Guard affairs in years.

The prime purpose of the investigation communication sent to Lieut. Col. Corbin by the war department was to determine whether Johnson had in fact been demoted, and if so why. The later inquiry would emphasize the question of why and through what secret influences he had been demoted following his work on the Kraft investigation, to which he had been assigned by the commanding officer of the 6th corps area.

Information Sought.

The first intimation reaching the department officials that Johnson had been demoted came in newspaper dispatches which carried reports that Johnson's demotion had been instigated by indignant Illinois National Guard officials. The newspaper account said space also to reports that a desire for social advancement on the part of army officers might have been capitalized by National Guard officers in bringing pressure to have Johnson reduced to an inferior position. War department officials are interested in:

1. A published report that Lieut. Col. Corbin advised Johnson prior to the return of the Kraft indictments that he (Johnson) could choose between "letting the Kraft case alone" and submitting his resignation.

2. The interest shown by the district attorney's staff at Chicago in Johnson's case and the statement of Assistant United States Attorney Clayton that he "considered it outrageous that Johnson had been demoted for his splendid work" on the Kraft inquiry.

Kept Under Subpoena.

3. The fact that District Attorney Johnson at Chicago placed Johnson under subpoena during the last days of the Kraft investigation in order to make certain of his services.

4. Statements in newspaper dispatches to the effect that reports are circulating since Kraft's indictment that National Guard officers have exerted pressure to obtain the demotion of Johnson.

Maj. Gen. John L. DeWitt, quartermaster general of the army, has direct authority over the Chicago quartermaster depot. He sent the letter to Lieut. Col. Corbin. In allowing it to be made known Maj. Gen. DeWitt said that no investigation had been ordered and that his letter to Lieut. Col. Corbin was sent to obtain information.

Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley said today that he could not comment on the Johnson matter until a full report has come from Lieut. Col. Corbin. Officials close to the secretary said there was no doubt an inquiry would be ordered if he thought there was the least possibility of irregularity in the treatment of Johnson.

Sheridan Palm, 50 years old, killed himself to death last night in his room at 433 South Halsted street. He left a note for his brother in Albany. The note indicated that he had bank accounts totaling $1,300. He concluded with the words, "Ever since Daisy died two years ago I have wanted to die."

3. The fact that District Attorney Johnson at Chicago placed Johnson under subpoena during the last 20 days of the Kraft investigation in order to make certain of his services.

4. Statements in newspaper dispatches to the effect that reports were circulating since Kraft's indictment that National Guard officers had exerted pressure to obtain the demotion of Johnson.

Maj. Gen. John L. DeWitt, quartermaster general of the army, has direct authority over the Chicago quartermaster depot. He sent the letter to Lieut. Col. Corbin. In allowing this to be made known Maj. Gen. DeWitt said that no investigation has been ordered and that his letter to Lieut. Col. Corbin was sent to obtain information.

Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley said today that he could not comment on the Johnson matter until after a report has come from Lieut. Col. Corbin. Officials close to the secretary said there was no doubt an inquiry would be ordered if he thought there was the least possibility of an irregularity in the treatment of Johnson.

Ends His Life with Gun; Leaves Note for Brother

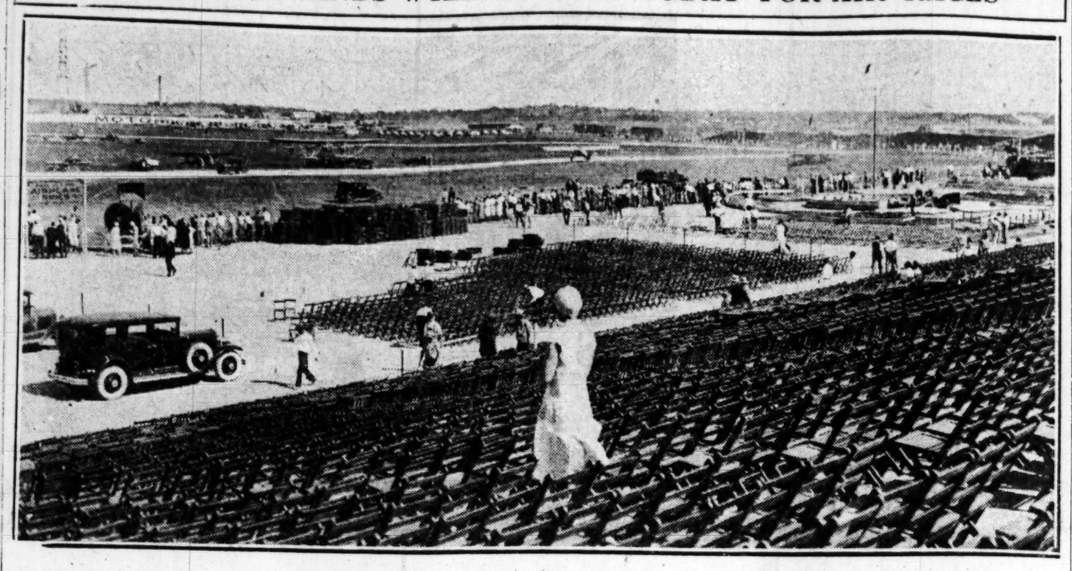

Sheridan Palm, 50 years old, shot himself to death last night in his room at 423 South Halsted street. He left a note for his brother in Akron, O. The note indicated that he had two bank accounts totaling $1,300, and concluded with the words, "Ever since Daisy died two years ago I, too, have wanted to die."

WEALTHY VICTIM OF "YELLOW KID" CHANGES TUNE

And Has Discord with Mr. Grinnell.

Joseph [Yellow Kid] Weil, notorious confidence man, has become the subject of lively correspondence between a wealthy manufacturer of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Flint Grinnell, secretary of the Chicago Better Business bureau.

The manufacturer, Joseph Kindelberger, head of the Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment company and former president of the Kalamazoo Chamber of Commerce, swore out warrants three weeks ago against Weil and two associates, Fred Buckminster and George Lutz. The trio, he charged, persuaded him to invest $15,000 in a mythical Montana copper mine.

At the time Mr. Kindelberger was angry with Weil. When the police seized his alleged accomplice, Lutz, a 78 year old veteran of con games, the manufacturer offered congratulations and expressed hope that Weil and Buckminster would soon join Lutz behind the bars.

A Change of Heart.

Yesterday, however, Chief of Detectives Norton received the following letter from Kindelberger:

"Dear Chief: I am convinced that I should not have appeared against Mr. Lutz, as he played only a minor part in our transaction. The publicity involved in prosecuting him would hurt me more than the satisfaction of seeing him punished would benefit me.

"As for Weil and Buckminster, they have communicated with me through an attorney, returned part of the money, and given me notes for the balance. I agreed to delay prosecution. I would like the warrants canceled and the matter held up until the notes are paid. In case they do not pay I will renew the warrants. You understand, I only loaned the money to these gentlemen."

"'These gentlemen!'" snorted Chief Norton. He dispatched copies of the letter to State's Attorney Swanson and to Mr. Grinnell.

Robbing Peter to Pay Paul.

The latter last night mailed Mr. Kindelberger a reply in which he said:

"Dear Sir: I am amazed at your letter. It is expected that people of limited means who have been victims of confidence men, would attempt to use the police and prosecutors as agents to secure collection of moneys they have lost to swindlers. But when a man of your character and importance takes the position you have taken, it is small wonder that the police become hardened against the complaints of swindlers' victims.

"It is altogether fair to assume that whatever sum Weil restores to you will be money plucked by this notorious operator from some other man's pocket. Can you take this kind of money without a pang of conscience?

"You speak of unfavorable publicity. In my opinion, the publicity attached to your deal with Weil and Buckminster will react far more unfavorably upon you than if you had prosecuted these notorious characters. I do not see how you can expect the police to be zealous in protecting the public from swindlers when they see men of your character and reputation using the department only as a collection agency."

HOOVER "PROPHECY" OF PROSPERITY HIT BY GOV. ROOSEVELT

Delhi, N. Y., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt struck out in an address here this afternoon at "prosperity prophecy" economics as voiced by President Hoover during his campaign for election in 1928. He called it a typical example of the kind of economic theorizing which brought about the current industrial depression, due almost entirely, in his opinion, to a race of overproduction. He did not mention the President by name.

"Some people in very high position," he said, "gave the impression a year ago that nothing could happen to prosperity, that everything was well and that prosperity could not be slowed down. And then old Dame Nature asserted herself. We are now paying the penalty for a wild spree based on uneconomic, unscientific and unbusinesslike foundations."

GROUP DEMANDS CHIEF FREEMAN BE SUSPENDED

A demand that Chief of Police William O. Freeman of Evanston be suspended forthwith and that a "thorough and complete" inquiry be made as to his acceptance of a $300 loan from Jack Zuta, slain Chicago gangster, be made was contained in a resolution adopted last night by members of the North End Improvement Association of Evanston held at the Haven school.

Twenty-four of the 300 members of the association attended the meeting. The vote was 12 to 4 in favor of the resolution, six of those present passing their vote. Ald. Stanley Franzen pointed out that Mayor Charles H. Bartlett will arrive home in time for the meeting of the city council on Monday night and that the Freeman controversy will be threshed out at that meeting.

BOOST TIFFANY FOR SHERIFF AT LARGE PICNIC

Friends and supporters of Police Chief Lester Tiffany of Lake Forest, Republican nominee for sheriff of Lake county, will give a picnic in furtherance of his candidacy tomorrow at the model farm of the Public Service company at Mundelein. Every resident of Lake county is invited.

Festivities will begin at 9 a. m. and continue to midnight. Those coming in the morning are to bring basket lunches, ice cream and soft drinks to be provided free. Features of the afternoon program will be an exhibition of stunt flying and a parachute jump. Dancing will occupy the evening.

Revolution Cry an Idea, No Threat, Rules Argentine

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 22.—To shout "Long live the revolution! Down with the president," is not a punishable offense in Argentina, according to a decision of the Court of Appeals today. The court declared that such exclamations are "more or less vehement expression of an idea, and do not constitute a threat." This decision freed a student, Ernesto Lanucci, who had been jailed for such words.

Southern Illinois Greets 15 Chicago Planes on Tour

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Mattoon, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The sun baked fields of southern Illinois stretched out below the air parade of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce today as the 15 planes traveling in the annual air tour swing down through "Egypt" and the heart of the state's drought stricken area.

Five stops were added to the log of the annual trip on the third day's flight after taking off at Decatur this morning. The first was Springfield, where the procession of aircraft circled over the fair grounds for the entertainment of visitors before landing at the airport.

A Busy Flying Center.

The Springfield airport is one of the most spacious and modern in the state and is a busy flying center as well as an air mail field.

A hop of 90 miles took the tour to East St. Louis next, the flight landing on the new $3,000,000 Curtiss-Wright airport constructed this spring. This port is intended to be one of the finest in the country, covering a 569 acre tract all tiled with a drainage system. It is equipped with three concrete runways each 100 feet wide and 1,600 feet long. There are three large brick and stone hangars and a spacious restaurant and café on the field. The tour spent two hours there for luncheon as guest of the East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

From East St. Louis the cruise went to Scott field, near Belleville, to pay its respects to the assistant secretary of war, Roy B. Davidson, but found that the assistant secretary had just resumed his journey en route to Muskogee, Okla., from Washington, D. C.

Greeted at Marion by 4,000.

The next jump was to Marion, Ill., where more than 4,000 persons, including the Marion grade school band of 50 pieces, greeted the air tour. The Marion airport is maintained by the city, and is advantageously located on two state highways just outside the city. It has been in operation for three years. The Marion Merchants association officially welcomed the flight.

From Marion, the cruise nosed back northward to Centralia to inspect the new Centralia airport leased and operated by the chamber of commerce. This field is L shaped, with a 3,050 feet runway east and west and 1,950 north and south.

The Mattoon airport, located only two miles from the city, occupies a large tract which provided a diagonal runway of 3,250 feet and an east and west runway of 2,970 feet.

22 Available Airports.

M. C. Meigs, chairman of the Chicago aero commission, and director of the tour, describing progress in all phases of aeronautics, emphasized the growth of airport development in Illinois. He said two years ago on the annual tour there were only five airports in the state suitable for the landing of the large tri-motored planes while this year there are 22 available.

Tomorrow the tour goes to Danville and Aurora before ending at Curtiss-Wright-Reynolds airport.

JOYCE, BROTHER OF DEAD SENATOR, FREED ON BONDS

Edward Joyce, who was arrested Wednesday at the funeral of his brother, the late State Senator John T. Joyce, was released on $3,000 bonds yesterday by Circuit Judge Otto Kerner. Joyce was jailed for default of a $10,000 judgment awarded Theodore Venn, whose wife, Mary, was killed by Joyce's automobile in 1926.

Attorney Benjamin Cohen appeared before Judge Kerner with a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for Joyce. The lawyer declared the suit had been dismissed for want of prosecution in February, 1928, but had been reinstated a few months later without Joyce's knowledge. In September, 1929, the attorney declared a judgment of $10,000, containing a malice clause, was entered against Joyce, again without his knowledge.

Under the malice clause Joyce might be held in jail for six months. Judge Kerner ordered his release pending a study of written arguments to be submitted by attorneys.

Champaign, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Henry Johnson, 33, was electrocuted this morning when his head touched a wire carrying 4,000 volts.

ADOLPH MAGNUS LEAVES $50,000 IN PERSONALTY

The will of Adolph Busch Magnus, grandson of the late Adolphus Busch, millionaire brewer, was filed for probate yesterday with Probate Court Clerk Mitchell C. Robin. The will disposes of personal property valued at $50,000. At one time Mr. Magnus was an assistant manager of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., brewing concern, which was founded by his grandfather, a bulk of whose wealth he was believed to have inherited.

Mr. Magnus died Aug. 15. His will leaves his entire estate to his mother, Mrs. Nellie Busch Loeb.

'EXPLANATIONS' OF ZUTA DEALS ARE POURING IN

Reveal Details of Florida Gambling Attempt.

$55,725 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,725 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune, $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 503 Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

Explanations of "why my name was found in Jack Zuta's box" were in order yesterday.

Public officials, lawyers, politicians, came forward with wherefors and whyfors to explain the innocence of their connections with the murdered vice lord and gang leader.

At the same time details were forthcoming of an offshoot into the rich Florida gambling grounds, which Zuta sought to engineer.

Follows Exposure of Documents.

All this resulted from the exposure on Thursday evening of the entire batch of 497 documents found in the principal safety deposit box in which the wily Zuta cached the proof of his dealings with the so-called upper crust of the political world of Chicago. The box was located by Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson, during the investigation of gangland, which came after the murders of Alfred Lingle and Julius Rosenheim, paid informant of the Chicago Daily News.

Charles F. Rathbun and James E. McShane, TRIBUNE attorneys placed on the staff of State's Attorney Swanson to direct the search for Lingle's slayers, were busily checking the evidence yesterday.

Florida Matter Cleared Up.

The explanation of the Florida correspondence came from Gary. One letter, written on the stationery of the International News Service, a Hearst organization, and two telegrams, were found in Zuta's box, and on their face indicated an attempt had been made, last year, to influence the governor, the attorney general, and other officials of Florida.

Yesterday it was revealed that the project was to establish a gambling house in a Miami hotel, and that Zuta had agreed to finance the deal if protection against raids and official interference could be arranged.

J. L. Laube, former Florida bureau manager for the Hearst International News Service, with headquarters at Orlando, was to make the arrangements, according to the explanation of the correspondence made in Gary by Frank Gross, 22 West 5th avenue, who is described by the Gary police as a well known gambler.

Makes Contact with Zuta.

Gross, interviewed yesterday, said that in the summer of 1929 he received information that rich profits could be realized by the establishment of a gambling room in a Miami hotel. He said he didn't have sufficient funds to promote and set up the gaming place, and that through a friend of his in Chicago, whom he refused to name, he made a contact with Jack Zuta.

The gangster chief became interested and finally offered to put up the funds if there was a guarantee of protection.

Gross said he then went to Benjamin J. Laube, a lawyer and former justice of the peace in Gary, who is now a candidate for election to the same office, and retained Laube to go to Florida to see what could be done. Laube left for Florida in August, 1929, taking with him, according to Gross, Walter Kosiba, another well known Lake county gambler. Laube later wrote to Gross, the latter said, detailing the difficulties encountered in interviewing the officials.

The two telegrams gave details of progress, or lack of progress, and Gross said yesterday that in the hope of showing Zuta what results were being obtained, he sent the correspondence to his friend in Chicago, who gave it to Zuta. This accounts for it being in Zuta's safe deposit box, Gross said. The scheme did not succeed.

Ald. Maypole Explains.

Ald. George M. Maypole, explaining postcards bearing pictures of himself and members of his family and inscribed with greetings from "the Maypoles," said that at Christmas time it had long been his custom to send similar cards to at least 1,000 residents of his ward.

Nate DeLue, assistant business manager of the board of education, who was disclosed as having received a $150 check from Zuta, and as having received Zuta's mail for him and as affixing the DeLue notary seal to some of Zuta's official papers, said he had known the gangster for many years.

"In 1926 Zuta had bought a building from August Leuders, then an election commissioner, and he came into my office one day saying he wanted to give Leuders some cash and asked me to cash a check for $150," De Lue said. "I didn't have that sum handy, but I went with him to the Foreman bank, where I was known, and I indorsed his check so that he could get the cash."

Hoover Holds Out Hope for Income Tax Cut Next Year

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Hope that the 1 per cent tax reduction granted at the last session of congress may be extended for another year was held out today by President Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. Such a step would cut income tax bills to be paid next year on incomes earned during the present calendar year more than 100 million dollars below what they would amount to on the basis of the 1928 revenue law, which will be effective unless congressional action is taken.

Statements analyzing the present financial condition of the government and outlining prospects for the future were issued at both the White House and the treasury following this morning's cabinet meeting and a later conference between President Hoover and Secretary Mellon. Both statements emphasized the point that the stories printed in the morning newspapers to the effect that there was virtually no hope for maintenance of the 1 per cent tax reduction were premature and that it was too early to make a definite prediction on this question.

"I have reviewed the present fiscal situation with Secretary Mellon and Undersecretary Mills," stated President Hoover, "and I can state that there is no ground now for the predictions in the press this morning that a deficit was impending which would prevent the continuation of tax reductions established last year."

President Hoover went on to state that about 75 million dollars would be saved during the fiscal year through economies instituted in the regular governmental departments.

"The indications of decreasing revenue and increasing expenses during the last six weeks, upon which calculations were very properly based, do not take several factors into account," he continued. "Imports, and consequently customs receipts, have been temporarily reduced because of advance imports to anticipate the new tariff law. We have been expediting construction expenditures to give the maximum employment in the first nine months of this fiscal year. The calculations as to a possible deficit take no account of the receipts from payment on the foreign debt, or the revision of expenditures downward from the estimates of the first of last July, which were than placed at 4 billion 300 million dollars [including the postal deficit]."

HISTORIC DRUM THROB TONIGHT OPENS FESTIVAL

Thrills a-Plenty to Mark Great Music Fete.

playing fit to bust—will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

It will last half an hour and it will mass eleven hundred instrumentalists at the north end of the field, with the white marble southern façade of the Field museum for their background.

On the Doric heights of the arena two score of huge American flags will be swaying.

Far below them the glitter of silver and brass instruments and the rich uniforms of the bandsmen—among them the crimson splash of the famous Red Coats band of Decatur, Ill.

The color, the glitter, the austere Greek setting!—a heroic picture they should make in the golden light of an August sunset.

Nothing to approach it, I fancy, since the resplendent nights of the Eucharistic congress on this same field.

3,000 Singers in Place.

Before the entry of the eleven hundred bandsmen, three thousand singers will have taken their places at the north end of the arena, the bands massing in front of them.

At 8 o'clock—and to the minute, for the program is long—a salvo of artillery as signal for the raising of the American flag on a mast behind the bands. This pious ceremony will be performed by soldiers amid the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the Chicagoland Festival band of eighty pieces.

Here another touch of spectacle, for when artists and audience reach the words "bombs bursting in air," then bombs will burst far aloft.

And Thrill After Thrill.

What more shall you see and hear? You will hear massed bands performing Sousa's three most exhilarating marches—"Washington Post," "Stars and Stripes Forever," and "U. S. Field Artillery,' that last with the punctuation of artillery fire.

You will hear—and see—the Anvil chorus from the second act of Verdi's "Il Trovatore" performed by the Festival band assisted by brawny smiths in leathern aprons who will hammer out on a score of anvils the clash and clang that give this gypsy hymn of toil its special gusto.

The arena will be darkened for this number, the only light being the flash of conductor Grabel's baton and streams of sparks from the anvils, which have been covered with a preparation of shellac and steel wool in order to emphasize this effect.

And still the half hasn't been told. (Excuse me if I write in the strain of ballyhoo, but I have seen this Chicagoland festival grow in ten weeks from an extremely nebulous notion to a specific proposition in which five commonwealths are coöperating, and I believe in it.)

1,000 Negro Singers.

To resume: You will hear the most gifted troupe of singers of Negro spirituals in the northern states.

They will number a thousand; perhaps more, for the impending convention of the National Association of Negro Musicians is bringing to Chicago from all over the Union hundreds of proficient singers of spirituals. Many of them have sent word to the coöperating newspapers that they will sing with the local Negro choirs on the field tonight.

The local choirs will make a picture.

The women will be dressed all in white and the men in black.

A Brilliant Chorus.

Again the field will be darkened, the only light coming from the flash lamps which the colored folk will carry and the rays of which will sway with them in harmonies of "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "The Old Ark's a-Movin'," and "I Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray."

The rehearsal which a thousand of the colored singers gave in Metropolitan community church on Thursday evening proved that they alone will make this festival a memorable event, for not only are their songs of a strange and haunting loveliness but also their rendition of them fits in with the large word—incomparable.

It would be no surprise to the managers if at this point in the program the audience took charge of the situation and by encores ran the quarter hour allotted for the spirituals up to half an hour.

The colored men and women will also be heard in the Hallelujah chorus from "The Messiah," but here they will sing with 2,000 white folk.

Among those two thousand are two ladies who are just as young in musicianly feeling as they were seven and thirty years ago, when they sang in the Hallelujah chorus that was part of the World's Fair dedicatory ceremonies.

"We are both over seventy now," they write to the managers, "but we still are devotees of the great Händel, and our voices are clear and strong. We shall sing in the Hallelujah chorus on Saturday and we shall sing from the very scores we sang from at the World's Fair. The pages are yellow with age, but we shall bring them with us."

The Community Singing.

And the community singing!

That is when you perform.

"Sing frequently in choruses," said the great Robert Schumann, "for that makes you musical."

Well, now's your chance to refresh and renew your musical soul by singing your head off in as spacious a program of chorus singing as ever an American community joined in.

The list of popular pieces in which one and all are expected to lift their voices tonight is not contemptible.

The first four songs have genuine national and folk value.

They are:

Julia Ward Howe's "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

John Howard Payne's "Home, Sweet Home."

Stephen Collins Foster's "Old Folks at Home," better known as "Suwanee River."

Foster's "Old Kentucky Home."

If you are wabbly on the words of those songs take a glance at them as printed on another page of THE TRIBUNE. And please take the columns with you this evening.

Here are the popular pieces of later date, which all the young folk know:

Stoddard King and Zoe Eliot's "The Long, Long Trail."

Armstrong's "Sweet Adeline."

One thing is certain: You won't have many chances in a lifetime to sing these ingratiating pieces to the music of twenty-one bands made up of eleven hundred instrumentalists.

A $50,000 Event.

Not to vulgarize the occasion by talking of money, but just to give you its scope, it is fair to mention that this is a $50,000 concert. That much would it cost if all the volunteer artists were paid artists—and this estimate does not include the actual thousands of dollars which have been expended on arrangements, preliminary contests, and railway fares.

As to performers, they will total five thousand.

An occasion, then, worth commemorating.

And THE TRIBUNE will commemorate it by the presentation of 700 gold, silver and bronze medals to the prize winning bands and individual artists.

This festival, granting all goes well tonight, will be an annual event. The response to the project has been heartening. The coöperation has been enthusiastic.

A Word of Thanks.

Director Noble Cain, who will direct the 3,000 in the Hallelujah chorus, put it gracefully when he thanked the participants in one of yesterday's big rehearsals.

"You have," he said, "loyally helped to launch in Chicago the greatest musical jubilee ever staged in American history. It bids fair to grow and become a mighty movement for musical good in the years to come."

From 9:30 until 10:30 o'clock tonight the festival will be broadcast by two men on W-G-N. This will be the Chicago outlet for the National Broadcasting company's hookup, which will carry the music from Toronto to San Francisco. Wallace Butterworth will be the announcer.

MUSIC FESTIVAL TO TAKE ALL OF U. S. FOR ITS AUDIENCE

All of the United States will be the audience for the Chicagoland Music Festival at Soldiers' field tonight, when the highlights of the huge songfest will be broadcast over a nation-wide hookup of the National Broadcasting company, including nearly twenty stations. W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE station, will be the Chicago outlet from which the program will be transmitted to other points.

The broadcast will be given from 9:30 p. m. to 10:30 p. m., central daylight saving time.

Radio stations as far away as Jacksonville, Fla., and Oakland, Cal., as well as one in Canada, will be included in the hookup. The network will include W-G-N, Chicago; WJZ, New York; WBAL, Baltimore, Md.; KDKA, Pittsburgh; KWK, St. Louis, Mo.; WHAM, Rochester, N. Y.; WRC, Washington, D. C.; CKGW, Toronto, Ont.; WJR, Detroit; WJAX, Jacksonville, Fla.; WREN, Lawrence, Kas.; KFAB, Lincoln, Neb.; KOA, Denver, Colo.; KSL, Salt Lake City; KPO, Oakland, Cal., and KGW, Portland, Ore.

Among the highlights to be broadcast are Negro spirituals by a colored chorus of 1,000 persons, singing by the Hallelujah chorus of 3,000 persons, and Tschaikowsky's "1812" overture by a concert band.

WHATEVER YOU WANT IN MUSIC

To traffic in art and yet not lose the spirit of art; to do things well and to do them quickly; to search constantly and faithfully for better methods; to regard all customers as friends; to join courtesy and cheerfulness to loyalty and diligence; to believe that there is sentiment in business, and that no great work can be done without it; to consider a good bargain, one which benefits both parties; to take an intense pride in the name which symbolizes over sixty-six years of honorable development in the field of music—this is the Lyon & Healy Mission

A New York musician sought months for a rare composition by César Cui, was told he must send to Leipzig. In Chicago on business, he stopped at Lyon & Healy's sheet music counter, had it placed in his hands in an instant

Schoolboys and schoolgirls, two hundred of them, shipped on Lyon & Healy's Summer Cruise through Music Land, learned harmony, music appreciation, horn-piping, instruments, free

Kenosha, Wisconsin, fire fighters formed a band to brighten hours, Holten equipped by Lyon & Healy, 40 pieces. Not to be outdone, Kenosha, Wisconsin, policemen started one of their own, equipped by Lyon & Healy, 40 pieces, too

Six Lyon & Healy Washburn mandolins went with the Byrd Antarctic Exposition to the South Pole, cheered hands aboard the "City of New York"

Sixteen prize-winning contestants in the Chicagoland Music Festival tonight will carry home trophies selected here

In the music room of the Imperial Palace at Tokyo, Japan, Oriental princesses touch the golden strings of the crown-topped Lyon & Healy harp

When Mme. Schumann-Heink comes to Chicago, a Lyon & Healy piano tuning expert is dispatched immediately to her suite, puts in perfect tune the Steinway that she loves

A quiet man strolls into the Saxophone room at Lyon & Healy, rolls back a glass door, takes out a glistening Holton instrument, places it to his lips . . . Rudy Wiedoeft

Harpo Marx, mimic of Animal Crackers, The Four Cocoanuts, gets his name from the crown-topped Lyon & Healy harp he plays. In town recently, he wanted a new set of strings. A Lyon & Healy tuner called, replaced the old, tuned the harp. Harpo had to tune it again. He plays the harp slightly out of tune, the way he learned it

A forest ranger in the Sierras near Needles, California, got lonesome, packed his duds, came east to Lyon & Healy, bought himself a drum outfit

The great Lyon & Healy store in the loop extends its complete music service to our Chicago friends through seven neighborhood branches. Another fine store serves Cleveland

Every day letters come to Lyon & Healy from the four corners of the world; from South Africa, Siam, Batavia, Straits Settlements; from Madagascar, the Philippines and South America. Strangely, saxophones are popular around the globe

The Victor Theremin, sponsored in Chicago by Lyon & Healy, is the invention of the young Russian scientist, Leon Theremin. It is an entirely new instrument that can be played without human touch, yet one which permits the artist a new and fuller expression

One day last week a Methodist minister from distant New Mexico selected band instruments for his church and a college director from far-off Idaho purchased band instruments for his school

When the Tenth Annual National Harp Festival convened in Boston in March, 78 of the 80 harps in the harp ensemble were the crown-topped Lyon & Healy make

Leopold Auer, late teacher virtuoso of Zimbalist, Elman, Heifetz, said, concerning the Lyon & Healy million dollar collection of rare old violins, "I do not recollect having ever had the privilege of examining so many magnificent specimens of the violin maker's art."

A handsome, broad shouldered familiar figure stops at the Lyon & Healy sheet music counter, asks for an old Irish song, hums a bit of an air . . . John McCormack

Carl Sandburg, Chicago dreamer, singer, poet (The Prairie Years, The American Song Bag) plays a Lyon & Healy Washburn guitar in lecture and concert work

Mrs. Cyrus McCormick's antique lute, made by Tiefenbrucher in Padua, Italy, during the 15th century, needed a delicate repair. Lyon & Healy was called and the work performed

Theodore Roosevelt, smiling Big Sticker, admired fine things. The Steinway which diminutive Roosevelts practiced on is still the feature of the Blue Room at the White House

General Lew Wallace, fighter, novelist, (Ben Hur) wanted the rare violin, King Joseph Guarnarius, $12,000, but could not afford it. Lyon & Healy violin shops made him a beautiful copy

Mrs. George Lytton, wife of Chicago's merchant prince, purchased a Steinway Concert Grand piano. Piano movers found large hallways small, ingeniously trussed the piano, lifted it up on the outside of 1242 Lake Shore Drive, twenty floors for a world record

Percy Grainger stops between trains, comes to our store to listen to his Duo-Art recordings, played on the Steinway Duo-Art

Mischa Elman's Stradivarius, "La Recamier", $60,000, lately passed through the hands of skilled Lyon & Healy repairmen for adjustment. The same day, the violin belonging to Hans Ritter, blind, Michigan Avenue fiddler to passers-by, came to us for repair

The Chicago Musical College and the Gunn School of Music, two foremost schools of musical learning, are equipped with Steinway Grand pianos from Lyon & Healy

Hanns Rosshirt, world authority on sheet music, came from the Otto Halbreiter Music Company, Munich, Germany, to continue his service with Lyon & Healy

Preceded by mounted police, Lyon & Healy's Boys Band, 90 strong, swung through the Loop in natty navy ducking; trumpeted, clarineted, fifed to Roosevelt Road, boarded a train for Edward Hines, Jr., Hospital to make shut-ins happy

Steinway is the official piano at Ravinia, summer world music capital, and the North Shore Music Festival, Northwestern University sponsored

RADIO AUDIENCE HEARS VICTORS IN MUSIC CONTEST

Singers Are Selected in Theater Tests.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

What turned out to be as exhilarating as a professional concert several times repeated took place yesterday afternoon and evening in the loop district when the final contests of soloists and small groups of the great Chicagoland Music festival were held. Take it from one who was there, they were packed with interest.

By no means the least interesting features were the personalities of those who took part. A bride, Mrs. Marie Herron Truitt of Milwaukee, took first place among sopranos. A bank vice president, Oliver Mellum of Lake Bluff, took first place among baritones. And six men who earn their livings by making saxophones came to Chicago and played them so brilliantly that they were adjudged first among all their competitors. They are called the Conn Saxophone sextet.

Contestants Come Early.

All morning contestants poured into the festival headquarters at the Stevens hotel. In fact, the first delegation made its presence known by telephone as early as 5 o'clock. From then until noon they arrived, registered, hunted up their own hotel quarters and made ready for the final test.

The instrumentalists had their session in the audition room of the Chicago theater during the afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock. The singers, soloist and group, almost came on the heels of the instrumentalists, meeting at 7 o'clock in the evening, but were divided between the Chicago theater room and the Majestic theater. Of the instrumentalists, fifteen played the cornet, ten the trombone, and nine the saxophone, and there were six instrumental combinations.

Singers Broadcast on W-G-N.

The evening contest for the eighteen sopranos and eight contraltos of Chicagoland in the audition room of the Chicago theater was diversified by a radio broadcast from the room over W-G-N.

There were excellent and unchangeable reasons why the broadcast had to take place between 8:30 and 9 o'clock. This was too early for findings on the contraltos, but the judges, Lucrezia Bori, soprano of the Ravinia Opera company; Gennaro Papi, conductor of the same company; Carl Craven and Franklin Earl Hathaway, voice specialists of Chicago, had by this time fixed upon Mrs. Marie Herron Truitt of Milwaukee, Agatha Lewis of Chicago, and Annamary Dickey of Decatur in the order named as the three leading sopranos.

Chicago Bass Sings.

They accordingly appeared on the radio program. Of the others who sang, Robert Phillips of Chicago already had been declared for first place in the bass class in the contest at the Majestic theater; Madeline Seeberger of Kenosha was afterwards announced for first place in the contralto class, and John Burdette, the Negro baritone who became famous in the contests of last week, added his rich voice to the program.

Near its close, Miss Bori became a radio artist in her own behalf, speaking a few words of advice to the singers in the room and those listening over the air.

And finally came the Duncan sisters up from the stage of the Chicago, still in costume, black Topsy and blonde Eva, to add their gay personalities to the throng.

Winners Are Listed.

Here is the list of instrumental winners, given in the order of first, second and third places:

CORNET—William Weissel, Bluffton, Ind.; Reino Lindroos, Waukegan, Ill.; Allyn Brooks, Chicago.

TROMBONE—Glen Smith, Oswego, Ill.; Edward Mendelssohn, Chicago; Douglas Heymann, Maywood.

SAXOPHONE—John McElroy, Waukegan, Ill.; William Teeter, Racine, Wis.; Lewis Elliott, Peoria, Ill.

INSTRUMENTAL COMBINATIONS—Conn saxophone sextets, Elkhart, Ind.; McElroy entertainers, Waukegan, Ill.; Wuerle Sisters, Milwaukee, Wis.

The judges were Capt. Howard Stube, Capt. John H. Barabash, and Capt. J. William Fagan, for cornets and trombones, and Carrol Martin, Ross Hickernell, and Edward J. Meltzer, for saxophones and combinations.

Evening summaries at the Chicago theater follow:

SOPRANOS—Mrs. Marie Herron Truitt of Milwaukee, Agatha Lewis of Chicago, Annamary Dickey of Decatur.

CONTRALTOS—Madeline Seeberger of Kenosha, Mrs. Esther June Stone of Chicago, Martha Wilhelm of Hammond.

JUDGES—Lucrezia Bori, Gennaro Papi, Carl Craven, Franklin Earl Hathaway.

Evening summaries at the Majestic theater, where 16 tenors, 13 baritones, eight basses, and 18 vocal ensembles competed, follow:

TENORS—Irving Fidelman of South Haven, Mich.; Peter Maltese of Chicago; R. Paul Smith of Gary, Ind.

BARITONES—Oliver Mellum of Lake Bluff, Ill.; Julius Skiuto of Racine, Wis.; John Burdette of Chicago.

BASSES—Robert E. Phillips of Chicago; Antony G. Gmerek of Hammond, Ind.; Earl Shultis of Waukegan, Ill.

JUDGES—Mrs. Edmund J. Tyler, Eunice Harper, a member of the Metropolitan Opera company, Charles Lagourgue, and Noble Cain.

Bands to Contest Today.

Large groups will contest today. Chicago bands will be assigned to the Harris, Cohan's Grand, Great Northern, and Majestic theaters at 9 this morning. Out of town bands will have assignments at the same theaters one hour later. These are preliminary contests. The finals will be played at the Majestic as soon as the preliminaries are finished.

Chicago drum corps will meet in Grant park on Monroe street east of the Illinois Central tracks at 9 o'clock. Out of town drum corps will meet at the same spot at 10 o'clock. They will be met by a representative of THE TRIBUNE at that point for further instructions.

Last of the contests, that of the choruses, will take place at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon at the Great Northern theater. This applies to all, whether from Chicago or out of town.

HERE ARE SONGS TO BE SUNG AT FESTIVAL

Following are the songs which will be sung when thousands lift their voices in the great community sing at the Chicagoland Music festival in Soldiers' field tonight. Clip out these songs and carry them to the field tonight. There will be floods of light by which to read the words:

BATTLE HYMN OF THE REPUBLIC.

Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord;
He is trampling out the vintage where the grapes of wrath are stor'd.
He hath loos'd the fateful lightning of His terrible, swift sword;
His truth is marching on.

I have seen Him in the watch fires of a hundred circling camps;
They have builded Him an altar in the evening dews and damps.
I can read His righteous sentence by the dim and flaring lamps;
His day is marching on.

Chorus—

Glory, glory, hallelujah; Glory, glory, hallelujah!
Glory, glory, hallelujah; His truth is marching on.

SWEET ADELINE.

Sweet Adeline, my Adeline,
At night, dear heart, for you I pine,
In all my dreams, your fair face beams;
You're the idol of my heart,
Sweet Adeline.

MY OLD KENTUCKY HOME.

The sun shines bright in the old Kentucky home;
'Tis summer, the darkies are gay;
The corn top's ripe, and the meadow's in the bloom,
While the birds made music all the day;

The young folks roll on the little cabin floor,
All merry, all happy and bright;
By 'n by hard times comes a-knocking at the door,
Then my old Kentucky home, good night!

The head must bow and the back will have to bend,
Wherever the darky may go;
A few more days and the trouble all will end,
In the field where the sugar canes grow;
A few more days for to tote the weary load;
No matter, 'twill never be light;
A few more days till we totter on the road,
Then my old Kentucky home, good night!

Chorus—

Weep no more, my lady, O weep no more today.
We will sing one song for the old Kentucky home,
For the old Kentucky home, far away.

HOME, SWEET HOME.

'Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home;
A charm from the skies seems to hallow us there,
Which, sought thru' the world, is ne'er met with elsewhere.

I gaze on the moon as I tread the drear wild,
And feel that my mother now thinks of her child,
As she looks on that moon from our own cottage door,
Thro' the woodbine whose fragrance shall cheer me no more.

Chorus—

Home, home, sweet, sweet home;
There's no place like home.
O, there's no place like home.

THE LONG TRAIL.

[Copyrighted by M. Witmark & Sons and used by permission.]

There's a long, long trail a-winding
Into the land of my dreams,
Where the nightingales are singing
And a white moon beams.
There's a long, long night of waiting
Until my dreams all come true
Till the day when I'll be going Down that long, long trail with you.

OLD FOLKS AT HOME.

'Way down upon the Swanee river,
far, far away,
Dere's wha my heart is turning ever,
dere's wha de old folks stay.
All up and down de whole creation,
sadly I roam.
Still longing for de old plantation and for de old folks at home.

All 'roun de little farm I wandered,
when I was young;
Den many happy days I squander'd,
many de songs I sung.
When I was playing with my brother,
happy was I;
O, take me to my kind old mother;
there let me live and die.

Chorus—

All de world am sad and dreary,
Ev'rywhere I roam;
O, darkies, how my heart grows weary,
Far from de old folks at home.

WINNERS!

IN music festivals and contests everywhere, note this fact: Among the winning soloists, bands and orchestras, Conn instruments invariably predominate.

In the 1930 National High School Band Contest all five of the bands which won major honors used Conn instruments. Watch the winners at Chicagoland's Music Festival. As usual, Conns will be far in the lead.

For more than half a century Conns have been the choice of the world's greatest artists. Best for beginners who want to learn quickly and advance to real musical success. Easiest to play. Many exclusive features. Yet they cost no more. Free trial; easy payments. Write, call or telephone for full information on the instrument of your choice.

90 SPECIAL BUSES TO TAKE CROWDS TO MUSIC ARENA

Will Connect with Other Transport Systems.

Ninety special motor coaches were assigned yesterday to give fast service between two downtown terminal corners and the Soldiers' field stadium in Grant park for the Chicagoland music festival, which will begin at 7:30 o'clock tonight. For those who wish to use their own autos the Chicago Motor club also suggested boulevard routes to the stadium.

Jay Lorentzen, traffic manager for the Chicago Motor Coach company, announced that buses will leave for the stadium from Roosevelt road and Wabash avenue and from Michigan avenue and Randolph street at two minute intervals throughout the evening and will maintain the same express schedule after the festival.

Start Buss at 6:15 P. M.

The Roosevelt-Wabash coaches will begin operation at 6:15 p. m., and will operate for the benefit of elevated train and street car riders who leave the trains and cars at that intersection until shortly after 8 p. m. The Randolph-Michigan coaches will begin their runs at 6:15 p. m., and will continue until after the opening hour. On both lines one coach will be kept in operation during the entire evening so that late comers or those who have to leave the festival early will not be without transportation.

At the conclusion of the festival, the buses will carry passengers to terminal points for north, west and south side coaches and will continue their runs until the stadium is emptied.

The south park board will have 40 policemen on duty at the stadium to preserve order and to direct car drivers to a large area of parking space south of the stadium.

Advice to Motorists.

Auto drivers from the northwest side were advised by the Chicago Motor club to take Milwaukee avenue to Irving Park boulevard or Addison street and then go to Sheridan road and on downtown. They might also utilize the west boulevard system on Sacramento boulevard as a means of reaching Sheridan road, it was suggested.

West side residents were referred to the Washington and Jackson boulevard through highways. Persons coming from as far south as Joliet were advised to follow route 4A to 95th street, turning east to Western avenue, thence to Garfield boulevard and through Washington park to South Park way, which leads to the outer drive, by which the field may be reached.

It was suggested by the motor club that far south side residents follow South State street from 123d street north to 63d street, then go east to Michigan avenue and north to Garfield boulevard and east to Washington park and into South Park way.

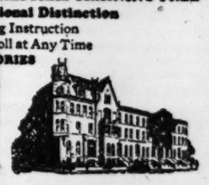

FAMINE FOLLOWS DROUGHT; 40,000 DEAD IN CONGO

BRUSSELS, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The death of 40,000 natives from a famine in Ruanda province of Belgian Congo, was reported today by the Bishop Claes, chief missionary of Belgian's great African possession. The famine was caused by a severe drought. Ruanda province was formerly a part of German East Africa. The bishop stated that thousands of natives had emigrated to the British territory of Uganda.

Iowa Professor, Wife and Child Sail Ocean in 42 Days

PONTA DELGADA, Azores, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The American schooner Evalu, which 42 days ago started from Boston with its owner, Prof. Henry Blanco of the University of Iowa and his wife and 7 year old daughter as the only passengers, has arrived here. Prof. Blanco, who navigated the two masted, 37 foot craft, said storms delayed him. The Evalu will depart soon for Madeira and Spain.

we Welcome the Musical Festival

WURLITZER takes this opportunity to welcome the Chicagoland Music Festival and to congratulate the sponsors and participants in this great competition, which is but an outward manifestation of the great art—Music—which is in the hearts of everyone. For seven unbroken generations the house of Wurlitzer has bent every effort, every resource to the development of music, and today Wurlitzer is particularly gratified that this work has culminated in such a noteworthy music event as the Music Festival.

Since 1701, when Hans Andreas Wurlitzer founded the firm in Saxony, Wurlitzer has been renowned for consistently superior quality and distinction of tone beauty in its instruments. From the piano, the basic instrument for every form of music expression, down to modern day radio that brings music culture to homes throughout the land every Wurlitzer creation embodies inherent value. Wurlitzer harps are the standard of the world—Wurlitzer is famous for its collection of rare old violins.

If you make music a part of your life, do business with Wurlitzer, where you pay no penalty for inexperience, where there is a certain guarantee of satisfaction. Look to the name which has pleased customers so well that public preference has placed it foremost among musical organizations the world over—that name is Wurlitzer.

G. O. P. PLEDGES TO OBEY VOTERS ON PROHIBITION

Mrs. McCormick Says She Will Accept Mandate.

there was no drying—and the regular order of business proceeded with only a mild interruption now and then from the Chicago wets, who insisted upon hurrahing every time the question of personal liberty was mentioned.

Senator Otis F. Glenn started the show with a recital of Republican accomplishments under President Hoover and Gov. Emmerson.

Choice Between Parties.

"You would call the old reliable family doctor and not a quack advertiser," he said in speaking of the choice between Republicans and Democrats in the present situation.

Gov. Emmerson, having postponed his address to facilitate business, then spoke at some length of the accomplishments of the Republicans in the state and nation.

It was noted at this point that he did not urge support of the "income tax" constitutional amendment to the revenue laws, which upon his initiative will be submitted to the voters in this fall election. It also was noted that the platform, adopted a few minutes later, did not recommend a favorable vote on this measure.

Here's Prohibition Plank.

The prohibition plank came in as snow of Chicago wrote it. It provided as follows: "The Republican party, since the day of its first triumph under Abraham Lincoln, has been the steadfast champion of the sanctity of the constitution and observance of the laws as they have been decreed by the will of the people, whose majority we continue to recognize as supreme, and the Republican party pledges its continued unqualified support of the provisions of the constitution and the laws of our nation and state unless and until they are repealed or amended.

"The public policy law of Illinois, enacted more than a quarter of a century ago without reference to partisanship, provides a legal channel through which the people of the state may register their will at the ballot box upon any question of public policy. Under this statute and in legal and orderly compliance therewith, the necessary steps have been taken to procure an expression of opinion from the voters of Illinois upon the question of the 18th amendment to the constitution and the problems of enforcement involved thereunder.

Urge All Voters to Polls.

"This is the statutory and constitutional method of ascertaining the will of our people, and we urge all voters to participate in the referendum thus instituted in order that the result may be clear and unmistakable.

"The Republican state convention, adhering to the doctrine of majority rule, pledges its representatives in the congress of the United States to vote consistently to carry out fully the expressed will of the people of their districts at the referendum on these questions of public policy in the election of Nov. 4, 1930."

Mrs. McCormick's reception following the adoption of the platform and her speech was enthusiastic.

CHINA BRIGANDS LOOT, BURN CITY; KILL 500 NATIVES

SHANGHAI, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Two thousand bandits, descending upon the helpless city of Hangchengchen, western Honan province, killed 500 natives and kidnaped 800 others for ransom, Chinese press dispatches said today. Methodically and thoroughly the brigands stripped the townspeople of their possessions, slew the poor, and carried off the prosperous, firing the city and leaving it in ruins. The bandits marched off with their prisoners to the mountains of eastern Shensi province.

Communists, whose armies have roamed over several provinces, despoiling, looting, and burning, were preparing to strike directly at the capital of the nationalist government when a score of their leaders were arrested today in Nanking. Their plot to overthrow the government by dynamiting several of its buildings was frustrated and large quantities of explosives and communist literature seized.

Rebels were active, too, in south China. Fierce fighting took place as insurgents attacked government troops defending Nanning, capital of Kwangsi province. Four Americans, names unknown, were reported endangered by the opposing fire.

Recover 12 More Bodies in Canadian Mine Disaster

BLAKEBURN, B. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Twelve more bodies were located today in Blakeburn No. 4 mine, in which 45 miners were killed in an explosion last Aug. 13. Thirty-five bodies have now been found.

High Spots in Mrs. McCormick's Talk

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The high spots in the speech of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick to the Republican state convention in which she pledged herself to accept the state vote on prohibition next November as a mandate if she is elected to the United States were as follows:

"The 18th amendment to the constitution of the United States, which became effective on Jan. 17, 1920, and the enforcement act, known as the Volstead law, have been and are now opposed by many American citizens. It is not to the point, at this time, to debate the question as to whether the opposition to the amendment and to the enforcement act represent a minority or a majority of our citizens. We must confront the fact that any group of citizens has a right, under the constitution—a right expressed in the first amendment made to that great charter in 1791—'To petition the government.'

Emphasizes Right of Petition.

"Illinois is one of the states which has emphasized the right of petition and referendum by a special law governing the submission of public policy questions. I submit that any effort to interfere with the making of such a petition or to ignore a legal appeal to the government would be a course unworthy of the traditions of the Republican party of Illinois.

"At the election on Nov. 4, Illinois voters will be asked to vote 'yes' or 'no' on three questions of public policy involving prohibition. One of the questions involves the repeal of the 18th amendment; another provides for an expression of desire as to whether or not the Volstead act shall be modified, and the third relates to a state law which, in my capacity as a candidate for United States senator, I shall not now discuss.

"Our platform declares that the Republican party adheres to the principle of majority rule. It declares that when the voters of the state shall offer a petition by orderly, legal methods, approved in spirit by the national constitution and explicitly provided for by the laws of our own state, the party pledges itself and its candidates to be responsive to the will of the people. I am a Republican.

Declares She Is a Dry.

"As a candidate for representative at-large two years ago I publicly declared my position as a dry. As a candidate for the Republican nomination for senator last spring I reaffirmed that position. I held that there was no alternative to honest enforcement and obedience of any or all laws except that of repeal or amendment of those laws. Those were my individual opinions, expressed prior to my nomination and are still my personal convictions. Now that I am the party's nominee, sharing the responsibilities of the Republican party, I am pleased that my position is consistent with that of the party with which and for which I shall make a diligent campaign for election.

"I whole-heartedly concur with the party's expressed adherence to the principle of majority rule and I congratulate the party on recognizing the right of citizens appeal to government; a far more honest and sincere course than a program of studied evasion or a program which might by silence give encouragement to irresponsible nullification of our laws or of downright contempt of them. Therefore, I heartily approve my party's declaration that it will be responsive to the expression on these referendum questions. So far as I am concerned, I shall, as senator, accept such a majority expression as a mandate from the people whom I shall represent in Washington.

Makes Her Position Clear.

"In order to make my position unmistakable I wish to explain clearly what I shall do with regard to the referendum result when I am elected to the United States senate. The method of bringing about a repeal or amendment of any constitutional article or amendment is clearly provided for under the constitution, article V.

"If the expressed will of the people is for modification of the Volstead act my course as a member of the senate would be in sympathy with the principle so approved, but the definite course to be pursued would be dependent, of course, upon the nature of the modification demanded.

"There have been almost innumerable programs offered for modification of the Volstead act. Some of these changes would serve to practically nullify the act and many of the suggestions would result in legislation which would be in direct violation of the constitution. I wish to point here that any modification of the Volstead act must in no way conflict with section 1 of the 18th amendment, so long as this amendment stands unrepealed.

About Modification Proposals.

"It is impossible for any candidate honestly to agree in advance to a blanket indorsement of modification proposals.

"Before concluding a discussion of this subject I also wish to make it clear that until the constitutional amendment is repealed or until the Volstead act is repealed or amended I stand squarely for enforcement of both these measures. Each member of the senate and the house of representatives taking his seat is bound by oath or affirmation to support the constitution.

"As a public officer, therefore, I have no choice and I have no privilege of discretion as to whether a law shall or shall not be enforced. As an individual and as a citizen not bound by any oath, I still would stand for enforcement of all our laws and of all of the articles in our constitution.

"It is not to be denied that evils have crept into the enforcement of the prohibition laws. It is acknowledged by those most concerned in enforcement that corruption on a large scale has marked this phase of our law enforcement efforts.

Would Guard Jury Trial.

"I am for a program of enforcement that will justify respect for all federal laws. At the same time I appeal for an enforcement program which shall conflict in no way with the rights of our citizens as guaranteed under the constitution. I believe no program of enforcement shall be tolerated which in any degree infringes upon the constitutional right of a citizen to a trial by jury. I believe that no matter how emphatically we favor enforcement we should not tolerate any effort of petty officers which infringes in the least respect upon that article to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures.

"Whatever course we take, whether we favor or oppose the present restriction upon the sale and possession of liquor, we must not deviate from a firm faith in and adherence to the constitution, which is the foundation of all our liberties."

WATERWAYS THE TOPIC AT HOOVER WEEK-END CAMP

Engineers at Rapidan with President.

Orange, Va., Aug. 22.—(AP)—President Hoover came to his mountain retreat on the Rapidan river tonight for another week-end of rest, recreation and informal conferences on pressing government problems.

The drought and commercial aviation have been vehicles for discussion the last two weeks, but tonight the executive surrounded himself with expert engineers in and out of the government to inform himself first hand on the progress of inland waterway development and the related question of flood control.

Illinois Projects Up.

The conferences were expected to revolve principally around work now going forward on the upper Mississippi with the ultimate purpose of creating a nine foot channel from Minneapolis to Cairo, Ill.

The Missouri, Illinois and Ohio river improvements also were to enter the conversations, as well as the proposed great lakes to the sea waterway via the St. Lawrence, negotiations over which probably will be renewed with Canada as soon as Hanford MacNider, new American minister to Ottawa, assumes his post and determines the attitude of the new Canadian government. Mr. MacNider will participate in the Rapidan conferences.

Official Guest List.

The official guests of the President and Mrs. Hoover included Secretary Hurley, Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, and Col. George R. Spalding, army engineer in charge of the upper Mississippi and Illinois project. Robert E. McConnell, a New York engineer and close friend of the President, also was at the camp.

600 POUND BOY DEAD FROM DROPSY AFTER 17 YEARS OF GAINING

Everett, Mass., Aug. 22.—Henry D'Antonio, 17, known as "Everett's fat boy" and who weighed 600 pounds, died today in Massachusetts General hospital at Boston. He was the son of Mrs. Mary D'Antonio of 19 Heath street. He was taken to the hospital yesterday suffering from dropsy. According to his sister, Mrs. Mary Sarna, Henry was fat at birth, and grew steadily fatter with the years. Three or four years ago he attained 300 pounds, and then began to put on flesh in earnest until death resulted.

DIES AFTER FIST FIGHT.

Frank Petz, 32 years old, 2019 North Winchester avenue, a truck driver for the Gozzolo Drug company, 119 South Green street, died in the Jefferson Park hospital last night after a fist fight with Joseph Lind, 24 years old, another driver for the drug concern. The police held Lind.

33 YEAR ARCTIC MYSTERY SOLVED IN CAMP OF DEATH

Find Body of Andree, First Balloon Explorer.

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The thirty-three year old mystery of how Salomon Auguste Andree, Swedish balloonist explorer, and two companions who set out with him for the north pole in a balloon in 1897 perished in the first attempted flight of its kind, has been wrested from the grip of the arctic. Word was received here today of the finding of the three bodies on White island, otherwise known as Giles land, between Spitzbergen and Fridtjof Nansen Land [Franz Josef Land], about longitude 33, latitude 80.

A Norwegian expedition, commanded by Dr. S. Horn, sent news that on Aug. 8 it had discovered the grim remnants of the tiny camp, littered with paraphernalia that had been pawed over by polar bears, where the heroic Andree and his mates had perished, thirty-three years ago.

Andree's diary, his scientific instruments, various bits of paraphernalia and the bodies, frozen and well preserved, told the story of what had happened when the daring aeronaut disappeared with his comrades after leaving Dane's island in their small frail balloon on July 11, 1897.

Bared by Melting Ice.

The startling discovery was due to the extraordinary mild August weather that favored the Horn expedition. The ice had melted for several feet. About 150 yards from shore the members of the Horn expedition aboard the Brattvaag found the remains of the camp at the very point where only a fortnight previously another expedition had landed.

In the lee of a huge rock Dr. Horn's men were astonished to find some cooking utensils. They searched eagerly and came across the bodies near by, embedded in the ice that had preserved them.

Further eloquent touches to the dramatic discoveries were the finding of the boat and a sledge which Andree had taken along for emergencies. Two of the bodies were fully dressed and only one had deteriorated, presumably because it had lain sheltered in the small boat.

Find Andree's Diary.

In one of the pockets of Andree's clothing the searchers found his diary, a document which is expected to tell the details of their stirring attempt to blaze the trail across the top of the world that later brought renown to twentieth century flyers.

The finders did not dare to examine the diary minutely because the pages crackled with age and they feared to damage it.

The bodies, instruments and other paraphernalia have been taken aboard the Brattvaag to be brought to Tromso, where the ship is scheduled to dock Sept. 10.

May Have Lived Months.

Andree was accompanied on his balloon trip by K. Frankel and N. Strindberg, who was then a strikingly handsome youth of 24 and a professor of the Swedish university. Strindberg was engaged to be married when the expedition was being formed, but he postponed his wedding to heed the call of the adventure that was to mean his death.

According to the word received here, Dr. Horn believed that Andree and his men had wandered across the polar wastes to the spot where they met their end. A brief glance at the weather-beaten diary, gave a position of 93 degrees N., 33 minutes E. This notation being the point on which Dr. Horn made his deduction. No traces were found of the balloon or the tent hut of the Andree expedition and it was deduced that the three lonely men had lived a few scant months after leaving Dane's island.

Believe Andree Last to Die.

The remains of a polar bear near the camp suggested the possibility that the three men had killed the animal and subsisted for a time on its flesh.

All of the equipment indicated long usuage. It is believed that Andree outlived his two companions, because of the fact that all of the instruments were found near his body. Doubtless the sturdy explorer wrote in his diary, almost to his last breath, the tragic fate of his expedition.

The news of the discovery was given to the world in a message from Capt. Gustav Jensen of the arctic vessel, Terningen, which arrived today at Tromso. Capt. Jensen, in a dispatch to the Aftenpost, related that on Aug. 8 when his ship lay off Victoria island near Fridtjof Nansen Land, he was hailed by the Brattvaag, carrying the members of the Norwegian Svalbard and arctic ocean expedition. Dr. Horn then informed Capt. Jensen of his great find. The Brattvaag is still at Fridtjof Nansen Land. The Brattvaag is not equipped with wireless and on that account Dr. Horn requested Capt. Jensen to announce his discoveries.

Pigeon Carried Message.

A few scant messages were received from Capt. Andree after he and his men took to the air on that fateful July day in 1897. One of these was brought back to civilization by carrier pigeon about forty-seven hours after the flight began, "stating all well on board." And that this was "the third pigeon post."

This message created tense excitement throughout the world, which had closely followed Capt. Andree's plans for a balloon trip to the north pole and to drift from there to the American continent with the aid of the prevailing air currents.

One of the aims of the famous Norge expedition headed by Capt. Roald Amundsen, who in 1928 flew across the top of the world, was to search for traces of Capt. Andree and his men.

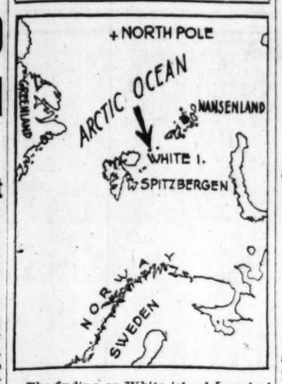

Last Word in Buoy.

In addition to the "pigeon post" message, Capt. Andree sent other news of his expedition in a metal tube enclosed in a buoy which had been dropped from the balloon on July 11, 1897, but which was not picked up until 1898. In September, 1899, still another buoy was found. This one was picked up on King Carl's Land.

In July, 1900, three years after Capt. Andree and his two men had left civilization behind them forever, two more buoys were found in Iceland, but the metal tubes which may have had messages in them were missing. Then about a month later, came the last word, when a buoy was found on the northern coast of Norway, with the following message:

"July 11, 10 p. m., G. M. T. So far our trip has gone well. We are now over the ice, which is broken in all directions. Glorious weather. In excellent spirits. Andree, Strindberg, Frankel. Above clouds since 7:45, G. M. T."

Ends Arctic Mystery

The finding on White island [marked by arrow], Fridtjof Nansen land, of the body of the Swedish balloonist explorer, Salomon August Andree, by a Norwegian scientific expedition, has solved a 33 year old mystery of the Arctic.

White island is a small body of land about forty miles north of Rudolf island and one of the northernmost known lands within the Arctic circle.

Fridtjof Nansen land was formerly Franz Josef land, an Arctic archipelago lying east of Spitzbergen, many of the islands being promontories rising from 400 to 700 feet.

FARM PROSPECT ALONG WABASH NOT ALL GLOOMY

Tiller Calls Reports of Destitution "Blah."

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mount Carmel, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Along the Wabash in Illinois and Indiana, where the drought struck hard, farmers are beginning to say that the crop prospects are quite a bit brighter than painted a fortnight ago. Bottom land farmers, whose fields were swamped last winter by floods, find their cornfields improved where the recent rain fell. Up on the ridges and highlands cornfields are so withered that they rattle instead of rustle in the breeze. Some of the corn that looks green and fat in the stalk, however, is producing ears with only a few scattered kernels, and many farmers are cutting for forage and putting what the drought has left into silos.

A drive in Egypt through Mount Vernon, Centralia, Salem, Flora, Effingham, Newton, Robinson and Lawrenceville, and on the Indiana side from Vincennes to Evansville, found some communities advancing the view that the first estimates of drought damage are somewhat overdone. Without minimizing the burned up corn, the peaches, the pastures, the county seat experts say there is no privation as yet, although many farmers are without much cash. Tenant farmers, who have been having a hard row of it, appear hardest pressed.

It Might Be Worse.

Dairy herds are not being reduced to the point apprehended by some, so that, with feed moving at half rate freight rates and a credit machinery being set up, the general view in the countryside seems quite calm, and the actual farmers are not tearing their shirts, leaving that exercise for the oracles in overalls on the courthouse lawn.

Gibson county is one of the Indiana counties seriously hit by the drought, but at Princeton, the county seat, the idea is advanced that prospects are better than depicted a week ago. Some say only a 20 per cent corn crop will come through; others say 40 per cent and higher. The soy bean looks fat and sassy, despite the hot wave. In some places it is shoulder high, and farmers say it's a good forage crop.

Bright and Dark Sides.

At Mount Vernon, Gov. Emmerson's town, some farmers who were stampeded a week or two ago and began to thin out their dairy herds took a different view when Sunday's rain came—the first good one since early May—and freshened up the pastures somewhat. Much of the marketable livestock has been shipped, but few dairy cows have left the county. The banks are extending credit in the case of many farmers—small sums suffice to keep them off the soft shoulder.

Redtop hay seed is counted on by many farmers. Half a dozen counties in this region produce this seed, which sells for 18 cents a pound. Last year a local dealer shipped twenty carloads worth some $100,000. Prospects are for a 60 to 65 per cent crop, and as the price is higher, local bankers say redtop seed will bring in more this year than last. Peaches brought the county $100,000 last year, but this year they were almost a total loss. A 20 per cent corn crop, half a crop of hay and soy beans for forage are looked for, and the pastures are burned, until the experts say 75 per cent of the feed must come from outside.

Along the road between Centralia and Salem, where the corn is estimated as 80 per cent damaged, farmers say the hay is fair, the potatoes also, while the wheat and oats were good. Feed is being shipped in. Salem depends on fruit and stock raising. Peaches were a failure and half a crop of apples is looked for. It is one of the hard hit sections, but the county authorities say the stories of destitution among the farmers are "BLAH." Although some are without money, there is food. At the courthouse the talk is that distressing poverty is more likely to be found at the edge of the towns than on the farms.

DIVERSION RAISES ILLINOIS RIVER 2 FEET AT UTICA

The 4,000 cubic second feet increase in the water diversion at Chicago ordered a week ago by Secretary of War Hurley as a drought relief measure has raised the level of the Illinois river two feet at Utica and almost a foot at Peoria.

This was announced yesterday by United States Engineer A. E. Clearman, whose office is collecting data for the war department on the effect of the increased lake diversion on the navigability of the Illinois and lower Mississippi rivers.

Mr. Clearman emphasized the benefits of the increase to navigation on the Illinois. The increase has not had time to effect the lower part of the river materially, he said.

The effect of the added flow at Lockport is being watched by the war department because of the controversy among Washington engineers as to whether navigation on the Illinois and lower Mississippi rivers is benefitted by the Chicago diversion.

FAKE SMITH MESSAGE AROUSES DISCORD IN CLUB OF DEMOCRATS

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Charles G. Gillen, city commissioner of Newark, resigned from the Joel Parker association today, and in his letter of resignation charged that a telegram bearing the spurious signature of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, predicting a Democratic victory, which was read at the organization's outing at Crystal lake, West Orange, Wednesday, last, was the work of one or more officers of that association.

Mr. Gillen said that the minds of these men "are so small that they could not understand how contemptible their action was."

Three investigations were under way today to learn the authorship of the bogus telegram from the former governor. William J. Egan, director, said the message was delivered at his home by a Western Union boy on the morning of the outing. It came from New York, where it was filed at 126 5th avenue at 6:21 p. m., Tuesday, Aug. 19, the night before the outing.

HOOVER NAMES FLETCHER CHIEF OF TARIFF BOARD

Four Others Yet to Be Appointed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Henry P. Fletcher, former ambassador to several South American and European countries and undersecretary of state, was named by President Hoover today as chairman of the tariff commission. He will take office on Sept. 16.

Mr. Fletcher, who lives at Greencastle, Pa., is 53 years old and, the President pointed out in announcing his appointment, has had 18 or 19 years' experience in economic and tariff matters. Mr. Fletcher was married in 1917 to Beatrice Bend of New York City.

Difficult Problem.

In selecting Mr. Fletcher to head the tariff commission the President partially disposed of a problem which he has been studying for several months. His appointment was seen as being in line with Mr. Hoover's thought that a man with broad experience, rather than a technical expert, should manage the commission's affairs.

Under the new tariff act the President has until Sept. 16 to select the other commissioners, five in all. Edgar B. Brossard, the present chairman, and Alfred P. Dennis are mentioned as the incumbents most likely to be reappointed.

Experienced in Diplomacy.

Mr. Fletcher was educated at Chambersburg academy and Lafayette college. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1894, practicing his profession until 1898. He served during the Spanish-American war as a member of Roosevelt's Rough Riders, and thereafter was a first lieutenant in the Philippines.

He entered the foreign service of the United States in 1902. He was appointed ambassador to Mexico in 1916 and resigned in 1920, becoming undersecretary of state in 1921. He was appointed ambassador to Belgium in 1922, and to Italy in 1924, from which post he resigned in 1929 in order that he might spend his life in the United States.

Arrest Autoist Whose Honk Disturbs Sick Millionaire

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—S. W. Straus, the financier, has been ill in his suite at the Ambassador for three weeks, it became known today, when a traffic policeman detailed to prevent unnecessary noises beneath his windows arrested a motorist for excessive use of sis horn. Mr. Straus underwent a minor operation, but now is rapidly recovering, it was explained at the hotel.

END BAR SESSION ON NOTE OF U. S., ENGLISH AMITY

Banquet Is Addressed by British Notables.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Proceedings of the American Bar association at its closing sessions yesterday and last night took on a distinct new note of international understanding, particularly between Great Britain and the United States.

Lord Tomlin, who sits in the high court in the British empire, the privy council, as well as in the house of lords, said at the farewell banquet of the association last night at the stevens hotel:

"You are a great nation of great ideals. Peace is very near your heart; not the mere absence of war, but peace in the broadest sense. There can be no peace not founded on justice and no justice that is not based on the principles of law and the courts. This meeting may have a message for the world—that the principle on which lawyers proceed in their affairs is the principle which applies to the promotion of national and international affairs, and that we are proclaiming our belief that that is true and we intend to do our best to further the acceptance of that principle."

Medal Given to Root.

Earlier in the day Elihu Root, dean of American lawyers, was summoned from his retirement to take the spotlight at the final business session and given the annual medal for services of distinction.

It was the ideal setting for an address on international topics, for Mr. Root was awarded this medal for his work in connection with making easier the pathway of America into the world court, and Frank B. Kellogg of peace pact fame, who has been presented as the new American candidate for justice of the world court, was on the platform and said Mr. Root, bowing:

"Your fame is the nation's trust."

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, who attended the banquet last night, was praised by Sir William Jewett, attorney general of England, who also addressed the international importance of the gathering and said that Mr. Hughes in his address to the lawyers of a private luncheon that day had soared up many things for them.

British Present Silver Platter.

The feature of the banquet, which was attended by 4,000 delegates, guests, and their wives, was the presentation to the association by the British bar of an immense silver platter, which was made in London in the days of George II.

Sir John Simon, chairman of the committee which recently reported on the status of India, made the presentation speech. It is in the way of a return for the act of American lawyers six years ago in placing a bust of Blackstone in the Inner Temple.

Silas H. Strawn told the delegates some of the good things about Chicago. President Henry U. Sims presided and other speakers were Maurice Henri Decugis, Justice Hanna, James Stevenson Leadbetter, K. C., Dean Roscoe Pound of Harvard, and the new president, Josiah Marvel. The next meeting will be at Atlantic City.

Marvel Is New President.

Mr. Marvel, who is of Wilmington, Del., and author of the Delaware corporation law, was announced as the president of the association for the coming year at the afternoon session. He was escorted to the platform by the retiring president, Mr. Sims. Mr. Marvel said that this was the greatest opportunity to do public good that could come to a private citizen, and that he hoped his administration would take new and courageous steps in the public service.

New members of the executive committee elected are Jefferson P. Chance of Los Angeles, J. R. Katon of Oklahoma City, and Scott W. Loftin of Jacksonville, Fla. William P. Mac-Cracken Jr. was reelected secretary and John Voorhees treasurer.

The afternoon session was marked by an address by Lord Macmillan, a Scottish scholarly man who came from a Scotch manse to his high place in English life. He talked to the great audience of lawyers for half an hour about writing, the art of composition, style, arguments, and kindred subjects which kept his listeners at close attention. He talked of Sir Walter Scott, Robert Louis Stevenson, and the Bible. No discipline is so admirable, he said, as reading the Bible which he called a well of English undefiled.

Lawyer Must Know Bible.

A lawyer, he said, who is not acquainted with the Bible and the classic writers, and able to use them, is a mechanic. One who does go to the springs of letters and inspiration may be called an architect, and "can never descend to the mean vulgarity which characterizes so much of our writing today."

Clear thinking, he said, always means clear writing, and that means good writing.

Lord Dunedin, who went to school in Edinburgh about the time Stevenson was admitted to the bar, read a resolution of thanks from the English delegates for the reception here. After Fernand Izoud, delegate from the French bar, had made a similar speech in his own language, the English lord translated it to the audience. M. Izoud's chief impression of things here was that of size, and he felt that the French bar, in comparison, was the small model of Niagara to the falls themselves.

Oppose New Inauguration.

After these amenities were out of the way a little excitement came under miscellaneous business, just before adjournment. Phil Campbell, former congressman from Kansas, made his way to the platform undaunted by the dignity and greatness there, and delivered a brief but impassioned address against the subject of changing the date for the inauguration of the president, which would convene congress soon after it was elected. Attorney Levi Cooke of Washington, D. C., chairman of the committee had it in charge, merely reported it, and asked that the committee be discharged.

Mr. Campbell objected. He said this country was inundated with lawyers now and this would only bring

RIOT CAUSE

DAGMAR GODOWSKY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 22.—Dagmar Godowsky, movie actress, daughter of the famous pianist, Leopold Godowsky, and one of the best girl friends of Prince George of England, was the unwilling cause last night of a probably fatal row at the well known Montmartre cabaret, Chez Florence.

Dagmar was dining with a slick haired Argentine friend who had just arrived here from the pampas and had not had time to cool down. A waiter clumsily spilled a spoonful of gravy down Dagmar's alabaster back, spoiling a costly evening gown. The actress let out an involuntary cry of exasperation and her gallant escort, resorting to the code of the pampas, rose to the occasion with one hand wrapped around the neck of a half full champagne bottle.

With a yell of rage he raised his arm and brought the bottle down on the waiter's head, fracturing the skull in several places. The waiter was removed to the hospital and the hot blooded Argentine was dragged off by the police, meanwhile blowing kisses to his embarrassed companion.

gress in session months earlier and give it that much more time to pass new laws. He said that the fact that the senate had voted five times for the measure made just five good reasons why it should not be adopted. He appealed to the convention to fire the committee.

Mr. Cooke said he did not like this attitude at all, that it was amazing that such things could be said in the presence of the foreign guests, that the association had indorsed this change for 16 years.

"Why do you dread an early session? So they can forget the promises they made to the people?" he asked Mr. Campbell.

Mr. Cooke said this quick convening of congress was in line with the British system, and "our ancestors took their political notions from Westminster."

Convention Proves Hostile.

The convention was in no mood to debate this and the resolution was voted down by all but two of the 2,400 delegates present.

Judge Joseph B. David presented a resolution to the effect that if the forthcoming referendum on the 18th amendment is in favor of repeal, that the executive committee recommend a new enactment embodying the Canadian plan of government sale. This went to committee without comment.

William S. McDowell of Detroit offered a resolution condemning the lawyer members of the senate who have criticized the Presidential judicial appointments, declaring that such action is an unconstitutional interference with the executive power, unbecoming to lawyers and that they should be warned not to repeat such tactics.

"Move it be tabled," said a delegate.

"It will go to the executive committee; that is the same thing," said Chairman Kellogg.

INDIAN GUIDE RECOVERS BODY AFTER VAIN HUNT

John Jeremy, taciturn Indian guide from Stillwater, Minn., appeared yesterday at Sechrist lake near Warsaw, Ind., and within half an hour recovered the body of John S. Cookson, secretary of the Container corporation and of the Chicago Kiwanis club, for whom deputy sheriffs, deputy coroners, and scores of summer colonists had been vainly dragging for ten days.

The rowboat in which Cookson set out to fish at 6 p. m. on Aug. 11 was found at 2 o'clock the next morning with two anchors dropped, a fishpole propped in the gunwale and otherwise empty.

The process was developed by Charles A. Lomax, Chicago chemical engineer. Financing of the company was arranged through a group of New York and other business men, headed by Thomas Hitchcock Jr., the noted polo player.

CHICAGO POLES TO CELEBRATE DEFEAT OF REDS

The tenth anniversary of the Polish victory over the bolsheviks will be observed on Sunday, when thousands of Poles and the official representatives of various nations will gather at the Kosciuszko monument in Humboldt park.

The program will include addresses by former Gov. Harding of Iowa, representing President Hoover; Rodney H. Brandon, representing Gov. Louis L. Emmerson; David Shanahan, speaker of the state legislature; and representatives of consulates in Chicago.

The Poles' battle with the invading Red army was fought on the banks of the Vistula river in the shadow of Warsaw. After being driven across the land, outnumbered ten to one and meeting with defeat at every encounter, the Polish army, reinforced by women and children, made a desperate last stand and the Red forces were routed.

HUSTLE OF U. S. TRIP PERPLEXES LONDON LAWYERS

Find Round of Speeches and Luncheons.

When A. O. Warren, London solicitor, awoke in his room in a Chicago hotel yesterday morning he naturally rang for hot water. It took the waiter some time to get this simple order and bring it to the 24th floor, which is some 22 stories higher than Mr. Warren's office in Bedford street, where he sits at a desk that is one hundred years old.

The complexities of American life were further unfolded to Mr. Warren when the waiter brought a teacup filled with water and a bill for 15 cents. At home he would have had a jugful and a two pence charge.

"Next time I'll take tea, as it costs the same," mused Mr. Warren, as he looked about the room and was surprised to find his shoes there. He recalled that his traveling companion in the long jaunt of the London delegation to the American Bar association convention, A. W. Drew, a cheery Gentleman who hails from the Isle of Wight, had advised him not to put his shoes outside the door.

Delegates Kept Busy.

"Ten minutes to keep an appointment to see Chicago," said Mr. Warren, consulting his memorandum book.

"Aren't you going to see the bar association?" asked his caller.

"Well, no, we looked in on them last night."

"Been a bit of a rush, you know," explained Mr. Drew.

"We were 24 hours late getting into Quebec on Aug. 12, and that made all the trouble. We had half an hour there instead of a day. They took us out to see the Heights of Abraham. It was a narrow street and I though: the cab was going to fall off. And those chaps do drive!

"Next day they rung us up at 6 a. m. and told us to have all our luggage out by 7."

"That was the night we slept in a train, wasn't it?" asked Mr. Warren.

"No, no. We were in Montreal and had to get out to McGill university to see some degrees given. Then a luncheon, and another dinner. Sir John Simon had to make a speech about every half hour. Same story at Ottawa and at Toronto. It took some running around to meet that program. Canadian bar sessions, more degrees, more luncheons, more speeches, some of them pretty rotten, by our fellows, I mean.

To Chicago at Last.

"But the situation was saved and we were delivered intact to the American Bar association, finding in Chicago another pamphlet printed with instructions, luncheons, suppers, dinners, motor trips, and speeches. I hope we 'ast, as it is a great life. The American program lasts until Sept. 6 at Boston."

One of the visiting lawyers heard that there was a Japanese restaurant in the hotel and decided to have luncheon there so that he could tell his friend, the Japanese ambassador in London, about it. He got into a quick lunchroom in the basement by mistake and found himself at the mercy of a German waitress who had been in this country only 14 months. It took some conversation to order and particularly to find out why he could not have the coffee served in his room.

"Jolly place, what?" he remarked.

BEGIN MAKING NEW FUEL IN CHICAGO PLANT

The South Chicago plant of the Prestcoke corporation, where ordinary soft coal from the mines of Illinois and Indiana is converted into a fuel similar in attributes to anthracite—has formally opened yesterday. The plant occupied about ten acres at 118th street and Green Bay road.

C. E. Poyer, a grandnephew of Thomas Edison, and an official of the company, states that the start of production will open a new market for the bituminous fields of the middle west, which in recent years have suffered from oil and other competition.

In manufacturing its product the corporation is able to make profitable use of all waste matter. The gas is sold to a steel company and the coal tar is disposed of for commercial uses. When it arrives at the plant the soft coal is run through a low temperature carbonizing furnace. Later it is ground up and then is mixed with a petroleum asphalt binder. It is pressed into pillow shaped bricks. When used as fuel it gives a flame similar to that of anthracite and it burns without smoke.

RUGGLES' $50,000,000 ESTATE IS BEQUEATHED TO CHARITY, EDUCATION

Manistee, Mich., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The will of Charles F. Ruggles, 84, lumber and salt magnate, who died last night, was filed here today. Most of his $50,000,000 fortune is left in the hands of two men as executors and trustees "for such charitable, benevolent, educational, and public welfare uses as said trustees shall select."

Ewald J. Pfeiffer of Manistee and Charles McPherson of Grand Rapids are named sole executors and trustees.

Bequests to relatives, employés, and friends totaled $230,000, with a trust fund of $100,000 created "to provide financial assistance to such of my friends as may be in need of financial assistance or relief."

One paragraph reads: "It is my desire and intent that the reasonable needs and requirements of the inhabitants of Manistee county shall at all times be given preference in the disbursements of said trust estate and of the income thereof."

AIR MAIL TERMS UNFAIR TO MANY, BIDDERS CHARGE

Say Contracts Thus Go to Favorites.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Protests made to the postoffice department by independent aviation companies against what they regard as a discriminatory night flying requirement in the specifications for two transcontinental air mail contracts were followed today by hints that a congressional inquiry might be sought.

Bids for the two contracts will be opened on Monday. One covers a 2,559 mile route from New York to Los Angeles by way of St. Louis and points in Texas, and the other a 2,008 mile route from Atlanta to Los Angeles.

Night Flying Clause Added.

The provision in the specifications causing the protests demands that a bidder must have had "at least six months' actual experience in operating aircraft on regular night schedules over a route 250 miles or more in length." The Watres air mail act requires the flying experience over a 250 mile route, but the night flying requirement was added by Postmaster General Brown.

It is charged in behalf of the dissatisfied concerns that less than a dozen companies can qualify under the requirement and that persons held in high regard by the Hoover administration are interested financially in several of these companies. They are represented further as being prepared to fight the night flying stipulation by seeking an investigation by congress or the department of justice.

Among the companies said to be eligible to bid on the two transcontinental contracts are Aviation corporation, which has eleven subsidiary lines; Western Air Express; United Aircraft, now operating five lines; Northwest Airways, Eastern Air Transport, and Thompson Air Lines.

Those Barred by Terms.

Companies mentioned as being anxious to bid for the contracts but unable to meet the night flying requirement include the Pittsburgh Airways company, the United States Air Lines, and a New England concern. The Southwest Air Fast Express also had been mentioned as one of those protesting but its president, Earl T. Haliburton, said tonight he is sure his company will have no controversy with the postoffice department.

Representatives of several of the lines have been active in Washington the last few days, and it is known that negotiations are under way to eliminate some of them through purchase by rival concerns. In this way the list of those complaining is understood to have diminished in number.

The contract specifications provide that two or more companies may join together to bid and the night flying experience of one will be sufficient to qualify both. Word has been received that Western Air Express has joined with Transcontinental Air Transport company to bid for the New York to Los Angeles contract, and similar arrangements between other companies are expected.

SWANSON ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF TRAILER CHARGE

State's Attorney John A. Swanson yesterday took official notice of the charges made in a suit filed in the federal courts wherein it is charged that more than $500,000 was paid out to "various persons" so that the Highway Trailer company of Edgerton, Wis., could sell $1,400,000 worth of garbage trailers to the city of Chicago.

The prosecutor assigned Assistant State's Attorney Grenville Beardsley to look into the charges made in the suit filed in behalf of Robert M. Telfer Jr.

The assistant prosecutor will first confer with Attorneys Newell Mecartney and Walter W. Duft, who made the charges in a bill of particulars filed in connection with the Telfer suit last week. They will be asked to give to the prosecution the facts from which they draw the conclusions made in the bill of particulars.

Commissioner of Public Works Richard Wolfe and other city hall officials may also be called on to supply any information or records they have of the deal whereby the city purchased the trailers from the Wisconsin company.

It is charged that James W. Menhall, president of the trailer company, told his stockholders at one time that the company was unable to pay dividends because it "had paid out over $500 per trailer to officials of the city of Chicago to obtain such business."

Telfer, a former representative of the Fruehauf Trailer company of Detroit, brought suit against the company, asking $100,000 for compensation and expenses. In his original bill Telfer asserts that part of his duty was the elimination of unfair competition. It was while performing these duties that he discovered, it is charged, that the Highway Trailer company sold all the trailers to the city on a noncompetitive basis, there being no bid nor specification requirements in any of the orders.

The $500,000 payments, it is charged, were made through three alleged trailer agency co-partnerships.

Seize Indiana Suspect in $50,000 Gem Robbery

Wanted by authorities of Elkhart, Ind., where he is under indictment in a $50,000 jewel robbery, Frank Poncher, 28 years old, 3642 Roosevelt road, was arrested yesterday at 22d and State streets by Police Sergts. Thomas Alcock and Matthew Quilter and was held last night at the detective bureau. Poncher is also a suspect in the $10,000 robbery a month ago of former Ald. Stanley Walkowiak and his family.

British Abolish Right of Trial to Crush India Foes

CALCUTTA, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Officials of two provinces in British India today took new steps toward curbing anti-government activities.

The Bengal legislative council passed a bill for a drastic amendment to the criminal laws of the province, arming the executive with the power to arrest and detain offenders for five years without trial. The present ordinance confers this power to deal with acts of terrorism, but the amendment is said to be designed to give general application in these times of general unrest.

In Poona, which is in Bombay presidency, police raided the offices of several associations under a legal ban and also the residences of the members. Many persons were arrested, one of them a prominent figure—H. V. Tulpee, president of the municipality.

From Karachi, in the same presidency, word was received of three demonstrations broken up by police yesterday. Several persons were injured in the police drives.

In Calcutta the Nationalists won the election for mayor today, although the new chief magistrate, like his predecessor, is in jail.

The new official is Subhas Chandra Bose, successor to J. M. Sen Gupta. He defeated the Moslem, Unsud Dowlah. Both Bose and Sen Gupta are serving prison terms for civil disobedience activities, so the supporters of the new mayor placed his photograph in the official chair after they learned he had been elected.

A government communique from the summer capital, Simla, indicated that the operations of insurgent tribesmen on the northwest frontier were continuing. In the Kurram district the situation was said to be improving.

NEW SHIP BREAKS 7 YEAR OLD MARK ACROSS PACIFIC

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Breaking all records for steamer travel across the Pacific ocean, the new 26,000 ton liner Empress of Japan arrived at the British Columbia quarantine station at 8 a. m. today, eight days six hours and 27 minutes after leaving Yokohama. The distance is 4,814 miles.

The previous record was made by the steamer Empress of Canada, seven years ago. It was eight days ten hours 53 minutes.

The new liner, built in Glasgow, cost $7,500,000. It was launched last December and made its trials in May. The ship has accommodations for 1,212 passengers. It is 666 feet long and 87 feet of beam.

U. S. ESTIMATES 2,527,582 ARE WITHOUT WORK

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—If statistics collected for approximately one-half of the United States are representative of the entire nation, the number of unemployed in this country on April 1 was in the neighborhood of 2,527,582.

Twenty-eight states and the District of Columbia have reported 1,127,947 unemployed, out of 54,650,839 population, an average of 2.06 per cent out of work.

The 28 states reporting follow:

State.	Population.	Unemployment.	Percentage.
Michigan	4,842,280	160,506	3.3
New Jersey	4,028,027	127,615	3.2
Nevada	90,981	2,830	3.1

HUGHES TO END VISIT TODAY; WILL RETURN TO EAST

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes and Mrs. Hughes will probably return to Washington this afternoon after two days' visit with Attorney Silas H. Strawn, during which the chief justice attended the sessions of the American Bar association.

Yesterday Mr. Hughes attended the Cubs-Giant game at Wrigley field and last night was a guest at the annual banquet of the Bar association at the Stevens hotel. Thursday night he delivered the address of welcome to the foreign guests of the association at a large meeting in the Civic Opera building.

MR. WICKERSHAM TO THE LAWYERS.

The intimations in the speech of Mr. Wickersham of the law enforcement commission to the lawyers at the American Bar association convention would have discouraged or rebuffed the idea that it was proper for that body to take a vote of its members on the repeal of national prohibition. If not the direct it was the indirect effect of his speech—the intimation that disorders are increased by the habit of questioning the law as it is.

Mr. Wickersham represents Mr. Hoover and the administration and made it rather plain that he did in this case. Although he looked critically at the American addiction to statutory law, he said that a new and heterogeneous people had to find their stability in laws which would be accepted. Usage and custom were not reliable in such a people. "The average American is not law abiding." The people were deluding themselves with the idea that law to be respected required the sanction of general consent.

The theory that the American people are lawless and should discipline themselves better has government approval in Washington, but it nevertheless is a theory of superficial observation and mistaken conclusion. If the average American was not law abiding by training, instinct and tradition, this largely misgoverned country would not be able to keep going on its feet. It is because the mass of the American people are law abiding that they can survive so many legal abuses and so much maladministration.

The federal government for the present is disposed to the other view, probably to shift the responsibility from the methods of government generally to the habits of the people individually. The idea conveyed to the lawyers must have suggested to them that they would increase the lawlessness if by submitting prohibition to a vote they seemed to question its desirability. If the delegates appreciated that they were being admonished by the government it at least failed to stop them from submitting the question, although there were men in the convention who thought as Mr. Wickersham did or who responded to the same suggestion.

The federal government can rely upon some effective influence in any body of lawyers. Mr. Wickersham himself is an illustration that government appointment can lend dignity to a professional career. Many lawyers are disposed to stand well, if they can, with the department of justice and the federal courts. Receiverships may go by favor. The legal profession can finds profits and honors in governmental connections. Probably none of this was lost upon the men who wanted to prevent a vote on the eighteenth amendment from the American Bar association. Fortunately the pressure was resisted and the vote will be had.

WHERE MURDERERS PAY THEIR PENALTY.

The prompt discovery and arrest by the Milwaukee police of two men who had killed two patrons of a roadhouse three nights previously invites attention to a homicide record that offers a welcome contrast.

In Milwaukee there have been fourteen killings since the first of the year, the latest the double murder of Sunday night, for which the two slayers have been arrested and have made confessions. With these there are two others in jail, their trials soon to begin.

All of the other cases have been cleared away. There are no murder mysteries in Milwaukee.

Of the fourteen cases, two were dismissed as justifiable homicides, one of them an offender shot by a policeman in pursuit of his duty, the other a young man who killed his father during a family quarrel. Three other killings were immediately followed by suicides, leaving nine, for which there have been five convictions and for which four are awaiting trial.

Herman Rose and John Amys, Kentuckians who killed a South Milwaukee shopkeeper, are in prison for life. Raymond La Vine, a bootlegger who killed the older woman with whom he was in partnership, is in Waupun serving fifteen to twenty-five years. Donald Allison, who induced his partner in a waning love affair to take poison, is serving a term for manslaughter, and two Negro killers are in the state penitentiary for long terms. William Mitchell will soon go to trial for killing his aged landlady and Arthur Mehringer is held with Frank Janette to answer for the death of one of their companions in a drinking brawl.

During 1929 there were nine murders in Milwaukee and Chief of Police J. G. Laubenheimer was able to close his desk Dec. 31 and write finis after each of them. The killer was paying the penalty in every case.

Milwaukee is a city of more than half a million population, a remarkable city in many ways. Not the least praiseworthy is the sure and prompt way that punishment follows crime. That is probably the reason that murder is still considered unusual there.

Or maybe Milwaukee's murderers are amateurs and not professionals.

THE DEMOCRATS SPEAK OUT.

The Democratic party of Illinois has reflected credit upon itself by its unequivocal pronouncement upon prohibition. That pronouncement makes a clean sweep of the present intolerable régime, as to its constitutional aspect and as to both national and state law.

Prohibition with its implications is the foremost question before the American people today and one of the most, if not the most, momentous in our history. For a political party to shirk it, to attempt to evade it, or equivocate upon it would be to stultify itself. To face it, without compromise, and to pronounce upon it vigorously and without ambiguity, as Illinois Democrats have done, is to perform a high duty to the party and to the public.

There is nothing which has weakened confidence in party government or loyalty to party so much as the disposition, so conspicuous in recent years, of party conventions to try to carry water on both shoulders. It is politically easier for a party out of office to take an emphatic stand on controversial questions than for the party which has office to lose. Nevertheless, the Democratic convention has set a standard of political good faith and courage which will increase public confidence in it as an agency of responsible political action, and it deserves imitation.

UNIFORMITY IN AIR REGULATIONS.

The three day session of the national air conference, held in Chicago, was an important event in aviation progress. It was the first national body to assemble for the discussion of important problems of aviation progress, and while necessarily confined to preparatory work, to proposals and resolutions, it was able to make important recommendations and initiate important steps toward further accomplishment.

Its chief recommendation, we think, was for the adoption by the states of such federal regulations of airports and air traffic as are practical in local conditions, in order to establish as much uniformity as possible. Air transport is so rapidly extending over the continent and interstate traffic is so important a feature of commercial aviation that uniformity should be established as far as possible. Diversity of regulations will be confusing, dangerous, and in most matters unnecessary. The states and local authorities may wish to have their own safeguards in some details, arising from local conditions, but they should conform in all practicable respects to some general system which will cover the country. Different regulations as to lights, signs, approaches, airport rules ought to be avoided wherever possible.

In Illinois we are in great need of air laws which will prevent or reduce accident and establish rights and responsibilities. But the recommendation of the conference for conforming wherever possible or appropriate to the federal regulatory system should be followed in our state law.

DOES AIMEE PACK A PUNCH?

Mrs. Aimee McPherson's faithful addicts are praying for her—a continuous uprising of supplication—although they and the rest of Aimee's public are in doubt as to what may be the matter with her. Whatever it is, they pray that she may be better of it, and she undoubtedly will. Aimee not only is never out but she's never down. From certain facts, not all agreed upon but all credible, it would appear that everything has been on the uplift. Aimee's mother had her face lifted by a beauty doctor and her nose lifted by Aimee. Aimee has had her face lifted and all have had their souls lifted.

If Aimee's mother is to be believed, the nose lifting job was the best of all. The mother says she saw her precious child start one from the floor, but couldn't get out of its way. When it landed she soared toward the zenith and for an untold period was indifferent to worldly affairs and unconscious of them, in a singularly spiritual aloofness, but on coming to found that the experience wasn't going to do her nose a bit of good. The poor thing swelled up like a summer squash and turned red, then blue, then black.

It was not at that time a nice thing for her precious baby to do, says the mother. And if she hadn't been weakened by her lifted face she would have liked to see her darling daughter try it, that's all. The protest is well made. A daughter should not hit her mother in the nose so soon after a lift of the face. It is not the time for such conduct and Aimee probably will admit it readily in a calmer moment. She should have waited at least a week.

It is apparent, however, that Aimee packs a wallop other than a well known pulpit one and is entitled to a try at Primo Carnera.

Editorial of the Day

NEW RECORD OF FAIR ENTRIES.

[Illinois State Journal, Springfield].

Standing out in eloquent refutation of all the pessimistic talk about the distressed condition of Illinois' basic industry is a little compilation of figures made by Director Stuart E. Pierson of the state department of agriculture. It has to do with the live stock entries at the state fair.

The list is headed with the cattle entries, unprecedented in the history of the exposition—800 beeves, 750 prize seeking milch cows and 350 calf club entrants. Next, numerically, come the sheep with 1,200 entries, a number undreamed of in earlier days of the Illinois fair. Hogs, too, top the record with entries in excess of 1,000.

Of course, almost every one says poor old Dobbin is on the road to extinction, yet for some unaccountable reason the showing of horses this year will be bigger than ever before—more than double what it was last year. When we note that the entries insure a parade of 450 heavy and 550 light horses, to say nothing of the racing stock, we are disposed to doubt that Dobbin is headed for the boneyard.

Perhaps, after all, Joe Brunk was right when he declared that the horse would survive so long as the farm survived. Anyway, the men in the industry seem to feel that way about it. Otherwise they wouldn't be grooming more and better animals for exhibition at agricultural shows.

We have heard so much blue wailing about agricultural conditions that Director Pierson's statistics are a lift of hope, so to speak, in the chorus of lamentation. We can't remember when the reading of figures sounded so heartening and so agreeable.

A NEW SPECIES.

"Yes, sir," panted the new shepherd, "I got all the sheep in, but I had to run some to get those lambs."

"Lambs? I have no lambs. Let's see what you got," was the answer.

Looking into the shed, the astonished owner saw fourteen panting jackrabbits.—Arcanum Bulletin.

CALMETTE VACCINATION.

DR. PARK of New York City for several years has been testing the Calmette method of vaccination against tuberculosis in children. For many years this method has been in rather general use in France and in countries sympathetic with that country. The reports are very favorable.

On the other hand, reports from Germany are not so favorable. Unfortunately this important question is being tried in the court of world politics rather than in the cold halls of unbiased opinion. Even in Canada world politics enters into the question of vaccination against tuberculosis. It is having an extensive trial among the French Canadians of Montreal, but not elsewhere.

Dr. Park's figures on 208 children vaccinated against tuberculosis by this method, contrasted with 350 nonvaccinated children, indicated that the procedure was of value. The nonvaccinated had nine times the fatal tuberculosis rate suffered by the vaccinated.

Dr. Park tried to select children as nearly comparable as possible.

But try as hard as he did he found that his test was not a fair one. To begin with, the people who had their children vaccinated were more intelligent and more careful with their children. At this point he decided to work out a score card with which to grade the people and the homes, and then to apply correction factors to his test. This story has to do with that score card.

It sets forth what was considered to be the factors which serve to protect a baby in a home where there is a case of consumption. The most important item was the age of baby before exposure began. Babies over three months old were not in imminent danger. A baby over three months old was given a weight of 20. Short exposure was the next item. If the exposure lasted less than two months the danger was lessened. This was also given a weight of 20.

If the consumptive in the family was not a far advanced case the home danger was lessened. This had a value of 13. Breast feeding as a measure of protection was rated 10. A baby born at full term was rated at 10. Five items, each with a weight of 5 were: Danger recognized from time of birth of child; coöperative mother; intelligent mother; not over two occupants to a room, and family wage over $4 per week per person. If the child had the advantage of all of these good qualities he may not have been in great need of vaccination.

QUARANTINE FOR CARRIERS.

E. S. writes: My 4 year old boy had diphtheria. He is well, but the health department keeps a "carrier" sign up. My family hug and kiss this boy without catching the disease. Why is he kept away from other children? Has the department the right to do this?

REPLY.

The Supreme court has several times affirmed the right to quarantine carriers. The right rests on the right of the community to be protected. Carriers spread the disease. They are less liable to spread it to members of the family than they are to outsiders. However, members of the family are sometimes infected by carriers, and the recklessness of your family may result in your again calling on the department for help.

OBEY YOUR PHYSICIAN.

A. W. writes:

A recent attack of pleurisy has left me with a spot on my right lung. My physician advises treatments that would necessitate my entering a sanitarium. I am in a very healthful place in the Catskill mountains (2,000 feet above sea level) and receiving excellent care. Would you advise my taking the treatments or remaining here until September?

REPLY.

Your physician knows better than I do.

WITHOUT A SHILLING.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—What states require that at least one dollar must be willed to each member of the family where the balance of the property and money is willed to just one member of the family?

A. L. C.

It is not required in Illinois. To answer your question fully it would be necessary for us to investigate the statutes of each of the states in the Union, involving in many cases the examination of several volumes. It seems probable that the greater part of this labor would be of no service to you. Hence, we suggest that you write us another letter stating the facts on which we can limit our search.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CIVIC PRIDE.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—[Friend of the People.]—The lot next to our residence was once a dumping place. Lately our street has been dug up and we had the leftover ground put into this lot. This ground we straightened out to make it look nice and we are trying to keep it that way.

Still there are people who don't pay the slightest attention to what we say in telling them not to dump there. The youngsters who worked in this lot asked me if I couldn't find some way of having a sign erected there. This I know would please them ever so much.

Mrs. H. M.

Report is made that notices have been served on offenders to stop further dumping on lot referred to. Conditions will be remedied and a "No Dumping" sign installed.

DIVORCED ONES TO REMARRY.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A friend of mine divorced her husband a month ago. They have made up and want to remarry. Is it necessary for them to remarry?

2. Or can they just have the divorce annulled or set aside?

3. If a man inherits money from his folks, is the wife entitled to half?

M. H.

1. Yes, if there was a divorce decree.
2. This would suffice if there is any basis for annulment of the divorce decree, but no such basis appears from your letter.
3. She would have no present interest in his personal property, but in the event of a divorce, the court would be likely to take such facts into account in determining upon the division of the assets.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

We Point with Pride—Or Do We?

We're all strong for the old boloney about every American citizen being a king and we are getting ready for election day in November. We think. Jim Gerard tells us that we sovereign voters don't run things in this country anyhow, but are ruled by 59 w. k. and v. r. citizens. Jim's made it 62 now, as he's found 3 more rulers who were hiding out on him. But, no matter, being very sure that we common, ordinary people do the bossing in this country, we will now settle back and study the platforms of the Democrats and Republicans which gentlemanly ushers will now pass among you.

The Republicans are up against it this year, but the Democrats have it pretty soft. They're always against everything anyhow, and one of the easiest things possible right now is to be against the sacred Eighteenth Amendment. So they are against it all over the place. But the Republicans are just having one awful time. They don't know whether to point with pride at the 18th or view with alarm. Since the Democrats view with alarm, naturally the Republicans should point with pride at prohibition. They did at the Kansas City national convention. But that was a long time ago. Look at the darned thing now!

IN MEMORY OF EPHRAIM CHIZIK, WHO DIED GALLANTLY IN THE PALESTINIAN RIOTS OF AUGUST, 1929.

No wreath of martyrdom rests on your brow,
You were too young—you would not have it so.
No noble epitaph was penned, although
Even we distant ones remember how,
Erect among the chaos of a doom
As old as all the grief of Israel,
You strode triumphantly, triumphant fell,
And now in triumph occupy a tomb.

For death could not extinguish the bright flame
You kindled then; still fierce it burns and yet serene,
While thousands of your countrymen still dare
To till that soil and, tilling, speak your name.
You still are there—the pioneers between;
Ephraim, can you hear, are you aware?

DAVIDA.

IT'S JUST AS WELL to get your alibi ready. Something like this: "I think Zuta is the man who used to sell fish at our house, and, naturally, I borrowed a little money from him one night."

HERE'S ANOTHER: "I was interested in Mr. Zuta because his name began with 'Z'; I am always crazy about zebras, zithers, zoölogy, and any one whose name begins with 'Z'; it's so unusual. So one evening, being anxious to get his autograph with the 'Z,' I borrowed a couple of grand from him, asking for a check so that I could have an autograph beginning with 'Z.' That is all, except that this unfortunate incident has decided me to move to the Zuider Zee, where I can frolic in 'Z's without getting talked about."

HEY! HEY! Stop the press! The Cubs licked the Giants yesterday! Ring the bells, sound the horns. Oh gee, oh gosh! The Cubs beat the Giants. Who cares what they say about Chicago? Let 'em laff that off.

LADIES' DAY.

These are good seats all right, Rosy, if that thing in front would sit down. . . . yeah, she heard me the first time. . . . yeah, I was to the last weeks game, too—they played the Bostons—no, I guess it was some other nine. . . . d'ya like it? . . . seven dollars at Steinblocks. They had a velour one with hardly any brim on it at all but when I put it on my head I looked like the tide just washed me in from Saint Joe. . . yeah, that's Hack Stevenson—no, wait a sec, Rosy, that aint him—maybe thats him over there. . . . last week when he knocked one over that brick wall over there I stood up and yelled like a sap and a goofy kid behin' me says, Sit down, Lollypops, and keep your shirt on—the game aint started yet. . . . Well, I would, only I cant wear no color but brown—an anyhow a brown suit goes best with my brown hat. Ma says she don't like me in brown so well as she does in blue, but I look likell before breakfast in blue. . . . yeah, I guess they are practicin'—no they aint—d'ya want some peanuts, Rosy? Would you lissen to tha grand dame behind us sound off. Its a wonder she wouldn't go down there and bat herself. . . . Well, you cant prove it by me Rosy, but the way all these old girls are carrying on the game must be started. . . . yeah, Joe's a swell guy, all right, but he dont make enough, Rosy, for a girl to keep in fried mush nowdays. . . . Tell her to go chuck her face in the ash can, Rosy—I guess you can stand up if you want to. . . . yeah, I can wear misses sizes. I aint near so fat as I was last year. Lissen to 'em yell, Rosy—I guess the game must be started all right. . . . yeah, I bought em at Steinblocks—two eighty—yeah, Pink combination. . . . well, wouldn't you think the fat pig would sit down. . . . I don't care if she did hear me. . . . yeah. . . . sure. . . . s'wonder they wouldnt stay home. . . .

ORACLE.

WHAT'S THE USE of hoping for winter so that it will stop the darned thing? News came from the east yesterday that tents are already being ordered big enough so that the peewee golf courses can continue right through December, January, and February. And if even winter can't stop 'em, then what can?

AND ANOTHER FEAR that haunts me day and night and causes us to wake with shrill screams from sleep is the horrible thought that Jim Gerard, who seems to be adding more names to his real rulers of the United States, will some day include us. Because the day our name is printed as a ruler some low-browed motor cop is sure to pinch us for parking our car next to a fire plug just to show us who is really the boss in this country.

OLD DOC EINSTEIN says that radio has the unique function of reconciling nations. Well, a nation isn't awakened at 3 o'clock in the morning by another nation across the hall tuning in a jazz band.

LAGNIAPPE.

WE FEEL POSITIVE we never met Mr. Zuta or even borrowed a match from him; however, it will be a relief when the searchers in his strong box get through with the L's. One never knows.

OUR THREE BIG TREATS

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 23, 1914.

LONDON.—War office statements and dispatches from France and Belgium, while vague as to details, make it plain that the Germans are pressing the allied armies back on France. A German official statement says that troops under the crown prince of Bavaria, fighting between Metz and the Vosges, took 10,000 prisoners and fifty guns. It adds that the French troops opposing the Germans comprised eight army corps. Paris dispatches say that the French army was driven out of Lorraine and that the Germans, reinforced by Austrians, were advancing into Alsace.

LONDON.—What is expected to prove the greatest battle in the campaign in Belgium thus far began today along a twenty mile front extending from Namur to Charleroi, on the banks of the Meuse and Sombre rivers. It is expected to last two days. A large part of the town of Namur has been occupied by the invaders, although some forts are holding out.

WASHINGTON.—Japan took war measures promptly with the expiration of the time limit for a reply to the Japanese ultimatum demanding that Germany surrender the Chinese leased territory of Kiaochow by noon Aug. 23. An army of 50,000 men, which put to sea several days ago convoyed by a Japanese fleet, is moving against Kiaochow and its seaport, Tsingtau.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 23, 1900.

WASHINGTON.—The navy department has received the following cablegram from Admiral Remey at Chefoo: "Peking, Aug. 16.—All except Imperial city cleared of Chinese troops. American troops first to enter Imperial city; have penetrated to gates of the palace. Capt. Reilly, Fifth artillery, cavalry and about 400 English and Japanese dispersed about 1,000 Boxers eight miles outside of Tientsin."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The state department has received, through the consul at Chefoo, a telegram from Minister Conger, dated Peking, Aug. 19, to the following effect: "The entire city, with the exception of the imperial palace, is occupied by Japanese, Russians, British, Americans and French. It is being apportioned into districts for police supervision. The Chinese army fled. The imperial family and the court have gone westward. No representatives of the Chinese government are in sight and conditions are chaotic. The palace is expected to be taken immediately."

AKRON, O.—The city of Akron was in the hands of a mob from 7:30 last evening until 2 o'clock this morning, when it finally dispersed. The citizens, angered at their failure to secure and lynch a Negro prisoner guilty of assault, engaged in several battles with the sheriff's posse and the police in which two children were killed, one man was probably fatally injured and 100 others were hurt. The mob nearly wrecked the city building with dynamite and afterward destroyed it by fire, as well as Columbia hall adjoining.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 23, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The motion to quash the charges and specifications against Capt. Henry Wirz, former commandant at the Andersonville (Ga.) prison for Union soldiers, was overruled and the prisoner pleaded not guilty. Immediately afterward, despite protests of Judge Hughes, counsel for Wirz, the military court adjourned without date. No reason is known for the course of the government, but there is a suspicion that the charge of conspiracy naming Gen. Lee and others may be withdrawn.

ALBANY, N. Y.—R. H. Gillett, one of the counsel for Jeff Davis, says Mr. Davis has no more information concerning his trial than others have. In a letter Davis writes: "I am still ignorant of the charges against me, the sources of them, and the tribunal before which I am to answer."

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—The ex-rebel Gen. Wheeler was badly beaten by Col. Blackburn and Maj. Quinn because of threats made during the war by Wheeler that he would kill Blackburn if he ever took him prisoner, as he was a "d—d home-made Yankee." Wheeler was in bed when he was attacked. Quinn was formerly of Chicago.

DESTROYING THE WATERWAYS.

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 20.—I have read with much interest your editorial entitled "Destroying the Waterways," which appeared Aug. 19. It is needless for me to say that it was very gratifying to see a newspaper taking the stand that you do to protect water transportation.

I want to call your attention to what I consider one of the rankest situations that has ever confronted shippers and receivers of freight via water. I refer to the Eastern Sugar Refineries' order which went into effect April 30, 1929, refusing to fill any orders for refined cane sugar to be shipped by vessels on an f. o. b. New York basis. They would, however, make shipment via the barge canal to Buffalo, then by vessels to Green Bay, Wis., on a delivered basis, charging the full all-rail rate. They further penalized the purchaser of sugar via water transportation by demanding payment 10 days after date of shipment from New York with no guarantee against decline in price, as compared to their willingness to ship via all rail in much smaller quantities, i. e., carload lots of 600 bags of 100 pounds each, with price guaranteed up to date of arrival at destination and to be paid for 7 days after arrival at destination. You can readily see that this decision by all of the eastern refineries makes it impossible for any jobber to purchase sugar via the water route.

Feeling that this was an injustice we appealed to the federal trade commission on June 5, 1929. If any action has been taken by that body we are not aware of it. We have just recently placed this matter before the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterways' convention held in Green Bay; have also appealed to our two United States senators and the assemblymen from this district.

This ruling affects not only Green Bay, but also Milwaukee and Chicago. The saving if shipped by water is approximately 20 cents per hundredweight, which saving has been passed along to the consumer. It would appear that all jobbers and manufacturers who purchase in large quantities would be extremely interested in this matter and would be eager to file their protest.

THE REMEDY.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Aug. 13.—I am selecting your newspaper as one with the courage of a Roosevelt and the common sense of a Coolidge, and if I am right in my estimate I believe you will start a slogan that will spread like wildfire over this country and bring a greatly needed relief which will quickly supplant fear and constantly sinking business with health, wealth, and sanity.

My suggestion is simply, "Four per cent alcohol for beer and light wine, to be classified as nonintoxicating." Print that in four inch headlines daily on the front page of your paper. It is the one simple, effective remedy against wholesale poisoning of our people, corruption of law and order, unemployment, unrest, fear, and the only possible solution for business and agriculture.

I personally do not use liquor in any form.

MISSION SCHOOLS IN CHINA.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—To carp at small inaccuracies is the sign of a second rate mind, but when a misstatement is so serious as to vitiate the whole point of an article it becomes the duty of a faithful reader to object.

As a resident for fifteen years of a mission in the recently burned city of Changsha, I have read with solicitous interest your illuminating articles about China. It was therefore with great distress that I found yesterday's editorial on "Religious Teaching in China" following uncritically the deliberate misstatement of the Chinese minister of education.

To say that no religious teaching is permitted in the public schools of the most progressive American states is regrettably true, and the bigotry of the churches is largely to blame. But the parallel which you draw with China has not the slightest foundation in fact. In China, too, there are public schools supported as here by the government, from which religious instruction is, perhaps justifiably, excluded. But the law which occasioned your comment has a totally different objective. It attempts to exclude all religious teaching, even voluntary religious courses, from private mission schools, which are supported by American money and are frankly and openly dedicated to evangelical purpose. The law deliberately sweeps away the foundation on which the finest modern schools in China have been built. A fair parallel would be an act of congress forbidding all religious teaching in the Catholic parochial schools of our country.

The obvious model for the Chinese law was found, not in America, as you suggest, but in the soviet republic, where, rightly or wrongly, all religious instruction is forbidden to children under 17, whatever the character of the school may be.

VAGRANCY LAWS.

Riverside, Ill., Aug. 21.—The new law some of the conscript fathers have formulated to run in the unemployed of the city for vagrancy is about as ludicrous a bit of nonsense as the eighteenth amendment and will have about the same kind of repercussions. The gangsters which it is supposed to hit are always dig up enough money to buy a partnership in a store or some other legitimate concern; and it will serve merely to leave the jobless and destitute ex-service men at the mercy of the law. We may yet live to see a grateful republic carry out its wartime promises to the men who served it by giving them a few sentences in the jug for failing to keep abreast economically with all the slackers. All the parsons and politicians appear to vie with one another to hand the latter the financial and social plums.

BUS COMPLAINT.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—We all pay the same dime and the service on the 34 line is the worst in the city. All the old buses are routed on this line and the gasoline emitted from the motor is inhaled by every one throughout the entire bus. At about 5 o'clock we have to wait about one-half hour for a bus and then when we finally do get into it, it is unbearable. There are 51, 52, and 53 buses [practically all new lower deck buses] running every minute. How about some new buses on the 34 Diversey line and better service?

The MURDER at the VICARAGE

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS.

Mr. Clement, vicar of a country village in England, at luncheon tells his wife, Griselda, and young nephew, Dennis, who lives with them, that any one who murdered Dr. Protheroe would be doing the world at large a service. The colonel enjoys making miserable for his daughter, Lettice, and his second wife, and fusses about the running of the parish. He suspects that there are defalcations in the church accounts and is coming over the next evening to go over them with the vicar. Griselda, nearly twenty years younger than her husband, refuses to take anything, including the parish, seriously.

Four of the female parishioners call at the vicarage in the afternoon for tea and scandal. The vicar, returning from parish visits, stops in at the studio on the vicarage grounds occupied by Lawrence Redding, an artist, for whom Griselda is sitting, and is shocked to discover the artist and Mrs. Protheroe in a passionate embrace. He retreats to his study, followed by Mrs. Protheroe, who tells him of her desperate love for the artist.

Lawrence Redding was a dinner guest at the vicarage that night. After dinner Lawrence maneuvers to get the vicar into the study.

INSTALLMENT VI.

SPINSTER DETECTIVES.

Then I spoke to Lawrence very earnestly. I begged him to leave St. Mary Mead. By remaining there, he could only bring greater unhappiness on Anne Protheroe than was already her lot. People would talk, the matter would get to Col. Protheroe's ears—and things would be made infinitely worse for her.

Lawrence protested.

"Nobody knows a thing about it except you, padre."

"My dear young man, you underestimate the detective instinct of village ...ks. In St. Mary Mead every one knows your most intimate affairs. There is no detective in England equal to a spinster lady of uncertain age with plenty of time on her hands."

He said easily that that was all right. Every one thought it was Lettice.

"Has it occurred to you," I asked, "that possibly Lettice might think so herself?"

He seemed quite surprised by the idea. Lettice, he said, didn't care a bang about him. He was sure of that. "Lettice knows jolly well what she's doing," he said. "And there's a funny vindictive streak in her. The queer thing is that she hates Anne. Simply loathes her. And yet Anne's been a perfect angel to her always."

I did not, of course, take his word for this last. To infatuated young men, their inamorata always behaves like an angel. Still, to the best of my observation, Anne had always behaved to her stepdaughter with kindness and fairness. I had been surprised myself that afternoon at the bitterness of Lettice's tone.

We had to leave the conversation there, because Griselda and Dennis burst in upon us.

"O! dear," said Griselda, throwing herself into an armchair. "How I would like a thrill of some kind. A murder—or even a burglary."

"I don't suppose there's any one much worth burgling," said Lawrence.

"You're wrong about there being no one worth while," said Griselda. "There's some marvelous old silver at Old Hall. Trencher salts and a Charles II Tazza—all kinds of things like that. Worth thousands of pounds, I believe. Who's got a revolver?"

"I've got a Manser pistol," said Lawrence.

"Have you? How exciting! Why do you have it?"

"Souvenir of the war," said Lawrence briefly.

"Old Protheroe was showing the silver to Stone today," volunteered

"I did not speak and he said sharply, "Why don't you answer? A penny for your thoughts, man."

Dennis. "Old Stone was pretending to be no end interested in it."

"I thought they'd quarreled about the barrow," said Griselda.

"O! they've made that up," said Dennis. "I can't think what people want to grub about in barrows for, anyway."

"That man Stone puzzles me," said Lawrence. "I think he must be very silent minded. You'd swear sometimes he knew nothing about his own subject. Well, I must be off. Thank you very much, Mrs. Clement, for a very pleasant evening."

Griselda and Dennis saw him off. Dennis returned to the study alone. Something had happened to ruffle the boy. He wandered about the room aimlessly, frowning and kicking the furniture.

Our furniture is so shabby already that it can hardly be damaged further, but I felt impelled to utter a mild protest.

"Sorry," said Dennis.

He was silent for a moment and then burst out:

"What an absolutely rotten thing gossip is!"

I was a little surprised. Dennis does not usually take that attitude.

"What's the matter?" I asked.

"I don't know whether I ought to tell you."

I was more and more surprised.

"It's an absolutely rotten thing," Dennis said again. "Going round and saying things. Not even saying them. Hinting them. No, I'm damned—sorry—if I'll tell you! It's too absolutely rotten."

I looked at him curiously but I did not press him further. I wondered very much, though. It is very unlike Dennis to take anything to heart.

Griselda came in at that moment.

"Miss Wetherby's just rung up," she said. "Mrs. Lestrange went out at a quarter past eight and hasn't come in yet. Nobody knows where she's gone."

"Why should they know?"

"But it isn't to Dr. Haydock's. Miss Wetherby does know that, because she telephoned to Miss Hartnell who lives next door to him and who would have been sure to see her."

"It is a mystery to me," I said, "how any one ever gets any nourishment in this place. They must eat their meals standing up by the window so as to be sure of not missing anything."

"And that's not all," said Griselda bubbling with pleasure. They've found out about the Blue Boar. Dr. Stone and Miss Cram have got rooms next door to each other BUT—" she waved an impressive forefinger—"No communicating door!"

"That," I said, "must be very disappointing to everybody."

At which Griselda laughed.

Thursday started badly. Two of the ladies of my parish elected to quarrel about the church decorations. I was called in to adjudicate between two middle aged ladies, each of whom was literally trembling with rage. If it had not been so painful, it would have been quite an interesting physical phenomenon.

Then I had to reprove two of our choir boys for persistent sweet sucking during the hours of divine service. And four of my poorer parishioners declared open rebellion against Miss Hartnell who came to me bursting with rage about it.

I was just going home when I met Col. Protheroe. He was in high good humor having sentenced three poachers, in his capacity as magistrate.

"Firmness," he shouted in his stentorian voice. He is slightly deaf and raises his voice accordingly as deaf people often do. "That's what's needed nowadays—firmness! Make an example. That rogue Archer came out yesterday and is vowing vengeance against me, I hear. Impudent scoundrel. Threatened men live long, as the saying goes. I'll show him what his vengeance is worth, next time I catch him taking my pheasants. Lax! We're too lax nowadays! You're always being asked to consider a man's wife and children. Damned nonsense. Fiddlesticks. Why should a man escape the consequences of his acts just because he whines about his wife and children? It's all the same to me—no matter what a man is—doctor, lawyer, clergyman, poacher, drunkard, wastrel—if you catch him on the wrong side of the law, let the law punish him. You agree with me, I'm sure."

"You forget," I said. "My calling obliges me to respect one quality above all others—the quality of mercy."

"Well, I'm a just man. No one can deny that."

I did not speak and he said sharply:

"Why don't you answer? A penny for your thoughts, man."

I hesitated, then I decided to speak.

"I was thinking," I said, "that when my time comes, I should be sorry if the only plea I had to offer was that of justice. Because it might mean that only justice would be meted out to me. . . ."

"Pah! What we need is a little militant Christianity. I've always done my duty, I hope. Well, no more of that. I'll be along this evening as I said. We'll make it a quarter past six instead of six, if you don't mind. I've got to see a man in the village."

"That will suit me quite well."

He flourished his stick and strode away. Turning, I ran into Hawes. I thought he looked distinctly ill this morning. I had meant to upbraid him mildly for various matters in his province which had been muddled or shelved, but seeing his white strained face, I felt that the man was ill.

I said as much and he denied it, but not very vehemently. Finally he confessed that he was not feeling too fit, and appeared ready to accept my advice of going home to bed.

Good Morning!

"Awk! Awk!" awked the censors.
"We do not know
If we should let this picture show!
It's oke for a maid to espouse one gent,
But to be the bride of a REGIMENT
. . . . ??????"

Well, "Bride of the Regiment" was at last released, wearing a little pink permit in its buttonhole. It turns out to be a tuneful and entertaining movie with some extraordinarily lovely color effects. 'Arm, if 'arm there be, lies only in the title—which lies, and lies, and lies. There is a bride and there is a regiment, but there is NO bride OF a regiment. The picture has a few sultry scenes, but they are not of the sort, it seemed to me, to warrant the "Adults Only" edict.

This costume production is all in technicolor, and the story, though light and not particularly credible, is interesting. The principal rôles are excellently portrayed by Walter Pidgeon and Vivienne Segal, both of whom are comely, talented and have glorious voices. Allan Prior, who created the original title rôle in "The Student Prince," isn't much of an actor, but when he sings "Broken Hearted Lover" you forget all about that. You wish that the song would never end. Minor and comedy parts are handled satisfactorily; choruses ring out with harmony and animation and the piece is gorgeously staged.

The tale told concerns the adventure of a night in the castle of Count Adrian Beltrami, who has just been wed to the lovely Lady Mariana. To the castle (it's wartime) comes the roistering, lady loving Col. Vultow—to demand that the count be shot at sunrise—or NOT. The countess is to decide that. Which is all I shall tell you of the story.

The little Castle theater was doing a land office business yesterday.

"The Sap from Syracuse" sports a good many laughs and has a genuine surprise in the last reel. These two excellent talking points, added to the fact that the picture features Jack Oakie just as we like Jack Oakie, should convince you that for the next week the Chicago theater will be an enjoyable place to park the anatomy.

Falsely suspected—through no fault of his own—of being the great engineer who built the new Erie canal, Littleton Looney, one time steam shovel driver, sails for Europe—" and Italy, France and Germany also." One quotes Mr. Looney.

A jovial conspiracy on the part of those he has worked with before he inherited the $18,000 which took him away from them is responsible for the stories abroad about the young fellow—who has a Napoleon complex and thinks rather well of himself.

On the boat our hero meets a maid whose mines in Macedonia are about to be taken from her by a wicked guardian, unless help comes immediately. What she needs is the advice and coöperation of just such an engineer as the man who built the Erie canal and is known to be traveling incognito under the name of Looney. Well, well! A lot of other wells and no more news of what happens from me to you.

The picture is well directed, recorded, photographed, and acted. Ginger Rogers is appealing and clever as the heroine, and George Barbier does some nice work as a certain gabby Senator Powell.

I feel that "The Sap from Syracuse" is going to make you very happy.

See you tomorrow.

MY LIST ECONOMIC, GERARD DECLARES, NOT EVEN POLITICAL

Newport, R. I., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Former Ambassador James W. Gerard, whose list of the 59 "rulers of America" had aroused widespread comment, took cognizance today of criticisms of his list for not containing any leaders of thought. He intentionally omitted leaders of thought, he said, and he very definitely has no intention of making a list of such leaders, because he believes it would be an impossible task.

"My list was purely economic," Mr. Gerard said. "I would hate to have to compile a list of intellectual leaders and continue to live here."

Mr. Gerard added that he had been criticized also for not placing President Hoover's name in his list, and said that he had omitted Mr. Hoover because he had wished to keep all political figures off the list.

In reference to his pamphlet, published in England and urging Great Britain to establish a tariff wall around the empire and maintain free trade within the empire as the best means to restore British prosperity, Mr. Gerard said:

"My little pamphlet is a legal and economic study, with its principal object to point out the necessity of a Sherman law for England, with certain defects of our Sherman law remedied, to prevent harmful combination in any country which adopts a high tariff."

Mr. Gerard's pamphlet is now being circulated in England and, since it comes at a time when Viscount Rothermore and Lord Beaverbrook are actively campaigning for empire free trade and British high protection against the rest of the world, it has received much attention.

Meanwhile word came from New York that Representative F. H. La Guardia had issued a statement stating his belief that the impression caused by Mr. Gerard's list of 59 rulers of the United States would give an impetus for drastic changes in the income tax law resulting in increased rates in the higher brackets.

"Mr. Gerard, I am sure, does not at this moment realize what he has started," said Mr. La Guardia. "I predict now that Mr. Gerard's list will be referred to more times in the next congress in connection with revenue legislation than any other source of information."

U. S. Official Tilts with Prof. on Haiti Policy

Dana Munro Denies the "Imperialism" Charge.

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The state department welcomes criticism of its foreign policy, but unfortunately its difficulty today is in the lack of a fair and informed outside opinion whose criticism would be valid because based on facts, declared Dr. Dana Munro, chief of the Latin-American division of the state department at the Institute of Politics today.

Dr. Munro, who was recently named minister designate of Haiti, directed his remarks toward Dr. J. W. Garner, professor of international law at the University of Illinois, who had summarized the "anti-imperalistic" side of a discussion on American policy in Latin America in a speech bristling with criticism.

"The whole object in the Caribbean is the creating of a situation where we will exert no influence," declared Dr. Munro. "You all know what we are doing in Haiti. The purpose of our policy there is to cut down our control at the earliest possible moment."

Dr. Munro found no basis in Prof. Garner's assumption that the United States wished to extend its control over the Caribbean area, because "if this were so we would not have left Nicaragua as soon as it was possible to do so."

In his address Prof. Garner declared the United States always has been an "imperialistic nation, or, if you prefer, an expanding nation," and asserted that the people of Latin America were apprehensive as to how far south this nation would extend sovereignty and control.

Fearing that the United States might in the future rely on the admitted necessity for protecting the Panama canal as a basis for intervention in the Caribbean, Prof. Garner was unable to see how a petty revolution in a Central American state would endanger the canal. He criticized as "a most unblushing address on benevolent imperialism" the speech made by a New York banker here last week to the effect that if the Caribbean nations did not achieve stability the United States would "make them stable."

The professor also disapproved of the view set forth at the institute several days ago that the United States had a "moral mandate" in the Caribbean. He placed that utterance along with "the march of events," "manifest destiny," and similar vague terms in the category of "meaningless platitudes."

While Prof. Garner disclaimed urging that the United States give up the right to intervene in the Caribbean he suggested that the present policy of unilateral intervention be abandoned for a policy of consultative or cooperative intervention. His proposal was that the United States should consult the governing board of the Pan-American union or governments of the more important South American states "without necessarily feeling bound by their advice." He charged that American policy was "unneutral intervention" and that intervention usually involved taking sides.

EINSTEIN HAILS RADIO AS MEANS TO AVERT WAR BREEDING HATES

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—"Curiosity is divine," Prof. Albert Einstein, Germany's foremost man of science, told the world over the radio this morning when inaugurating Berlin's "Radio and Gramophone Show of 1930."

In eulogizing curiosity, Prof. Einstein explained:

"It is this quality together with the playful experimenting by the man of science which inspires all great technical improvements in the world. It is his thirst for knowledge to which we owe radio that will bring the nations closer together and end the lack of mutual contacts which so easily develops into misunderstanding, distrust and hostilities."

Prof. Einstein added:

"Until recently the nations heard of each other only through the distorting medium of the press. Now the radio will be the peace maker. It also is a truly democratic instrument, making the works of the greatest thinkers and artists available to the broad masses."

But Prof. Einstein insisted everybody must know exactly the function of every button and doodad on the radio.

"Those who don't should be ashamed of themselves for handling the miracles of science and modern technics without understanding them. They are like cows who know nothing of the botanics of the plants they munch contentedly."

The Einstein speech was not only broadcast by radio but carried over the ether by a loud speaker with a radius of 13 miles.

Flossmoor Show of Flowers Is On Today; Movie Tells Methods

Expecting to increase former attendance records of 2,000 persons to around 4,000 this year through a two instead of a one day flower show, the Flossmoor Garden club's fourth annual flower array opens today in the Civic Center building with a two hour moving picture show in the evening, which will be repeated again at 9 p. m. tomorrow.

The pictures are closely associated with the show in that the photographer reveals how nearly all of the leading flower gardeners of Flossmoor obtain the results which they have entered in the show.

Arrangements of the hundreds of exhibits have made the main floor like an outdoor garden, with trees and shrubs lining the edges and a formal garden in the center. Natural flowers fill window sills, while many of the displays have been placed in booths under canopies to resemble a flower market.

Club leaders include Mrs. Robert T. Vaughan, president; Mrs. Alvin L. Wagner, treasurer; Mrs. Lyle Harper, chairman of the show committee; Mrs. James H. Burdette, vice chairman for the show; Mrs Melvin Evans and Mrs. Percival Groves, in charge of table decorations; Miss Adelaide Wells and Mrs. Warren Vandersluis, in charge of show arrangements; Miss Margaret Allen and Mrs. A. L. Wagner, chairmen of window box arrangements; Mrs. Charles Jansen, shadow boxes, and Mrs. William Brown, chairman of tagging of flowers.

Austrian Architect Guest of Committee for World's '33 Fair

George Rupprecht, Austrian architect and engineer, was the luncheon guest yesterday of world's fair officials. Mr. Rupprecht is making a tour of American cities studying modern American architecture, which he terms "unique, interesting, and highly practical."

Although known throughout the continent, most of Mr. Rupprecht's buildings have been erected in Vienna. A singing hall, seating 100,000 and said to be the largest structure of its kind in the world; the first cafeteria ever erected in Europe; and fifty thousand apartment buildings, many of which have been awarded art prizes, are some of his works.

Present at the luncheon were: Daniel H. Burnham, secretary and director of works for the fair; Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager; Hubert Burnham, Col. F. C. Bragg, Louis Skidmore, and other members of the fair organization. Mr. Rupprecht was pleased with arrangements for the fair and promised to spread the gospel of Chicago in his native city.

Boy Corn Growers Vie in County-Wide Contest

Despite the handicap of delayed maturing of their acre plots of corn due to the dry summer season, the 100 boys and girls entered in the Cook county contest for highest corn yields are enthusiastically watching their fields in waiting for the approaching harvest time. Edward J. Tobin, county superintendant of schools, yesterday conducted a tour of several promising fields entered by lads and lasses in the northwest section of the county. Township competition will precede the county-wide contest, for which $140 in prize money is offered.

British Cannon and Ale Hail Duchess' Baby

'Chubby Faced Girl,' Says Home Secretary.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 22.—There were celebrations throughout Great Britain today for the birth of the new royal princess at Glamis castle in Scotland.

Rounds of salutes at military posts were started off this morning at the tower of London with a salvo of 41 guns, with every city and hamlet showering the little highland village with messages of congratulations and felicitation.

From the far, far away county seat of Glamis, where the health of the unnamed baby girl was drunk in Scotch whisky by the town's officials, to the lord mayor's offices in London there was a generous welcome to the fifth person of the realm and rejoicing that the throne was more secure.

Mother, Baby Are Well.

GLAMIS, Scotland, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Great Britain's newest princess, born last night while the wind howled about historic Glamis castle, and her mother, the duchess of York, continued today to make "satisfactory progress." Official bulletins signed by Sir Henry Simson, Dr. F. Neon Reynolds, and Dr. David Miles so phrased it. No official statement regarding the christening has yet been made.

The king and queen left Sandringham tonight for Balmoral castle in Scotland and will visit their newest grandchild soon.

J. R. Clynes, home secretary, finished his state duties in connection with the birth of a daughter to the duke and duchess of York and made ready today to depart for London.

"'Tis a fine, chubby faced little girl," he declared to interviewers who this forenoon crowded around him at Airlie castle, anxious to know something of his duties last night and what he thought of the new princess.

The home secretary said he was warned several hours before the event. When the final warning came he went, with H. R. Boyd, ceremonial secretary of the home office, to Glamis castle. There he waited until Sir Henry Simson told him a daughter had been born and asked him to go and see the baby. Secretary Clynes went to a sitting room adjoining the bedroom of the duchess.

"'There I found the family group," said the secretary, "including the duke of York, the earl and countess of Strathmore, and Lady Rose Leveson-Gower, sister of the duchess, standing around a little cot.

"They made way for me and I went forward and peered into the cot. I saw the baby. She was lying wide awake. The duke of York was highly delighted that all had gone well. The others stood with smiling faces, pleased that the long ordeal was over.

"I congratulated the duke, earl, and countess on behalf of the nation and the British empire as a whole. Then I left the room to attend to my official business of dispatching the news to various people, including the lord mayor of London, who has the historic right to be the first person informed outside of the royal family."

Clynes is a quiet little man. He was one of seven children of an Irish laborer and was born at Oldham sixty years ago. As a lad he earned money clog dancing.

A tower of flame and smoke 200 feet high shot up from Hunter's hill, near Glamis castle, tonight as a signal of a royal birth. Watchers in six counties in Scotland saw the great light reflected against the sky. Even lookout men on ships in the North sea noted the glow.

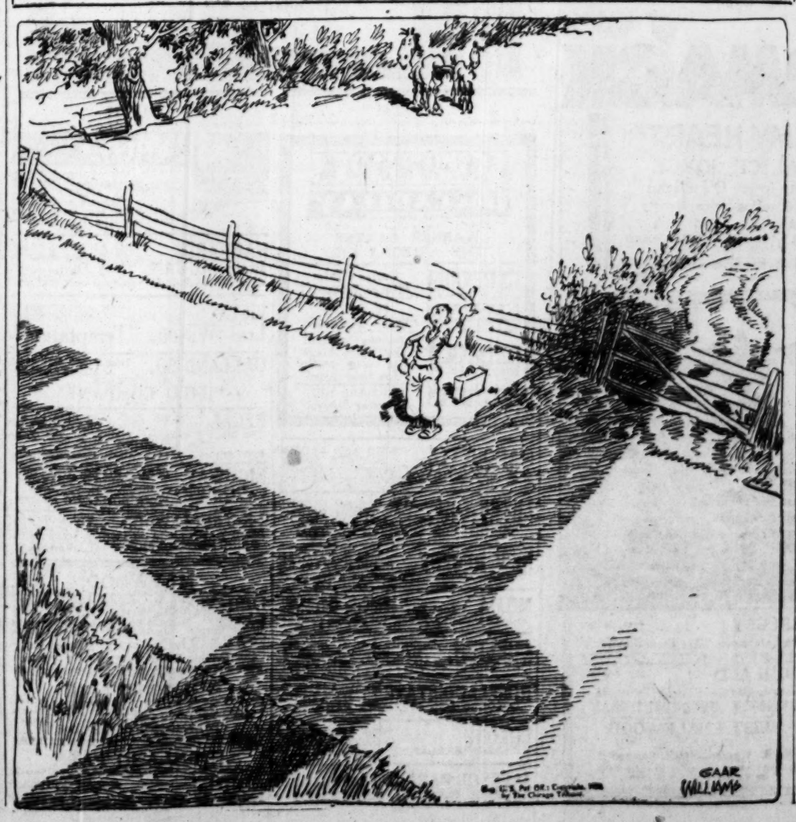

The beacon was lighted by village girls from Glamis with torches used to light a similar beacon when the duke and duchess of York were married.

Nearly 10,000 persons, gathered from as far distant places as Edinburgh and Aberdeen, climbed Hunter's hill to watch the fiery signal leap to the skies.

Once it was burning, hundreds of Scottish lads and lasses joined hands and danced round it singing and cheering to the skirling of bagpipes. Two big barrels of ale stood nearby. Retainers from the estate of the earl of Strathmore served the brew to all comers. The health of the princess was drunk time and time again.

From her window high in the castle the duchess of York got a momentary glimpse of the celebration on the hilltop. The beacon burned for two hours. The storm last night had prevented such a demonstration at that time.

SOMETHING OUGHT TO BE DONE ABOUT THIS

Crown of Glory Has Its Fast and Slow Periods of Growth

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Richard W. Müller, M. D., a noted authority on hair, makes this statement on hair growth, which may be of interest to women now in the "half hearted" stage between short and long tresses:

"In middle life the hair grows fastest and most vigorously, while after 35 it does not grow to its full length any more, except in rare cases; after 60 only short hair will grow."

The growth of the hair, our authority says, depends too much upon general conditions to give any exact account of it, but "it is safe to say that a normal hair will take fourteen days to grow one-third of an inch." The quickest growing hair is on the back of the head. The sides apparently the slowest. And the longer the hair, naturally, the quicker it grows.

To hear from a scientific authority that after 35 hair will not grow to its full length is not alarmingly bad news for women. No one wants a complete return to the old days of heavy, heavy heads. And it looks to me as though it will take an entirely new generation to overcome the obvious preference for "neat" heads and millinery.

Whether heads dictate millinery or millinery arranges our coiffures for us is one of those questions with a debatable answer. The first bobbed heads undoubtedly affected the millinery output. In the last couple of years the pressure that has been attempted in the interest of long haired vogues has certainly found millinery a barrier. Large hats have been attempted time and again, but they have been a flop in more ways than one.

There is a tidiness to the silhouette and a youngishness to it topped with a snug fitting chapeau that women are not going to abandon while the universal taste is for svelte youth.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. Edward M. Weld of Tuxedo Park, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Anne King Weld, to William Crawford Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Crawford of 580 Park avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Clarkson are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son yesterday at their summer home at Bayville. Mrs. Clarkson was Miss Cora Shields.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nay Morris and Miss Eugenia Morris returned on the France after a six weeks' motor trip in England. Miss Morris has gone to Newport and is the guest of Miss Gwendolen E. R. Armstrong.

Society Gets Air Minded for the Race

BY THALIA

Society is showing much interest in the national air races which open today at the Curtiss-Wright-Reynolds airport, although the strictly social aspects of the event are overshadowed by the aeronautical phases.

Miss Margaret Carr, who is also the most advanced of Chicago's aviatrix women flyers, is heading the Junior League committee which has assumed the responsibility for hostessing the Women Pilots' club, the quarters set aside for the visiting aviatrices. Miss Philip Maher had planned for the club's decoration something modern and smart, but it wasn't exigent to be so elaborate, and so the rooms are done simply with white walls and bamboo wicker chairs with red cushions. Miss Carr and Miss Dorothy Schmidt, president of the club, are planning to attend the races every day, and there will be a special committee each day to serve tea and be generally useful.

Mrs. J. Beach Clow [Edith Louise Newcomet] is chairman for today, and her assistants will include Mrs. Frederick Spencer, Miss Frances Richardson, Miss Jane Schuttler, Mrs. P. Thibodeaux, Mrs. Niblack Thorne, and Miss Frances Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle H. Reynolds will be among the daily attendants, and they are to have box parties today and on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. George M. Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Winston will be with them today. Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Carr are to be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. P. Hodgkins.

Other boxholders include Laurence H. Armour, John Wentworth, Rufus Abbott, James Simpson, Samuel Insull Jr., Frederick H. Rawson, Ayres Boal, Rush Clark Butler, Arthur G. Cable, George W. Dubois Jr., James Hopkins Jr., Lloyd A. Griffin, Vaughan C. Spalding, and James N. Rawleigh.

Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, honorary chairman of the women's committee, and Miss Olga Mann head a committee of last year's debutantes who are to serve as hostesses.

The children at the Chicago club in Charlevoix gave a unique and interesting entertainment at the Casino Monday evening. Mrs. Oscar Johnson directed the performance which consisted of a vaudeville show and the presentation of "Green Pastures," the Pulitzer prize play which has been running in New York for many months.

Eleanor Talbot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Talbot, and Nancy and Adair Orr, the Robert C. Orr little girls, did solo songs and dances, and they and Nancy Whiting, Gail Shumway, Nancy Jane Evans, Anne Rickcords, and Joan Reid comprised a dancing chorus for a grand finale. The same children took part in the play as angels, and others cast were Graham Whiting as Gabriel, Charlotte Pierce as God, Edward Scott as Moses, Noah, and Anne Rickcords, Mary Elizabeth Reid, and Spencer Burnham portraying Shem, Ham, and Japheth respectively.

The program credited Miss Barbara Douglas with the musical direction. Wings for the angels furnished by Talbot & Co., costumes by Hamburg & Co., wigs by Schmidt [Miss Dorothy Schmidt has been visiting Miss Peggy Hambleton], and the art by Pierce & Whiting. The proceeds of the play and also of a bazaar are to go on Tuesday afternoon are to go to a children's hospital.

Mrs. Graham Aldis has been successful in having one of her stories accepted by Liberty in its series of "short, shorts," for which it has been offering $100 apiece. The story is titled "Balloons," and the description concerning the author reads that she "has to her credit some delightful poetry for children and a number of stories, mostly about parents and their offspring. Mrs. Aldis' father, James Keeley, was once editor of Chicago's most famous editor, and she comes naturally by her interest in writing."

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Rend of East Scott street and their daughter, Miss Helen Rend, are departing today for a motor trip east. They will stop first in Columbus, O., and will break up their trip with a stay at St. Louis hotel in New York.

Mrs. Gertrude Hoyne Wells has returned from a visit of 2 months with her son, Sheldon Wells, in Winnetka. She has moved from her former residence at 5526 Blackstone avenue and has taken an apartment at the Ritz-Park hotel for the coming winter.

New Americans Dry

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Aug. 22.—Americans of Japanese ancestry, represented in the fourth annual convention of "New Americans" in this city, declared unanimously, in straw votes, in favor of prohibition. Of 40 delegates representing all parts of the territory, 23 voted for absolute prohibition, 13 for "modified prohibition" and no hands were raised for repeal of the prohibition laws. Those who had been told that persons of Japanese birth or ancestry commit few crimes of violence, but lead in prohibition violations.

Children Giving Benefit Shows for Camp, Ice Funds

With the summer on the wane and school days just around the corner, school children are working fast these days staging their benefits for TRIBUNE charities before the carefree days are over. Proceeds from five benefits arrived in yesterday's mails.

Not content with the twenty-eight cents earned by their lemonade stand, a group of children at Hollywood, Ill., put on a circus for the ice fund, charging two cents admission. In addition to ballet dancers, clowns, a band, novelty actors, a tricycle performer, tight rope walker and ringmaster, there was a side show with a bearded lady and wild man. The audience, numbering 28 children and four adults, was treated not only to the preliminary parade but an hour and forty minutes of performance. Those performing were Charlotte, Robert, and Richard Braun; Dorothy, Thomas, and Harriet Carlson; Kathleen, Mary Frances, and Sonny Wilson, and Carolyn Holtze.

A lemonade stand brought $2.24 for the ice fund from Beverly Harris, 3740 Sheridan road, and Ralph Sacks, 445 Barry avenue. A show in the basement at 4943 North Troy street brought $2 from Stanley and Roslyn Goland, Robert Burkhardt, Irene Hagan, and Leonard Shoemacker.

A play, "The Unholy House," earned $6 for the ice fund. It was given by Dorothy Wilson, Phyllis Casey, Kathleen Stroop, Eloise Shugart, Helen Jean Carroll, Herbert Redding, and John Beach.

The Niagatri Girls' club of Tinley Park sent the ice fund $5.70 earned by them. They organized a year ago under the direction of Mrs. J. E. Swisher with their motto "Do for Others."

Camp Algonquin will be dressed for company today and tomorrow. The children of the all summer section who have been building up undernourished bodies in preparation to going back to school, will have an exhibit of the handiwork they have fashioned while in camp. Visitors will be welcomed by Mrs. Astrid Save, camp superintendent.

French Women Love Printed Chiffon.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — While the sportively inclined were placing their money on the horses during the great racing events of the Grande Semaine, fashionable women staked their all on printed chiffon ensembles to win the style stakes for this most important week in Paris.

Prints were all large, and most of them in soft colors and hazy patterns of leaves or flowers. The wrap was totally unnecessary as a protection, but most women preferred ensembles with a wrap of the same printed chiffon as the dress, and the ladies who help to make fashions chose the bolero jacket, in most cases.

The printed chiffon ensemble shown in our sketch was one of the prettiest seen at the Polo, when the smartest women in the world watched the Coupe Militaire. This dress and bolero jacket are made of periwinkle blue and white chiffon; and the jacket is encrusted with notched bands of plain blue at the front and on the short sleeves.

The belt of blue velvet is a style note to remember, and so are the ten button gloves of periwinkle blue suede with hand stitched seams. A narrow blue velvet ribbon is tied in a bow at the round neckline of the dress. Hand-run tucks trim the sleeveless blouse and unstitched plaits give fullness to the skirt at the front. The patch pockets on the hips are for decoration only.

The wide brimmed hat worn with this frock is made of periwinkle blue velvet, and the brim is unstiffened except for the rows of stitching that cover it. The crown is shallow, and a cluster of white violets, also made of velvet, is placed at the left side.

Yankee Homes Now Fashion for Chinese

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 22.—The first American style modern house was built in Shanghai about a dozen years ago. It was a modest little home, but it had a furnace, modern bathroom equipment, hot and cold running water, and so on. The house was a curiosity; European colonials many years away from their home lands, or even second and third generations born abroad, ridiculed the "American" house, said it was unhealthy. They made particularly sarcastic remarks about the copper screening that the American put over his windows to keep out the mosquitoes. The Europeans alleged the screens "kept the air out," and preferred to sleep under gauze netting.

The American who built the modern American home sat back and smiled and let the knockers ridicule his little home. His confidence in his enterprise was not misplaced, for today Shanghai is not only filled with modern American homes, but, better yet, is rapidly being filled with modern, American syle apartment houses, some of them ten and a dozen stories in height and with all the conveniences, including built-in refrigerating plants and all the rest of it.

European housewives who ridiculed the first American style house now wouldn't live in any other kind and take pride in exhibiting their "American" conveniences. Truly it's nothing short of remarkable how the word "American" has come to stand for modernity on the China coast. And the best part of it all is that the Chinese are beginning to "take on" the American habit in home and apartment house construction.

Sun Fo, minister of railways, recently built himself a new home in Nanking, the new national capital, and the house is "American style" from the basement to the attic. Also the new building for the ministry of railways, which Sun Fo has just completed in Nanking, while following the Chinese style of architecture from the standpoint of curved roofs and projecting gables, is strictly modern, or "American style" from the standpoint of interior construction. A world of difference between this building and the old "yamens" in Peking, where one froze to death while waiting for an appointment with an old style official.

This new building which Sun Fo constructed for the ministry of railways in Nanking was designed by a Chinese architect and built by a Chinese contractor. Similarly in Shanghai, where all construction is handled by Chinese contractors. The city of Shanghai, that is, the foreign or "international" settlement, where most of the modern construction has taken place, stands on what was once a rice paddy. The land is all "made" from silt brought down by the great Yangtzekiang. There is no rock here upon which to build the foundations for skyscrapers. Hence it is necessary to build a so-called "mattress" of piles sunk in the earth, which are covered over with many thicknesses of steel reinforced concrete. The piles are all native trees cut from the forests of Oregon, Washington, and British Columbia, some of them forty and fifty feet long.

A few years ago it used to be one of the sights of Shanghai to see Chinese laborers driving piles for foundations. At that time the buildings were not more than three or four stories and the piles were not more than a dozen feet long. The Chinese would construct a platform about fifteen feet high with a hole in the center. A dozen or so laborers would stand around this hole and alternately lift and drop a weight by means of ropes, each laborer holding a rope and all done to the tune of an improvised song that could be heard for a block.

When higher buildings required longer piles, the Chinese contractor scratched his head and said: "No can do," but a Chicago contractor who had established himself in Hongkong showed them how to make a pile driver with the weight lifted by a donkey engine. The Chinese contractors have now accepted this pile driver as their very own.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

This is an ideal design for a dress for every day wear. The well fitted hipline with the box plaited skirt attached, and the scarf collar that is passed through bound openings, with the bow theme repeated in the banded sleeves, are all smart details. This dress is certain to be a becoming one. Yellow tub silk showing brown dots is a youthful sports type, and the scarf collar and sleeve bows of brown silk complete it.

The pattern, 2613, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Here's a Book of Fine Animal Stories for the Children

by Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

"Short Reading References for the Expectant Mother" will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Some children can never get enough of stories about animal life—meaning by animal, of course, anything that "moves from place" as the old definition goes—birds, fish, reptiles, four-footed fur bearers, etc.

The result is that the book market is flooded with animal stories—some indifferent, some fair, and some really fine. Little children adore the animal stories that show them mice and rabbits and ducks living a sort of mixed life—half mice and rabbit life, half human life. Like the immortal Peter Rabbit, for instance.

Later, they want to know animals as they really are. True stories of animal life appeal to them. The naturalist begins to show himself in both boy and girl. Then is the time to give him books which show him animals as they really are—in all their tenderness and cruelty, bravery and timidity—prey and preyed upon.

One of the best animal books I know of is "Wilderness Ways," by William T. Long. It is not a long book—only 150 pages—not newly published, but really fine. There is no re-told nature faking here. These animal tales are "the result of many years of personal observation in the woods and fields. They are the studies of animals, pure and simple—not of animals with human motives and imaginations," to use Mr. Long's words.

Perhaps I can give a better idea of the book by quoting again from Mr. Long's preface. "Indeed, it is hardly necessary for genuine interest to give human traits to the beasts. Any animal is interesting enough as an animal, and has character enough of his own, without borrowing anything from man—as one may easily find out by watching long enough."

It is hard to place this book according to age. I know several children who have loved it from the time they were 9 through their 14th year. Perhaps that will be a guide to you—though an adult would not find the stories childish.

"Wilderness Ways," is by William J. Long, and is published by Ginn & Co., Boston.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover was given a luncheon yesterday by the Girl Scouts of Maryland at their summer camp between Annapolis and Baltimore. She went there by automobile, accompanied by her friend, Miss Stark McMullin of Palo Alto, Cal., who has been her guest for several months at the White House, and by her secretary, Miss Ruth Fessler. They returned late in the afternoon.

The Belgian ambassador, Prince de Ligne, is at the embassy for a few days and will return to his cottage near Annapolis for the week-end. There he will be joined by the princess and their daughter, Princess Elizabeth, who are now in Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leiter will have as their guests in Saratoga, where they have a cottage for the racing season, Mrs. Leiter's brother-in-law and sister, the American minister to the Irish Free State and Mrs. Frederick Sterling, who are now guests of Mrs. Leiter's and Mrs. Sterling's mother, Mrs. John R. Williams. Mrs. Williams is in her new home recently completed at West Beach on the north shore of Massachusetts, not far distant from the summer home of the Leiters at Beverly, Mass.

The new American minister to Canada and Mrs. Hanford MacNider, who have been guests at the White House, gave a dinner last evening at the Willard.

Miss Peggy Walsh gave a bridge tea this afternoon for her house guest, Miss Ethel Barrymore Colt, her classmate at college. Last evening Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Walsh, parents of the young hostess, gave a dinner for their daughter's guest, and tomorrow evening Miss Ruth Richardson and Miss Margaret Boss will give a dinner for her at the Chevy Chase club.

Food Talk.

Macaroni cookers belong to two parties—the soakers and the anti-soakers. The former believe that macaroni should be put into cold water to soften, then cooked until tender in the water in which it was soaked. Anti-soakers always drop the macaroni into boiling water and then cook until tender.

I have always found that soaked macaroni turns out soft and soggy with the tubes broken up in many pieces which stick to each other. Macaroni that is cooked in boiling water is much more attractive in appearance because each piece retains its shape and acquires a plumpness.

The best method of cooking is to drop the macaroni into a large volume of rapidly boiling, salted water. Macaroni swells, and unless there is sufficient water it will stick to the pan. Just as soon as the macaroni is tender [about 20 minutes of cooking is required] remove from the fire, turn into a colander and wash with cold water. This removes the sticky substance present on the surface of the macaroni.

The cold product may be prepared in a number of interesting ways. It may be used as a salad or combined with vegetables or meats to make attractive and substantial main dishes. Macaroni with tomato sauce and cheese is an excellent luncheon dish for both adults and children, since it contains sufficient calories and protein for one meal. Only a salad and simple dessert need be added.

Spaghetti and vermicelli also belong to the macaroni family, differing only in shape. They are prepared in the same way as macaroni. Since they are starchy foods of high calorie value they should not be used in the meal with other starchy foods such as potatoes and rice, but may take their place in supplying calories to the diet.

2 tablespoons butter	¼ teaspoon salt
Pepper

Cut chicken into ½ inch dice. Wash, peel and slice mushrooms. Sauté in one tablespoon butter about 6 minutes. Prepare a smooth white sauce of the 2 tablespoons butter, flour, milk, stock, salt and pepper. Add chicken and mushrooms and heat thoroughly in top of double boiler. Garnish with rosettes of pimiento or red and green peppers. Serve at once.

Yield: Five servings. One serving: Total, 295 calories; protein, 89 calories; fat, 171 calories; carbohydrates, 35 calories.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Goats and board bills may not seem to be related, but hearty recommendation of the animals that cartoonists would have us believe subsist on tin cans and scraps of paper comes from Prof. C. M. McCay of the New York state college of agriculture who says the goat is one pet that pays its board bill.

Among the worth while and profitable pets he has enjoyed, he says, he favors the milk goat. Costs of the ordinary "scrub" goats range from $10 to $25 for an animal that should produce about a half gallon of milk daily when well fed. Her rations should be similar to those of a cow, especially when milking heavily. Hay, fish meal and oats proved successful with one experimental feeding test, while another group received ground liver in place of the fish meal.

The milk is white and the same color is characteristic of the butter made from goat's milk. The fat is in such small particles that the cream rises slowly and in an ice chest requires several days before a thick cream layer is formed. The percentage of fat usually is around that of a Jersey cow, but varies widely with individual animals. Local markets are used for selling excess milk, sometimes through arrangements with neighbors, a local hospital, sanitarium, or special customers.

Fresh Paint.

One evening some friends and myself visited a large milk plant. We had been nearly through the plant when our guide stopped to show and explain how they bottled the milk. I was beginning to get tired and bored with the place, so I leaned back against a post, nearby, to rest. When the crowd was ready to leave you can imagine my embarrassment when I started to follow and found that I was stuck fast to the freshly painted post against which I had been resting. F. C.

SUBWAY STATUS IN AIR 54 DAYS AFTER ELECTION

Lawyers Argue About Assessment Issue.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Fifty-four days have elapsed since the voters at a referendum proclaimed their desire, by a vote of 5¾ to 1, for better and more local transportation. There is still uncertainty whether the subways will be built by special assessments, the transit fund, bond issue, or other method permitted by law.

To the aldermen this is a mystery. They have favored the special assessment route and do not understand why there should be any hesitancy.

Law Gives City Right.

Several groups of city lawyers under several administrations have held that the city has the power to build subways by special assessment. To make doubly certain a special law was passed by the state legislature conferring upon the city that specific authority. In the city's transit fund is more than $60,000,000 to pay any public benefits which may be assessed above the amount of money collected by special assessment.

Yet the city's special transportation lawyers are said to be busy investigating to determine whether the city can build all or part of the subways by special assessments. For this particular subject Chairman Joseph B. McDonough of the council local transportation committee selected George A. Mason and Joseph J. Sullivan as the legal advisers of the aldermen. In addition Walter L. Fisher, chief transit counsel, was the city's special assessment attorney many years ago. In addition Allan T. Gilbert has been employed especially on transit matters.

Ettelson Opinion is Given.

In the face of this, Corporation Counsel Ettelson and his assistants, Carl J. Appell and Samuel Golan, have decided in a written opinion that the board of local improvements must ratify the appointment of the engineers to draw the subway plans and sign the pay rolls providing their salaries, because they assert that it is the intention of the city to build tubes by special assessments.

But Messrs. Fisher, Mason, Sullivan, and Gilbert assert that the subway must be "a local improvement," as distinguished from "a general improvement" before a special assessment of abutting property especially benefited can be legally levied.

It is the view of Eugene Dupee, another lawyer of long experience in special assessments, that 51 per cent of the cost must be borne by special assessment before it can be called "a local improvement." The views of the present City Special Assessment Attorney Dahlberg have not been made public, but apparently the principal question involved is whether a subway is a local improvement.

May Depend on Plans.

It is said that the answer may depend upon the character of the subway built, and the detailed plans of the subway have not been made.

However, it is the consensus of aldermanic and engineering opinion that between Van Buren and Lake street, in the State street subway—which is the first to be built—there shall be a mezzanine floor above the tubes through which the subway trains will run. That is obviously a lower level street, of special benefit to the abutting proper owners and their tenants; and on that section of the subway it is said that the transit lawyers agree there is no doubt that a special assessment will be legal and binding.

The four tracks of the subway are to go under the river in three tubes, according to the tentative planning. Courts have held that a bridge is a general improvement, and perhaps the courts would place this section of the subway in the same class. But the transit lawyers point out that it is an integral part of the subway and without it cars could not run under the river and the remainder of the subway would be of little or no value.

Will Use Private Property.

According to the tentative planning the approach to the subway at 16th street and at Chicago avenue, where it will hook on to the elevated lines, will be on private property. The lawyers are asking each other: Will those approaches benefit abutting property so that a special assessment will lie?

These lawyers reason that property near a subway station will be benefited substantially, and therefore property affected will be subject to special assessment. At present it is suggested that a subway station be placed at Roosevelt road, another between Van Buren and Lake street, a third in the vicinity of Ohio street and a fourth in Chicago avenue in the neighborhood of Dearborn street.

The south side surface lines will begin work on a new extension in 87th street between Ingleside and Vincennes avenue next Monday morning. A permit was obtained Thursday from the Illinois commerce commission. Steam shovels will start both east and west from State street in the stretch of two and a half miles. Ties, rails, and other material have already been purchased and the entire job will cost about $500,000.

BOOKS

Birth Control Norris' Thesis in New Book

In It Children Greatly Worry an Author.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Seed," by Charles G. Norris. [Doubleday-Doran.]

Mr. Norris himself subtitles his latest book, "Seed," a "Novel of Birth Control" on the title page, so that even if the reader might care to see in it a rich narrative of a family in California which was as fertile as the state's well known crops he must turn from the purely narrative quality of the book and find the histories of the various branches of the family a preachment against too prolific childbearing.

That is rather a shame, it seems to me, for Mr. Norris has done something more than a case history, although when the reader once gets the idea that that is what his book is it is hard to see the story as a story.

The principal characters emerge about half way through the book. They are a young man who has had a previous unfortunate and unhappy marriage and his cousin, who is passionately devoted to him and to whom his love is given in unstinted lavishness. He wants to be a writer. They are married and go to New York on his first short story check. They are wholly, completely happy until their first child.

After that four others gradually force them from carefree love to serious hard work. The young man can't write because he has to think of earning money regularly. They live in the country, and he is tired when he gets home and the house is noisy. He adores his wife still, and she has lost less of her allure than any heroine of a novel ever did with the passing of the years.

But they are living literally on the edge of their resources and they dare not have another child. She denies herself to her husband rather than commit what to her religious beliefs would be a sin. There is a sympathetic woman, an editor, who urges him to write, offers him her apartment to work in. The inevitable results follow. He never has ceased loving his wife, but he takes a mistress. The wife leaves him when she knows of this, but she—likewise on account of her religion—refuses to divorce him. So he just lives in sin—and great literary and financial success—with the other woman.

That is one of the case histories, the most fully delineated. Others are of a gay, joyous girl who married and had—I can't exactly remember, but I think it was fourteen children, and of another who, although imbecilic, propagated like Mr. Ellis Parker Butler's guinea pigs, while another passed tuberculosis through two generations.

Mr. Norris shows the other side of the picture—a couple who, although happily mated and financially able to rear children, denied themselves that blessing and found when they were middle aged that they yearned for a new generation to watch and tend. But there were plenty of assorted children in the family and they just mothered and fathered the current crop.

If "Seed" weren't so obviously propaganda it would be an interesting picture of three generations of a buxom family drawn with meticulous care, for Mr. Norris is a leisurely and painstaking writer who never skimps on words.

You know his characters when he finishes introducing them to you; you know everything about them, and as they mature you find their ripening richly chronicled. His canvas is a large one. It is filled with figures. It records three generations. "Seed" is a novel of heroic proportions, and it would have heroic quality if it were not so concerned with proving something.

"Only Saps Work," Cold Satire on Racketeering

"Only Saps Work," by Courtney Terrett [Vanguard], is a hard, cold, breezy, brilliant exposition of the assorted large and small rackets which make our city life more expensive, even if more amusing. The author—who is a reporter who has investigated rackets for the New York World—takes as his thesis the title of his book and shows how racketeers make bigger and better saps out of the public. It is a swell book, and illuminating? We'll say so.

MacKinlay Kantor Writes Another Novel About Chicago Life

BY ALTA MAY COLEMAN.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—MacKinlay Kantor, whose second novel, "El Goes South," is just off the press, came on from Chicago, Berwick, Ia., and other points west to be guest of honor at the Coward-McCann party on Thursday. It was a veritable "at home," held in the firm's offices, and a double celebration Just two years ago this publishing house started its career by bringing out Kantor's first novel, "Diversey."

MacKINLAY KANTOR

Some hundred or more journalists and authors turned out on Thursday, and almost everybody at some time or other, donned one of the gilt metal, glass jeweled crowns which Coward-McCann had made as publicity flash for Manuel Komroff's "Coronet." Mr. Komroff, well browned by the Connecticut sun, was present; Charles Samuels, author of "A Frantic Young Man"; Gorham Munson, Ward Greene; Burton Rascoe, whose often announced "Gustibus" remains, as some wag put it, "the most famous unpublished novel that ever wasn't written"; and Michael Gold, who wrote "Jews Without Money," helps edit the New Masses magazine, and has just had published a children's book called "Charlie Chaplin's Parade."

The pretty blue eyed young lady with the whopping big bunch of orchids, which labels a lady guest of honor at a literary tea, was, of course, Mrs. Kantor, nee Irene Layne of Chicago. And the tall, string bean, hungry greyhound looking lad with stoop shoulders, a shock of light brown curly hair and big gray eyes behind horn rimmed specs turned out to be MacKinlay Kantor. He swears that the aforesaid are his really truly middle and last names. His first name is a secret, even from his publishers.

This young man was born in Webster City, Ia., 26 years ago; was reared in Chicago, and has worked at such diverse jobs as census taker, reporter, and mosser [one who wraps wet moss around plants in greenhouses]. Both of Mr. Kantor's novels are of Chicago locale, "because it is the city I know, because the place teems with novels."

FREDERICK STOCK PRAISES "EROICA" AS NOVEL ON BEETHOVEN

BY FREDERICK STOCK.

[Conductor Chicago Symphony Orchestra.]

"Eroica," by Samuel Chotzinoff. [Simon & Schuster.]

The author of "Eroica" is eminently fitted to create a most convincing and colorful novel based on the life of Beethoven. Chotzinoff, an accomplished pianist, critic, and thoroughly fine musician, shows himself well schooled in the history of Beethoven's life.

Although faithfully adhering to historic facts, the author has nevertheless created a character replete with human interest and romance. With great skill he has elaborated upon every dramatic incident and crisis in Beethoven's life. He dwells more on the human events and influences upon his art of patrons and helpful friends, on his passion for the immortal beloved, and the pathetic and relentless increase of his deafness, than upon the great inner urge of the composer and creator. He gives us, therefore, a more sweeping and passionate figure, a genius fully conscious of his power to revolutionize music, than the biographer who tries to analyze the mind of the composer.

ANOTHER VIEW OF BRITISH POOR GIVEN IN "WATER GIPSIES"

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON.—[Special correspondence.]—A book which is going to be the best seller of the summer in England is Mr. A. P. Herbert's "The Water Gipsies." All who care to catch authentic glimpses of English life generally overlooked by novelists should read "The Water Gipsies." It is not a dismal book, yet it deals with poor people in England.

A. P. HERBERT.

It is not a lollipop book, and yet it is full of fancy and nonsense and pleasant feeling. Mr. Herbert's own interests—in skittles, barges, the river side—find their place in the book, and help to give it proper authenticity. The same may be said of Mr. Herbert's personality, which pervades the book and makes it extremely likeable. If Mr. Herbert had his way a regular service of passenger boats would ply up and down the River Thames as they used to do—river taxis, he would call them. They would be small boats, and fast.

If Mr. Herbert had his way, we should lead lives altogether more joyful than the lives made possible by present day legislation. He is a die hard Conservative, a great boatman, a wit, a determined skittles player, a good public speaker, strikingly handsome, and a man who is able to enjoy his own jokes without affectation.

The United States has seen a number of rather serious English authors, and has the impression that all English authors are rather serious. Mr. Herbert is in reality the most serious of men; but he is also the most humorous. In my judgment "The Water Gipsies" is not only the most important book Mr. Herbert has written, but a really important contribution to English novel writing, for the reason that it is a thoroughly original book, which could have been written by no other author.

The late Mary Webb owes her enormous posthumous popularity to the commendation of Stanley Baldwin, ex-prime minister. Even those who do not admire Mr. Baldwin as a statesman admit his felicity as a speaker on literary topics, and regard him as a good judge of a book. His son, Mr. Oliver Baldwin, is opposed to his father in politics, being on the Labor benches. But has he the same flair for literature? We shall know in a few days, for he has praised enthusiastically a new war book called "The Price of Victory," by J. D. Strange.

Story of Women Tells That of Men of the Community

"Prairie Women," by Ivan Beede [Harpers], is called a novel, but it is rather a panorama of the life of a small community, in so far as its women contribute to that life. It is an extremely interesting experiment in writing—most of the drama is inferred rather than described.

Only those actions and reactions which are the sole possession of the women in the community are recorded, and yet the reader has an even more intimate picture of some of the men than of the women. The author has chosen a difficult technique, and at times he doesn't exactly bring it off, but when he does the effect is startlingly vivid.

Each episode might be a short story. Piled one on the other, like jackstraws, they seem, but the design is not nearly so haphazard as it appears. Just that effect of lack of design life gives.

Indian Desert Magic Is Plot for Children

Grace Moon Writes of Southwest's Tribes.

BY AGATHA L. SHEA.

[Director of children's work for branches, Chicago public library.]

"The Missing Katchina," by Grace Moon. [Doubleday-Doran.]

"Tale of Tom Tiddler," by Eleanor Farjeon. [Stokes.]

"Racing Yachts," by Peter Adams. [Dutton.]

"Playing Airplane," by J. F. McNamara. [Macmillan.]

"Every one knows how the desert is a magic place." Thus begins Grace Moon's new story "The Missing Katchina," and certainly she has succeeded in making her young readers sense that magic in this story of the wanderings of two Indian children over the vast solitudes in search of a little lost grandmother who has been wrongly called a "witch woman."

Kawani is but a boy of twelve and Yazhe but a very little girl, but they both know that the good grandmother who is so kind to everybody would not steal the precious Katchina which kept bad luck and misfortune away from the people. Yet some one had stolen it, and all the wise men of the tribe were blaming the little grandmother.

Mrs. Moon has spent much time among the Indians of the southwest, and always presents them with appreciative understanding. Yazhe is as delightful a little heroine as was "Chi-Wee" and children of 10 or 12 will read her story with interest.

Children of 8 or 9 will like Eleanor Farjeon's "The Tale of Tom Tiddler," a delightfully humorous tale of Tom Tiddler of old London town and the many funny happenings that befell him.

There are fantasy and humor as well as much interesting information on the strange names of London town, and amusing little verses are scattered between the incidents. It is, from this writer's point of view, the best children's book this author has given us.

Boys who have found pleasant pastime in Peter Adam's model boat books will no doubt want to try their hands at making some of the models in his latest one called "Racing Yachts." In it he tells the history of the various yacht races for America's cup since 1851, and gives directions for building the yacht models with only cork, pins, thread and paper as necessary materials.

For the youngest air enthusiast there is an attractive story picture book called "Playing Airplane," by John F. McNamara. It takes the little fellows off on an imaginary trip in a play airplane made of an old box and broomstick. Boys of 10 and 11 who can read the book will probably not be interested in the make-believe plane, but smaller children will enjoy the game if some one is at hand to read the book to them for the vocabulary is not that of little children. The author is an ex-aviator and has covered pretty fully all questions which would come to a boy's mind on the handling of a plane.

Washington Asked Recipe for Jellies from Sally

One of the pet matters of discussion about George Washington has always been the exact state of his feelings toward his nearest neighbor, Sally Fairfax. In John Corbin's "The Unknown Washington" [Scribners] there is published for the first time a letter which he wrote to her when he was mortally ill. In it he beseeches her to . . . send him her receipt book that he may have prepared "jellies and such kinds of foods" instead of meats. That pretty completely disposes of the theory that he was in love with her. Anybody would have been a little more lyric than that when he thought he was about to die.

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS

BY THE LITERARY EDITOR.

FICTION.

Shepherds in Sackcloth, by Sheila Kaye-Smith [Harpers], is again a novel of Sussex, a touching picture of a little country parish and the devotion of its rector.

Gulf Stream, by Marie Stanley [Coward McCann—one of the new $1.50 fiction] is a romantic tale of a mulatto girl and her ideals and sensibilities.

Romance Prescribed, by Eric Hatch [Farrar & Rinehart], is a gay yarn about a serious young man who sadly needed a sense of humor. It is the F. & R. fortnightly $1 novel.

Sophie, by Frances R. Sterrett [Penn], is a sweet and simple tale of a "little American of Swedish design."

All in the Racket, by William E. Weeks [Boni], is the choice of Paper Books for August (50 cents), a stirring story of the underworld and a criticism of our legal system by a prominent Boston lawyer.

The Charioteer, by John Presland [Appleton], is a dramatic story which takes place in the smart world of London.

The Openers of the Gate, by L. Adams Beck [Cosmopolitan], is a group of short stories of the mystic east by the woman who signs herself E. Barrington for her historical romances.

Robert Peckham, by Maurice Baring [Knopf] is a romantic and ironic novel based on the life of one Robert Peckham, gentleman and scholar of the court of Queen Elizabeth.

NONFICTION.

Ocean Parade, by Fritjoff Michelson and Leon Byrne [McBride] is about strange wild places along the edge of the sea as well as on the sea itself.

Pioneers of Justice, by Walter W. Liggett [Macauley] is the story of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The Monstrous Regiment, by Christopher Hollis [Minton Balch], is the story of the Reformation in England, written from a frankly Roman Catholic point of view.

Kiki's Memoirs [Black Manikin Press], the frank recollections of the famous Montparnasse model, have just been published in Paris in a translation by Samuel Putnam and an introduction by Ernest Hemingway.

The Art of Drinking, by Dexter Mason [Farrar & Rinehart], tells you what to drink and how to mix it.

As I Saw It, by Alden Brooks [Knopf], is a report of the whole campaign of 1918 written by an American who was a lieutenant in the French army. When it was published in Paris last yea rit created a furor.

Sailors Don't Care, by Edwin M. Lanham [Cape Smith], is the intimate autobiography of a sailor on a tramp steamer.

MYSTERY.

The Man in the Red Hat, by Richard Keverne [Harpers] is a Harper sealed mystery, meaning that if you can resist breaking the seal you can get your money back, and also that after you have certificates from ten different Harper sealed mysteries you get a book free.

Murder From the Grave, by Will Levinrew [McBride scarlet thread mystery] is about a wholesale and simultaneous nipping of a whole family.

The Backstage Mystery, by Ovtavus Roy Cohen [Appleton] is about the shuffling off of a matinee idol.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Goethals, by Joseph Bucklin Bishop and Farnham Bishop [Harpers] is the biography of the engineering genius of the Panama canal.

Twinkle, Twinkle Movie Star [Dutton] is a volume of miniature biographies of the bright lights of the movies by Harry T. Brundige, the St. Louis reporter who had an earful about Chicago racketeering.

The Life of Madame Roland, by Madeleine Clemenceau-Jacquemaire [Longmans Green], a translation from a popular French life of the "first of the feminists."

THE author of JOANNA GODDEN writes a fine and tender novel of unrestrained youth, with all the strength and rugged beauty of the Sussex Downs.

"This is a story which condemns nothing save intolerance, pleads for nothing save kindness. If it does not haunt you a little, either you are very hard-hearted or else you are already a saint. And if you fail to be profoundly moved by the love scene between Theresa and George on the sun-soaked, thyme-scented marriage bed of Edburton Hill, then you have forgotten what first love feels like, or else you can never have known it."

One of the most important biographies of our generation!

WILLIAM HOWARD

TAFT

By HERBERT S. DUFFY

This distinguished biography is in many respects a story of America during the last fifty years, for the entire career of William Howard Taft was whole-heartedly and conspicuously devoted to the nation's service. Its pages are packed with revelations.

Nearly all the great figures of American politics and statesmanship pass in review. But it is above all the life story of a brilliant, great-hearted, thoroughly lovable American. Six years were devoted to the preparation of this work, and the Chief Justice himself gave the author access to his papers and correspondence. Regular edition, illustrated, $5.00 at all Booksellers.

A special edition, limited to 125 copies, signed by the author, beautifully printed and bound, $15.00

Orion, Mich., Aug. 22.—Gene Sarazen, one of the members of golf's old guard, forged to the front today with a par shattering score of 69 in the second round of the western open tournament at the Indianwood Country club. This, together with his 73 of yesterday, gave him a total of 142 for a two stroke lead over five players who are tied for second place.

GENE SARAZEN, who led the field yesterday with a 69, surrendered his commanding advantage and dropped back beside Al Watrous, Emerick Kocsis, Bob Shave, and Christian Brinke, all of whom occupy second place with scores of 144.

Harry Hampton of Chicago, who led the field yesterday with a 69, surrendered his commanding advantage and dropped back beside Al Watrous, Emerick Kocsis, Bob Shave, and Christian Brinke, all of whom occupy second place with scores of 144.

It had been the consensus that if Hampton got into trouble today it would be on the greens, and that was just what happened. All through the round he was driving superbly and splitting the pins with his approaches, but he three putted four times, and that gave him a 75, three strokes over par.

Armour Down List with 153.

Tommy Armour, the defending champion, again was unable to get going and played a generally inconsistent game to run up a 75 for a total of 153. This puts him eleven strokes behind Sarazen and virtually eliminates him.

Horton Smith will be called upon to make one of the finishes for which he is becoming famous if he is to overtake Sarazen, for he is five strokes behind. He was that same distance back of Harry Hampton at the end of the first round, and today seemed to lack his usual aggressiveness. He wound up with a 73.

Walter Hagen also failed to show much punch today and moved along steadily to finish with a par 72. But his golf will do him no good after the 77 which he took yesterday, and unless he can shoot back to the form he showed in scoring a 66 and a 67 before championship play began, he will be far out of it in the closing stages tomorrow afternoon.

Farrell Takes a 77.

Johnny Farrell ran into trouble at the very start today and lost three strokes in an attempt to get out of a trap. He reached the turn four over par and finished with a 77 for a total of 151.

Some might think that Sarazen has only to coast in now that all the great money winners are so far back, but 36 holes remain to be played tomorrow and in 36 holes anything can happen. Johnny Farrell was seven strokes behind the leader on the last day of the national open of 1928. Yet he came up to tie and won the playoff against Jones on the following day.

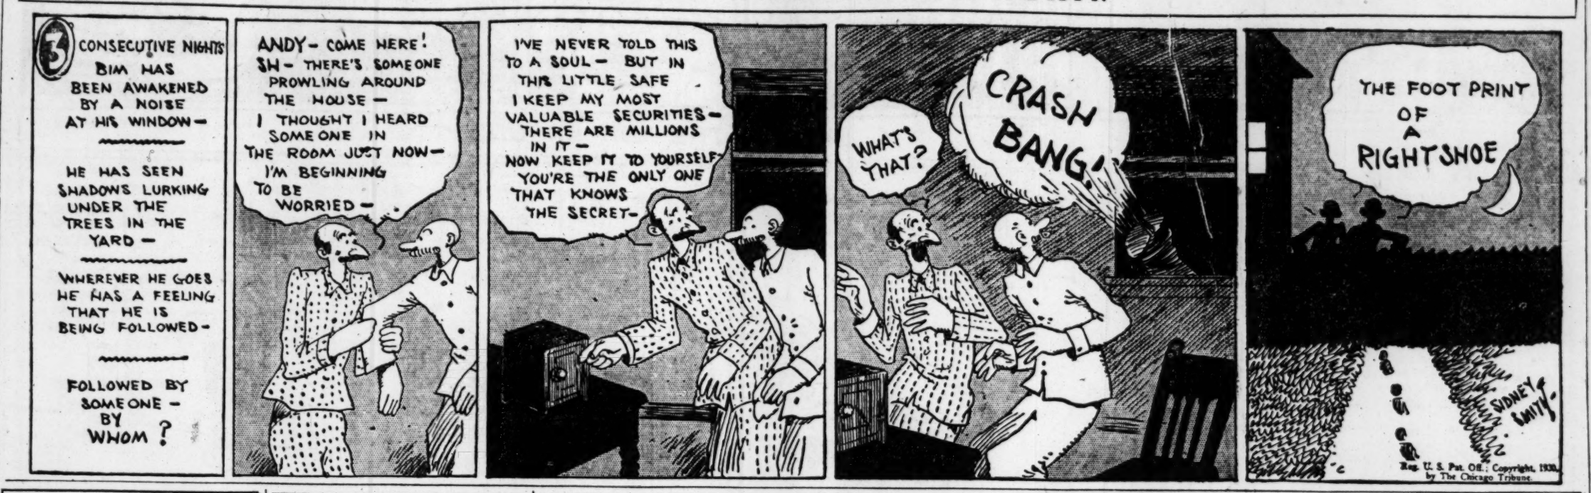

Tomorrow only those occupying the low 64 places will continue play. As 31 are tied for 64th place with scores of 154, the field actually will number 71.

Brinke's 67 Best for Day.

Although Sarazen gained the lead, the best round of the day was made by an amateur, who is tied for second place. Christian Brinke of Detroit came in late in the afternoon with a 67, one stroke over the course record established Tuesday by Walter Hagen. Flawless approaching enabled him to get out in 32 and a fine shot from the rough combined with some very accurate putting brought him home in 35.

Sarazen began his round by reaching the green with a drive and an iron for a birdie 4. Then he holed an eight footer for another birdie on the second. A trapped tee shot gave him a 6 on the fifth, after his twelve foot putt for a par 3 had rimmed the cup. A seven foto putt for an eagle on the 12th just bounced out and he took a 30 footer for a deuce on the 13th. Then he made his third consecutive birdie by dropping a mashie pitch within two feet of the pin. He lost a stroke on the sixteenth when he three putted, and he finished out with par on the last two.

THE GUMPS—FOOTPRINTS AGAIN

All-Star Elevens Unfair, Stagg Says

BY ARCH WARD.

A. A. Stagg, starting his 39th season as football coach at the University of Chicago, sees no all-American or all-conference players on his squad. And if he did have an athlete of all-star caliber, nobody ever would know that Mr. Stagg considered him worthy of that honor.

Stagg doesn't believe in all-star teams. He holds that no man attempting to name an all-anything can be fair and honest in his selections. The discussion came up the other day when we asked him who were the outstanding players he had developed in his unparalleled career at the Midway.

"I have steadfastly refused to pick all-America, all-western, all-conference or all-Maroon elevens," he said. "I have declined to nominate any University of Chicago men as the best choice for any position.

"In consequence of my attitude on this matter there possibly have been two or three who have been left off Walter Camp's all-American teams. He gave me the opportunity several times, but I could not honestly cooperate with him. I always have had the feeling that it was impossible to name these all-teams and that a man could not be fair and honest in doing it.

"Because I regarded it as very unfair to have the all-America teams picked by Mr. Camp published in the Football Guide, although he was a warm friend of mine, I fought him in the rules committee meetings for three years before I succeeded in having the so-called all-America teams left out of the guide.

"You can readily understand," Mr. Stagg added, "that it would not be consistent with my past life to select an all time all-Maroon eleven. First of all, I probably am the one person who could come nearest to making a fair selection for the University of Chicago, but I am not conceited enough to think that I really am competent to do it."

A TOAST FOR MR. MOODY.

There are two angles to Helen Wills Moody's temporary retirement from tournament competition generally overlooked. The first is that it made the women's national meet a better attraction from the competitive viewpoint. Had she defended her title, there would have been little interest in the tournament aside from her matches. There is little hope of any one beating her at her current form. That is the penalty of invincibility. It generates yawns.

Secondly, her retirement is a great victory for the Amalgamated Association of the Young Husbands of America. We may be altogether wrong, but we can't help feeling that the worse half of the family became tired of seeing the name Helen Wills Moody screeching from headlines day after day. Maybe he prefers that she be known as Mrs. Frederick J. Moody Jr.

FOOTBALL VS. BASEBALL.

It seems that the old argument about the relative popularity of football and baseball still is explosive enough to disturb the placidity of the citizenry. Concerning which P. L. H. of Appleton, Wis., submits the following:

"If the Cubs and Giants were to play only one game a year in Chicago they would outdraw the Notre Dame-Army game at Soldiers' field. That is, of course, if they had the same accommodations to handle a crowd.

"Again, take the leading contenders of the National league playing a series of five games in Chicago as against a five day stand of the above football teams and I venture to say the baseball games would attract larger crowds and more general interest.

"Suppose, for the sake of discussion, that the Army-Notre Dame game was to determine the national championship of collegiate football. Compare it with the final game of the world series. Not only the attendance, but radio listeners would be overwhelmingly in favor of baseball."

Simms Stops Stanton in 5th Round at Cleveland

BY FRENCH LANE.

It isn't often that an old selling plater steals the program on a metropolitan race track, but it happened at Hawthorne yesterday when Jem, a 4 year old son of Friar Rock-Cubanita, won the mile and a furlong fifth race by five lengths.

It was Jem's sixth victory in eight starts and his fourth triumph in a row. His brilliant record caused Mrs. Emil Denemark of Chicago to suspect that he might be a stake horse instead of a plater. Mrs. Denemark dropped $3,000 into the claiming box just before the race and her trainer, Dick Watts, led Jem back to the Denemark barn after the race was run.

Jem beat his most consistent selling plater rival in this tussle. Cockrill trailed him home by five lengths and as the race was run, Cockrill might have been best. The latter had won four straight races. Jockey Depeso was on him in this race and it looked as if the other boys took good care of Depeso in the early stages or Depeso was riding like a novice.

Cockrill Gets Clear.

Cockrill was knocked back in the early stages and never got clear until the field headed into the stretch. Then, coming on the far outside, Cockrill started to run. He got up to be second when at one stage of the battle he was fully 20 lengths back of the leaders.

In the meantime Jem, under a well judged ride by Jockey Trivett, had stayed back of the fast early pace cut out by Frances Milward and moved to the front at the end of the run down the back stretch. He immediately stepped out into a lead of three lengths and increased it all the way from there on home.

A match race between Cockrill and Jem with no interference would be a big drawing card. But Jem is no doubt the better horse for he carried 115 pounds to Cockrill's 106 yesterday. Still there is a chance for argument, as Jocket Trivett on Jem showed much more skill than Depeso did on Cockrill.

Jem Pays $5.58.

The two old platers absorbed nearly all the betting support and Jem finally wound up as the favorite, paying $5.58 to win. His time for the mile and a furlong was 1:51 3-5, considerably slower than stake horses run the route.

Two year olds clashed in the best race of the day, which was at six furlongs, and the Chicago owned Homer L. from the stable of John Marsch, came up the winner.

Homer L reeled off the six furlongs in 1:13 2-5 and in the betting was at 5 to 1. He ran coupled with Lady Marsch which recently ran a brilliant race here but gave her stable mate no help in this contest.

Affluent Boxers May Laugh But Here's a Suggestion

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 22.—The more prosperous prize fighters probably would treat the proposition with disdain, but it seems a wonder that the promoters and common investors interested in idle amphitheaters such as the Chicago stadium never have tried to organize teams of fighters for intercity house competitions on a plan somewhat like that of the baseball leagues. The success of the Golden Gloves tournaments between the amateurs of New York and Chicago indicates that such a plan would operate well in the professional department of the industry, and the idea would be certain to appeal to a large number of pretty good prize fighters.

There are a great many pugilists, including some excellent journeymen, who would be much better off under employment contracts assuring them from $10,000 to $25,000 a year, subject to no managers cuts, than they are likely ever to be under the present system, which subjects them to all manner of political and professional discrimination, and some graft.

Dozens of Prospects.

Although Jack Sharkey is rich enough to evince an honest indifference to an offer of $100,000 flat to fight some friend not more than half an hour, there are dozens of young men of considerable experience and skill, training constantly in the public gymnasiums of the big cities, who do not receive $300 a week, on an average the year around, and probably never will earn as much as $15,000 in one year free lancing.

Of course, it would be necessary for such purposes to engage only unattached prize fighters, because it would be impossible to maintain any team spirit in a squad of athletes, each of whom was represented by his own chiseler. This consideration is quite aside from the fact that managers must be maintained in a state described as sybaritic luxury.

In baseball Babe Ruth is the only player who ever has had a manager, and even his manager has to do only with the sale of the Babe's by-products, such as the Babe Ruth bats, balls and hats, the Babe Ruth suspenders, and the Babe Ruth letters on right living and fixity of purpose for young men.

Might Need 24 on a Team.

To fight a season's schedule of, say, two shows a week, each team would require at least two and perhaps three regulars of each class, a total strength of 16 or 24 regulars, a few reserves of various weights for gymnasium or bench duty. Their rates of pay would be gauged according to their weight as well as their proficiency, I suppose, because it is a curious fact that a third rate heavyweight such as Fainting Philip Scott or a robust chronic invalid such as William Stribling commands much more prestige at the

LAD OF 14 WINS GRAND AMERICAN HANDICAP SHOOT

Son of Expert Marksman Beats 3 Veterans.

Vandalia, O., Aug. 22.—(AP)—One of the greatest upsets in the history of sport occurred here today when a 14 year old boy from Wichita Falls, Tex., Alfred Ruffus King Jr., won the grand American handicap, prime event in the world of trap shooting.

Competing in the 25 target shoot-off for the championship were the smiling youth from Texas and three middle aged men from Ohio, J. L. Scott and Dan Casey of Toledo, and Lawrence H. Crampton of Dayton. The quartet had led the field of 966 entrants with scores of 97 out of a possible 100 targets. Young King shot from scratch, the 16 yard line, Casey from 17, Scott from 18, and Crampton from 21.

Perfect Until Fourteenth.

Scott was the first to falter, missing his second target. Crampton failed on his sixth target, and Casey his twelfth, but the youth refused to become nervous and had a perfect run until his fourteenth, which he missed.

Crampton fell behind early in the shoot-off and Casey practically eliminated himself when he registered his second miss on the nineteenth target. This left the issue up to King and Scott. They were still tied at one miss each following their twenty-first shoots. Then with every pull on the trigger meaning victory or defeat, it was the man who cracked and the boy carried on to new heights in the clay bird shoot.

Scott Misses Twenty-second.

Scott missed his twenty-second, twenty-third, and twenty-fourth targets, while King shattered his last four targets to finish with a score of 24 out of 25.

His triumph marked the first time in the 31 years history of trap shooting that a boy won the grand American handicap. King, the son of Rufus A. King, himself a crack boy shot 25 years ago and still recognized as one of the leading marksmen in the country, has been shooting only two years and until today never had won any sort of a tournament. He is just five feet tall and barely tips the scales at the century mark.

Second place went to Casey and Crampton dropped to third.

FARQUHAR SIGNS AS MANAGER OF SHAMROCK SIX

T. J. Shaughnessy, owner of the Shamrocks, Chicago's new representatives in the American Hockey association, announced last night that he had signed Johnny Farquhar, former coach of the University of Wisconsin hockey team, as manager.

Farquhar has been coach of the Badgers for the last three years. Under his tutelage Wisconsin developed one of the best collegiate teams in the country, finishing second in the Big Ten race last season. Farquhar was famous as a goal tender in western Canada before joining the coaching staff at Madison. He is known for his ability to develop young players.

The Shamrocks, organized by Shaughnessy last spring, will play their home games at the Chicago Stadium.

EDDIE ANDERSON BEATS DELMONT IN TEN ROUNDS

Scoring knockdowns in the sixth and ninth rounds, Eddie Anderson won a decision over Danny Delmont in a ten round bout at Jones and Baumrucker stadium last night. They are lightweights. In the semi-windup Billy Merz, Columbus, O., welterweight, won from Patsy Pollock of Canada.

IMPROVING THE BREED.

FRIEND ARCH: Well, Arch, as long as you were going to see the Giants I thought you might want me to go out to improve the breed of thoroughbreds at Hawthorne Thursday because you've had me so busy I haven't been out much. All I can say is the kind of horses I thought would win, you couldn't improve their breed unless you could devise some scheme of pre-natal influence toward acceleration. About the fifth race, I asked John Schank if they had any cashier's windows at Hawthorne and what for, and he pointed them out to me and after that I went there once just to have the experience. You know, Arch, it isn't the money, it's the principle of the thing.

Well, there was one close finish between Cheers and Taddywawa. Of course I had a nibble on Cheers, which was 11 to 1, and I was away at the end of the clubhouse where you couldn't tell who won and I thought Cheers won, so I told some ladies she won by three lengths so when the judges put up the other number, they complained to Mr. Schank about it, and he said if I spread any more sedition he would have to have me put off the track.

Of course, he didn't mean that, Arch, for if he did, how could he make his expenses at Louisville each spring playing bridge with me? John's a nice fellow, at that, but did you ever play bridge with him? You know my bridge game. I can't keep my mind on it. Well, after a deal's over, John wants to know why I didn't play some other card.

John says the attendance is better than last year but that the mutuel play is off, but I guess they aren't losing much money or he'd be more morose: I saw a lot of chaps I knew helping the mutuel play and I saw one of them at the cashier's window. Anyway, it couldn't have been worse than that 13 to 6 Giants' game you saw. Please leave a note if there's anything special you want me to do Saturday. Otherwise I may try a round of golf; haven't tried to play since July 4. Regards,

Harvey T. Woodruff.

HARTNETT HITS HOMER WITH 3 ON IN EIGHTH

Root Pitches His 15th Victory.

The Cubs' victory over the Giants yesterday increased their lead over the New Yorkers to three games. Brooklyn was defeated by Cincinnati yesterday and now trails the Cubs by four and one-half games.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Our Cubs yesterday cast off their sheep's clothing with magnificent gestures. The result was a 12 to 4 victory over the New York Giants, which restored their first place margin to three full games. The Giants will now go away from this town in no better than second place, no matter what happens in the two remaining contests of the series.

GABBY HARTNETT.

The Cubs made enough runs in the first inning to win the ball game, but this fact did not detract from the thrill afforded the 42,000 customers by Gabby Hartnett after two were out in the eighth inning. Gabby knocked his 27th homer of the year with the bases loaded, which is conceded by all authorities to be the maximum swat under the present rules.

Next to Gabby in the production department was Woody English. Woody knocked a homer and two singles, scored three runs, and reached first five times.

It's Root's 15th.

On the defense Charley Root was the big shot. Charley didn't have to bear down to protect his big first inning lead and never was in danger in the business of accomplishing his 15th victory of the season. Root had only one irritating session, the seventh, when the Giants made four of ten hits, including a double and two singles after two were out.

Pete Donohue, always to be remembered as the gent who tried to play rough with Hack Wilson in the Union station last season, was driven from the diamond before his team had accomplished a putout. And it didn't add to his comfort to perceive that Mr. Wilson was the batsman who precipitated his demise. Pruett, he of the butterfly ball, fluttered through six innings, and Ray Parmalee came on the scene in the seventh. It was Parmalee who shot the home run ball to Hartnett.

The spectators, who are expected to overflow Wrigley field this afternoon, should have the pleasure of watching a pitchers' battle. Malone and Hubbell, both in the best form of the season, will do the firing in the third of the series, leaving Bush and Fitzsimmons to wind up the New York invasion tomorrow.

Now let's get back to yesterday's ladies' day triumph:

Freddie Lindstrom's homer in the first inning got the New Yorkers off to a 1 to 0 lead that prevailed all of three minutes.

Four Singles in a Row!

Blair started the attack on Donohue with a single past Jackson and stopped at second when English singled to left. Cuyler singled to right, scoring Blair and putting English on third. Wilson singled to right, scoring English and putting Cuyler on third. Hack proceeded to second when Ott juggled the ball. Pruett relieved Donohue. D. Taylor popped a fly to O'Farrell in front of the plate, but Kelly walked, filling the bases. Hartnett also walked, forcing in Cuyler. Bell, back in the game on an infield shakeup, singled, scoring Wilson and Cuyler and putting Hartnett on third. Root and Blair struck out.

The Giants got a run home without the aid of a hit in the second inning and the Cubs in their half of the same inning had the bases full without the aid of a hit, but fell short of scoring when Critz made a nice

BROOKLYN LOSES 5TH STRAIGHT TO CINCINNATI, 4-1

Hendrick Drops Line Drive with Bases Full.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Cincinnati handed Brooklyn its fifth straight defeat today by a 4 to 1 score, dropping the third place Robins another game behind the Chicago Cubs.

Larry Benton and Dazzy Vance were about equally matched on the mound, Brooklyn getting seven hits and Cincinnati six, but the Robin defense wavered at times. The two runs the Reds scored in the eighth to clinch the victory were due to an error by Hendrick. He muffed Red Lucas' drive to left when the bases were full.

Homers Come and Go, But Hack Isn't Discouraged Yet

Hack Wilson now has seen an even dozen homers slammed out of Wrigley field since he tied the National league home run record with his 43d of the season. The fact that none of the dozen was his for a new record is most provoking but not discouraging, Hack says.

Bill Terry got two hits in four times at bat and now is batting .333 for the series. Which doesn't help his program to keep above .400 for the season as much as he would like. If Bill makes two hits off Malone this afternoon he'll have 200 safeties for the year. Many regular first basemen have played two seasons without making as many as 200 hits for both years.

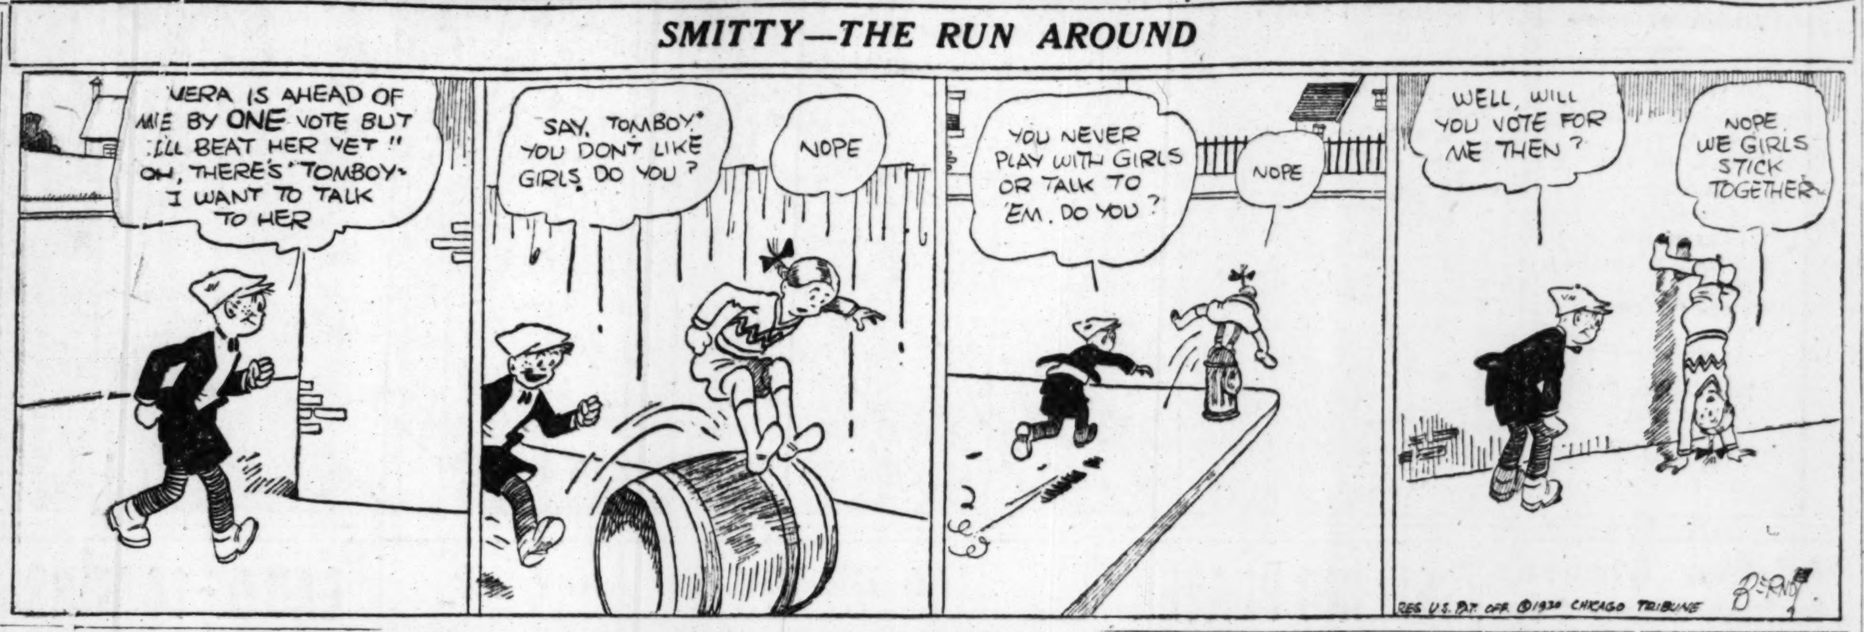

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes and other notables were the guests of Mr. Wrigley in his box. Being a New Yorker, he probably would have enjoyed Thursday's game more than he did yesterday's.

The feature of the ladies' day social phase was a fight between a lady with a babe in arms and another lady who appeared to be in very high spirits. It seems the lady with the baby was trying to hold a seat for another lady and the lady in high spirits thought this a shame and not according to the ladies' day's rules. Ushers halted the bout and the lady with the baby was awarded a technical knockout.

Malone will be after his sixteenth victory this afternoon. Last season Pat, with 22 wins, was the only National league pitcher among the four major league performers who won 20 or more. The quartet was composed of Malone, Earnshaw, Ferrell, and Grove. Pat has won 42 games in his two years with the Cubs.

The Cubs are sending Charles Tolson, first baseman, to the Minneapolis club of the American association. Tolson will go in the deal which also sent Malcolm Moss, Cub pitcher, to Minneapolis in exchange for George Kelly, first baseman. Tolson will report today.

Metcalf Sets Junior A. A. U. Dash Record

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Five new meet records were set by the younger generation of American track and field talent at the University of Pittsburgh stadium this afternoon in the national junior title events which opened the Amateur Athletic union championships.

The Olympic club of San Francisco captured team honors by a count of 28 points to 26 over the defending Denver A. C.

Tomorrow's senior events will determine the team which will represent the United States in the meet with the British empire at Chicago next Wednesday night. Winners in each event will be chosen to compete in the international games.

Metcalf Sets Dash Mark.

Competition has been going on annually in these junior events since 1900, but nobody ever had run as fast in this meet before as Ralph Metcalf, young Chicago Negro, did in winning the 100 yard dash in 9.7 seconds. Charley Farmer of the University of North Carolina equaled the old figures of 9.8 in a semi-final heat and in the grand final he must have done about 9.9, but the best he could do was place third behind Metcalf and another fast stepping Negro boy, Love Snowden.

The 120 yard high hurdle record was the next to fall. Johnny Morriss, recent graduate of Southwestern Louisiana institute, skimmed the sticks in 14.7 seconds.

Ray Sears of Mattoon, Ill., who won the national intercollegiate title in the half mile in 1927, sprinted into the lead on the final furlong to win the mile in 4:21.5.

Throws Hammer 162 Feet.

The remaining record smashing was done by Harry Carter of the Olympic club and Ed Flanagan, an undergraduate at Holy Cross. Carter ran the two mile steeplechase in 10:59.8 to beat out Ralph Nelson of the Denver A. C. and break the old mark of 11:06.6. Flanagan heaved the 16 pound hammer 162 feet 5 inches, beating the old record by nine inches.

play to throw out Hartnett for the third out.

In the fourth English singled to deep short and went on to second when Jackson threw the ball into the dugout. He scored on Cuyler's single. A foul fly and a double play prevented further progress in this inning.

English's homer in the sixth was responsible for the next run of the game. Subsequently, there were two bases on balls, and Cuyler executed the first of two base thefts but no scoring ensued.

In the seventh Allen batted for Pruett with one out and singled to center. He paused while Critz popped to Blair but Leach doubled into the crowd in left field, Allen stopping at third. Lindstrom knocked his third hit, a single to right, scoring Allen and Leach. Terry singled to left, Lindstrom stopping at second, but Ott flied to Wilson and the Giant offensive was through for the day.

And here's the crushing Cub finale. Blair started the eighth inning by fanning for the third time. Then English walked but was forced by Cuyler. Cuyler stole second and went on to third when O'Farrell threw the ball into centerfield. Wilson and D. Taylor walked filling the bases and when Kelly slammed a single off Parmalee's glove, Cuyler scored and the bases still were full. Gabby then smashed out his No. 27 homer, clearing the bases. Bell walked, but Root flied to Roettger.

Church A. A. Nines Open Semi-Final Round Today

The semi-final round of the championship series of the Church Athletic Association Baseball league will open today with two games, the Bethany Presbyterians meeting Albany Park Methodist, at Central Park and Addison street, while the Oak Park United Lutheran plays Irving Park Lutheran at Central and Grand avenues. First and second place teams in each of the four divisions of the league will play in the semi-final series.

Chicago Man Rides Winner in Genesee

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Gormond, a 15 to 1 shot, ridden by James Simpson Jr., of Chicago, won the Genesee purse at Saratoga today. Riders in this seven furlong event consisted entirely of gentlemen who are accomplished horsemen. The race attracted many prominent members of New York society which was well represented among the riders.

Wagering on the race was of the sentimental and humerous variety, several freak wagers being placed and none of the handicappers risking a penny on what was regarded as an uncertain outcome.

John J. Nesbit's The Tattler, with G. H. Bostwick in the saddle, was second. Mrs. T. R. Queen's Joe Marone III., with weight of 165 pounds up, finished third. The favorite, Pretty Patsy, with F. H. Hirst up, was fourth.

The order after that was My Cavalier, Baynard Tuckerman up; Bo Ballot, R. B. Young up; Flag of Fashion, Charles Smith up; and Oleman River, D. D. Odell up.

TILDEN TO PLAY IN BOTH FINALS OF CASINO MEET

Newport, R. I., Aug. 22.—(AP)—With the national tennis championships just around the corner, Big Bill Tilden, who has dominated the American game for the last decade or so, today advanced into the two championship rounds of the Newport Casino invitation tournament.

He gained the final round of the singles play through the default of his doubles partner, Frank Hunter of New Rochelle, N. Y. Both went into the last round of the doubles play with a straight set victory over Jack Tidball and Gerald Bartosh, California youngsters, by scores of 6-1, 6-3, 6-3.

Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., won the right to meet Tilden in the singles final by defeating George M. Lott Jr. of Chicago, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Wilbur Coen Jr., Kansas City, and Harrison Coggeshall, Des Moines, became doubles finalists by defeating Berkley Bell, Austin, Tex., and Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

CENTRAL A. A. U. TO HOLD SWIM MEET TODAY

Central A. A. U. swimming championships for men and women will be held beginning at 3 p. m. today at the Cermark park pool, Lyons, Ill. Events for men will include 500 yard free style, 200 yard back stroke, and 400 yard breast stroke races, two relays, and fancy diving. Women will compete in corresponding events, relays being omitted.

Lance, Hoosier Champion, Shoots Ace in State Meet

French Lick, Ind., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—George Lance, state amateur golf champion for the last three years, shot a hole in one on the 13th hole of his 36 hole encounter with Bill Bassett, last year's state junior champion, in the state amateur tournament here today. Lance won the match 11 and 10 to become a finalist. The 13th green is 185 yards.

New Orleans, Long Beach Nines Play in Legion Final

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Long Beach, Cal., and New Orleans meet tomorrow in the championship game of the American Legion junior baseball regional tournament here. These two boys' teams advanced to the last round today, New Orleans defeating Salina, Kas., in 11 innings, 7 to 6, and Long Beach overwhelming Enderlin, N. D., 14 to 1.

REDS TO PLAY AT NIGHT.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Although their first performance under the arc lights at Indianapolis was not impressive, the Cincinnati Reds have arranged a night exhibition game with the Peoria club of the Three Eye league here on Wednesday, Sept. 3.

Rich Fighters May Scoff, but Here's an Idea

ticket office than a great featherweight such as Kid Chocolate of Cuba.

The Garden, in New York, naturally would decline to enter such a league because the heavyweight championship of the world, such as it is, belongs to the firm under a monopoly that has existed for the last ten years and the directors doubtless would consider that their house had nothing to gain. However, I should think a New York team might operate successfully based on one of the armories in winter and on one of the minor open air clubs in summer. Teams probably could be made to yield dividends in Chicago, Detroit, Boston, Milwaukee and Cleveland.

Might Start First of Year.

Being no organizer, but merely a genius with a remarkable idea, I would not undertake to say whether the league prize fighting season should begin in the fall and end in the spring or vice versa. My own suggestion would be that the season should start along toward the first of the year and continue indoors until June, when the clubs could move to any ball yards not previously bespoken by the Garden monopoly, or other exclusive lessees operating in restraint of trade, to conduct their summer business al fresco.

The scoring system also would have to be left to some practical mind, but the team scoring method used for the Golden Gloves tournament could be extended to embrace a season's competition between a number of clubs and the individual champions of the league would be unmistakably identified by their averages.

Way to Pacify the Restless.

I realize, of course, that by the end of a successful season the individual leaders would be likely to grow restless with a desire to strike out as independents and challenge the so-called world champions for the various titles. But my league would pacify them by running off a series of post-season bouts for the championships of the world, ignoring such noncombatant world champions as Max Schmeling, Maxie Rosenbloom, Mickey Walker, and the heavyweight champion, whoever he may happen to be.

The principals would divide the receipts, exclusive of the expenses, on a basis of 66 2-3 per cent for the winner's pool and 33 1-3 for the losers, but all titles would go back into competition automatically at the start of the next season, as is done in all other sports but fighting at the present time, and any champion refusing to play through would be disqualified by official ruling and discredited by press and public.

One Flaw in Idea.

My heavyweight champion of the world, for instance, might not be the best heavyweight prize fighter on earth, but I would back him as a popular figure against a man who won the fight on a foul after a severe beating and then absconded. If Herr Schmeling decided to hide for a year in Europe he would be advised to join out with some minor league boxing team and work his way up to the majors.

The only flaw in my idea that I can see on first inspection is that the league would require honest and efficient administration and the observance of a code of conduct as severe as that now effective in the major league of baseball, forbidding all traffic with bookmakers and their gamblers and evil characters of whatsoever kind. This would be a paradox, because prize fighting ever has been and ever will be a disreputable and sordid business which loses character and charm in direct proportion to its ethical improvement.

This idea seems not to prove up. I squeeze it one way and it bulges another way. Somebody may take it and do something with it. I am sure it is a good idea, but why should I work overtime trying to get the Chicago Stadium out of trouble and rebuke a lot of prize fighters who have yet to get their first dollar of my money?

Becker Finds Cork Gone Out of Bottle Bay

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lake of the Woods, Kenora, Ont., Aug. 22.—Bottle Bay at last! We finally steamed into this stretch of water, which seemed to have been lost by our guide when we looked for it yesterday. It's a beautiful, secluded body of water, in some places hemmed in by stern, rocky cliffs covered with brown colored lichens. But you can have Bottle Bay. We're done with it. It looks as if some one had pulled the cork and let most of the water out of it and with the water went the fish that had our name on 'em.

It was about three o'clock in the afternoon when the launch cautiously felt its way around a small island and then turned to go through the bottle neck. The rocky shorelines pressed close to the water as if trying to keep out all boats, thus leaving only a narrow channel. But once past this narrow passage the bay opened up to form a slim body of water about two miles long with many cozy pockets.

Looking way down this bay we saw the first signs of autumn. On top of the rocky cliffs at the end of the lake the poplars and birches had turned their leaves to yellow and browns to form a glorious patch of color among the rich greens of the spruces, balsams and jackpines. No boats, no fishermen, no white tents of campers on the shorelines of this hidden body of water, which is connected with the big Lake of the Woods water system.

GEHRIG HITS 2 HOME RUNS, BUT YANKS LOSE, 5-4

Cleveland Wins Seventh Straight Game.

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians extended their winning streak to seven straight games today by defeating the Yankees, 5 to 4, despite the slugging of Lou Gehrig.

Gehrig clouted his 36th and 37th home run of the season to account for two Yankee runs and scored the fourth New York tally on Dickey's single.

MISS ROESLEIN, MRS. ZECH MEET IN GOLF FINAL

Mrs. Lilliam Zech and Marge Roeslein will meet today in the 36 hole final test of the Illinois women's championship golf tournament at Lincoln park.

Mrs. Zech, who has held the title since 1923, yesterday defeated Mrs. N. Wheeler of Lincoln park, 7 and 6. The champion won by a wide margin. Stiff lake breezes, sunbaked fairways and dry greens did not halt her march toward victory.

Miss Roeslein defeated Mrs. [illegible] Marshall of Marquette park, 2 and 1, to reach the finals. The defeat of the former city champion was the biggest upset of the tournament, it having been predicted that the final match would be between Mrs. Zech and Mrs. Marshall.

Topping a field of 100 with rounds of 70—76—146, Russell Martin of Flossmoor won the southwest amateur title yesterday at Oak Hills. It was his second victory in three years, Martin having won the inaugural in 1928. Win Day of Elmhurst took second with 75—72—147 and E. W. Budd of Silver Lake, third with 77—72—149. W. R. Andrews Jr. of Dyer, Ind., winner last year, had 80—75—155.

Johnny Morrell of Glen Oak turned in a score of 73 for the first 18 holes to lead 150 golfers in the 14th annual round at the Glen Oak Country club yesterday. Behind him came Gus Novotny of Edgewood Valley with 74, George Dawson, also of Glen Oak, had a 76, while Charles Becka of Calumet took 77. The final 36 holes will be played today.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 22.—Today's developments in the affairs of the White Sox were doubly important. They not only won a ball game, but did it behind the pitching of Ted Lyons, who now has eighteen triumphs to his credit for the current season. These two feats were accomplished by a 6 to 4 score, the victims being Boston's Red Sox, who still have hopes of escaping from the league basement.

Lyons captured No. 18, after four futile attempts in other cities of the circuit, because of the diligence with which three of his mates applied their bats to break a deadlock of 4 to 4. This occurred after two were out in the seventh. The first to aspire to a hero rôle was Cissell, who singled over the head of Dan MacFayden, the Red Hose hurler. Reynolds carried out the idea by doubling to left, whereupon Jolley aimed a two bagger to right, giving the two runners ample time to scoot home with the deciding runs.

Lyons then proceeded to do an excellent job of protecting his advantage by yielding only one hit in the three concluding innings.

Faber will go forth tomorrow in quest of his fourth straight victory. Gaston will labor for the Red Sox.

Boston Scores in First.

A Boston run in the first inning grew from a double to right by Durst. He hiked to third while Cissell was making a great play to get Oliver on a drive that caromed off Lyons' shin. Regan then grounded to Mulleavy, who didn't throw to the plate soon enough or with sufficient accuracy to prevent Durst from scoring.

The Red Sox made it 2 to 0 in the second, mainly because of moth eaten defensive play. Warstler led off with a liner to center, and should have been held to a single, but Barnes fumbled and the runner took an extra base. Watwood picked up a crisp grounder by Todt and Lyons endeavored to cover the bag. Ted fumbled the throw and didn't recover in time to stop Warstler from going home.

Lyons displayed a little ingenuity as his gang started on a four run rally in the sixth. He laid down a bunt and beat it out for a hit. Kerr coaxed a pass from MacFayden. Both men advanced on Cissell's infield out. Reynolds popped out, but Jolley was passed intentionally. This filled the bases. A pitched ball landed against Watwood's trousers and Lyons scored. Then Barnes singled, driving home Kerr and Jolley. Watwood scored the fourth run of the rally when Regan fumbled Mulleavy's bounder.

Webb's Hit Ties Score.

Webb, the ex-Cub, was instrumental in eliminating the Chicagoans' two run advantage in the home sixth. Durst singled, Oliver popped out, and Regan singled. Durst and Regan hiked for home, tying the score at 4 and 4, when Webb's liner to right bounced over Jolley's head for a triple. The only stirring incident after this was the manner in which the White Sox collected the winning runs in the seventh.

BETTY NUTHALL, MRS. HARPER IN TENNIS FINALS

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Blonde and blue eyed Betty Nuthall, England's darling of tennis courts, will make her second bid for the American women's championship tomorrow.

The 21 year old British girl enters the final round favored to beat Mrs. Anna Harper of San Francisco, fifth ranking American player, and carry to England for the first time the title forfeited by Helen Wills Moody, winner of six of the last seven tournaments.

Miss Nuthall furnished the only thrill of the semi-finals today by overcoming Marjorie Morrill of Dedham, Mass., to win in three sets, 6-8, 6-4, 6-2.

Mrs. Harper, a left hander, was offered no such keen opposition as she swept through the other semi-final match easily at the expense of the Baroness Levi of Rome, Italy. The California woman won by scores of 6-2, 6-3, easily outstroking the former Chicagoan as she came from behind in each set to run out six straight games.

"CAP" HATFIELD SURVIVES FEUDS TO DIE IN BED

Last of Clan Victim of Brain Disorder.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 22.—(AP)—William Anderson "Cap" Hatfield, known as the last of the Hatfield-McCoy feudists of West Virginia and Kentucky, died today at a hospital here at the age of 67.

He was brought here a few days ago from his Logan, W. Va., home, suffering from a brain ailment that had no connection with a wound sustained in the long feud war of a half century ago which took several score lives.

With the younger Hatfield when he died were his wife, a son and a daughter.

"Cap" Hatfield was a large, powerful man of a picturesque type. He once confided to friends that many of his old time foes believed he had a charmed life, saying he "guessed" he was shot at about 300 times during the mountain warfare and was wounded but once.

Refused to Discuss Feud.

Credited with a remarkable memory, Hatfield was an entertaining conversationalist, but refused in later years, when the facts of the most notorious American feuds became obscured by time, to outline an authentic account of the events that made a colorful page in American history.

One account of participants credited the feud with having started with a quarrel over the ownership of some hogs. The Hatfields lived on the West Virginia side of the Tug river, the McCoys on the Kentucky side. A lawsuit resulted from the hog ownership dispute and several years later in 1880 the warfare started with the slaying of Bill Stayton, a member of the Hatfield clan.

"Cap" Hatfield was born Feb. 6, 1864, in Logan county. He was taught to read by his wife, who was Mrs. Nancy Smith Glenn, and in his later years became an extensive reader, especially of historical matter. He encouraged his children to obtain the formal education denied him.

Was Eager Reader.

During the days the feud raged, when he lived for weeks along the mountain ridges between the Tug and Guyon rivers, "Cap" Hatfield would carry a book or two along with him to occupy his hours.

His children were Coleman A. Hatfield, member of the Logan county bar, who came with him to the hospital here; L. W. Hatfield, Logan county justice of the peace; Robert Hatfield, civil engineer and deputy sheriff; Mrs. Charles A. Carter, Miami, Fla., and Flossie and Muriel Hatfield, teachers at Logan.

"Cap" Hatfield was a cousin of United States Senator Henry D. Hatfield of West Virginia.

ENOUGH WOE NOW, SAYS MILLIONAIRE, WILLED A MILLION

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—It is something of a burden to have one million dollars' worth of property willed to you when you are already more than a millionaire.

Col. Ike T. Pryor, aged 78, of San Antonio, whose great fortune consists of ranches, cattle and holdings in various other business enterprises, when informed that the will of his bachelor brother, David Pryor, 79 years old, pioneer citizen of Oklahoma City, made him a beneficiary to the amount of more than one million dollars, said that he has "enough troubles right here and that he will not go to Oklahoma City."

One of the so-called troubles of Col. Pryor is that oil was discovered yesterday on one of his ranches in Texas.

CASHIER ROBBED BY HOLDUP PAIR IN LA SALLE ST.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Raymond Rock, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory; James Hall, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory; Alex Carey, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Harlan Pennington, rape, sentenced to 1 year in the penitentiary by Judge D. J. Normoyle.

A street robbery was executed yesterday afternoon amid the crowds in the heart of the financial district and within call of a dozen policemen and bank guards.

John Hazzard, cashier of the John P. Harding restaurant at 68 West Madison street, was the victim. He was en route to the Bank of Montreal, 29 South La Salle street, and was within twenty paces of the bank entrance when two men stepped up behind him.

One, who wore a straw hat and appeared about 30 years old, called "Hello, Jack," and, as Hazzard turned, seized his right arm. The other, who seemed about 25 years old and wore a cap, took his other arm and together they shoved him to the entrance adjoining the bank, took the $600 he intended to deposit and walked swiftly away.

Barbara Mabbatt, 10, Dies After Illness of Month

Barbara Mabbatt, 10 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hallowav Mabbatt, 245 East Vine street, Lake Forest, died yesterday at the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest. Her death followed a four weeks' illness that resulted in heart disease. She is also survived by a sister and brother, Mary and Richard. No funeral plans had been made last night.

$100,000 GEMS IN AUTO STOLEN BY TWO GUNMEN

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—By the simple expedient of poking a gun against the side of a chauffeur left to guard $100,000 worth of diamonds and other jewelry and driving away with him, the jewelry and the car, two holdup men today made one of the biggest hauls of the year in Brooklyn.

The jewels were owned by Bert Kaufman, a jewelry jobber of Maiden lane, Manhattan, and they were stolen from the car at the curb near the jewelry store of Fred Stadtmuller of Broadway, Brooklyn. Kaufman was inside Stadtmuller's store showing Stadtmuller some samples when the holdup men kidnaped Joseph Flynn, Kaufman's chauffeur, and the seven cases of cut and uncut diamonds, other precious stones and gold and platinum mountings of various kinds that Flynn was guarding.

Finally, out in east New York the holdup men ordered Flynn to get out, go into a nearby tenement and climb to the roof. He hid in the doorway until the car pulled away, and then gave the alarm.

Funeral Services Today for Mrs. Gunhild Fallburg

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. today at the chapel at 7066 North Clark street for Mrs. Gunhild Sjoestedt Fallburg, soprano teacher and wife of Carl Fallburg, a composer, who died last Tuesday. Interment will be at Rosehill cemetery. Mrs. Fallburg was the daughter of the late Maj. Valentin Sjoestedt, formerly traffic manager of the state railroads in Sweden, and the sister of the late Eric Sjoestedt of Paris. Three children besides the husband survive.

BOY AND WOMAN DIE AFTER BEING HIT BY AUTOS

Six year old Robert Lavan, 2921 Elias court, died in the People's hospital yesterday of injuries received Thursday when he was struck by an automobile while crossing Archer avenue at Bonfield street. William T. Milles, 2201 West 35th street, the driver, told the police the boy ran from behind a truck into the path of his machine. This death and two others raised the 1930 Cook county auto toll to 629.

Mrs. Florence Fox, 65 years old, 5351 Cottage Grove avenue, died at the Washington Park hospital after being struck on Tuesday by a machine driven by Dr. Charles L. Smith, colored, of 3620 Rhodes avenue, at West drive and East 52d street. Dr. Smith was charged with assault with an automobile and released on bond.

An unidentified Negro was struck and killed last night as he crossed Michigan avenue at 47th street in a collision between two automobiles. The driver of one of the cars, Harold Jenlon, 29 years old, 1712 Prairie avenue, was held by the police. The other driver escaped.

PAINTER HANGS HIMSELF.

Alexander Dombrowski, 2031 Custer street, a painter, hanged himself in his home yesterday. His body was seen through a kitchen window by another tenant.

PLUMBERS WILL PAY TRIBUTE TO SLAIN LEADERS

All union plumbers of Chicago were notified yesterday that there will be no work today or Monday as a mark of respect to Charles Mulcahy, business agent of their union, and Bernard Ruberry, assistant to Mulcahy, who were slain Wednesday afternoon on the site of the new Lane Technical High school.

The funeral of Mulcahy will be held from his home, 7748 Constance avenue, at 9:30 o'clock this morning. A requiem high mass will be sung at Our Lady of Peace Catholic church. The celebrant will be the Rev. Father Timothy Rice. Ruberry's funeral will be held on Monday morning from his home at 7737 Essex avenue, and mass will be held at St. Bride's church. Mulcahy will be buried in Holy Sepulchre cemetery and Ruberry in Calvary.

No word was received by the police or the coroner's office yesterday regarding Charles Arthur Stein, contractor, and Albert Courchene, plumbing superintendent, believed to be the men who shot the union officials. Attorney W. W. Smith, representing Stein, said he would produce the two men at the coroner's office "in due time."

WOMAN'S PLUNGE TO DEATH SAID TO BE ACCIDENT

A coroner's jury yesterday was unable to decide whether Mrs. Carol Carleton, 24 years old, a widow and said to be the daughter of a Mississippi cotton planter, jumped or accidentally fell to her death on Thursday from the roof of the Bethany Girls' home, 510 Wellington avenue. Mrs. Carleton seemed in good spirits all afternoon and was planning to leave for Tupelo, Miss., on Thursday night.

Policeman Peter B. Hansen testified he found the girl's dressing robe on the parapet of the building, where she had been taking a sun bath. She was clad in pajamas when the body was found. Attorney Tyrrell Krum, 160 North La Salle street, a friend of Mrs. Carleton, told of calling her on the phone less than an hour before her death. Mr. Krum expressed a conviction the girl accidentally fell to her death.

CHICAGO STOCKS CHURN ABOUT IN SLUGGISH TRADE

Bendix Company Reports $779,255 Earning.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Stocks churned about again yesterday in sluggish trading on the Chicago exchange. The trend was toward slightly higher levels, but gains recorded with one or two exceptions did not exceed a point.

In only one stock, Majestic Household, did sales volume exceed 3,000 shares. Majestic advanced 2⅛ on sales of approximately 19,000 shares to cross 51.

Marketwise the news of the day seemed to have little influence. Announcement of second quarter profits by the Bendix corporation had no appreciable effect on the action of the company's stock.

The company reported net earnings for the second quarter, ended June 30, of $779,255, equivalent to 37 cents a share on the 2,097,454 shares of stock outstanding, as compared with $751,681, or 36 cents a share in the first quarter of 1930. Because of the revision of the corporate structure, following acquisitions and consolidations, comparison with a year ago is not availabe. Earnings of the corporation for the first half of 1930 totaled $1,530,937 or 73 cents a share.

Save $40,000 Monthly.

Substantial writeoffs incident to the removal of the Stromberg plant from Chicago to South Bend were made, President Vincent Bendix stated. Earnings in the third quarter will be enhanced by a judgment the company was awarded for $268,000 which will be paid during the period, he added. A saving of $40,000 monthly in overhead has been recently effected, he explained.

Cities Service company yesterday reported that surplus after preferred dividends in July was $3,348,673, as compared with $2,235,335 in July, 1929. For the twelve months ended July 31 surplus as provision for preferred dividends was $41,451,774, against $25,159,785 in the preceding twelve months.

To Increase Stock.

Stockholders of the Federal-Mogul corporation have voted to increase the authorized common stock from 150,000 to 180,000 shares. The additional stock will be used for expansion purposes. The firm reported net earnings for the first half of 1930 of $131,163, equivalent to $1 a share on the common stock as compared with $260,373 or $2 a share for the corresponding period last year.

Exchange governors yesterday approved the listing of additional securities of Twin States Natural Gas company, Atlas Stores corporation and the American States Public Service company.

Reduction in the listing of the Middle West Utilities company by 55,734 shares and removal of the common stock of the White Star Refining company were also voted by the committee.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST.

The official forecast for today and tomorrow and yesterday's table of records follow:

Wisconsin—Fair Saturday and probably Sunday; slightly warmer Sunday.

Chicago and vicinity—Fair Saturday and probably Sunday; slightly warmer Sunday; gentle winds, mostly northeast.

Illinois—Fair Saturday and probably Sunday; slightly warmer Sunday.

Indiana, upper and lower Michigan, and Missouri—Fair Saturday and probably Sunday; slightly warmer Sunday.

Ohio—Partly cloudy Saturday and Sunday; rising temperature Sunday.

Iowa—Fair Saturday and probably Sunday; slightly warmer.

COTTON LOSS IS SMALL

Cotton prices were advanced moderately in the early trading by good scattered buying, based on bullish news from Texas, but aside from that there was little in the market to attract attention and the range of prices was narrow. Hedeg selling as well as mill buying was comparatively small, yet values sagged and closed a few points above the lowest of the day, with the close unchanged to 8 points.

Spots in New York were unchanged at 11.15c; New Orleans lost 5 points to 10.70c; Galveston was 10.90c, and Houston, 10.80c. Liverpool closed from 1 to 2 points lower with spot sales, 4,000 bales.

Spinners' taking of the American cotton for the week are estimated at 152,000 bales, against 153,000 bales last year. Into sight movement was 235,000 bales, against 162,000 bales last year. The visible supply increased 83,000 bales, against 9,000 bales last year. World's visible supply of American cotton supply is 3,149,000 bales, against 1,625,000 bales last year. Prices follow:

Electric Refrigeration.

I have been offered the following as an invstment. Kindly inform me as much as you can about both items. 1. Electric Refrigeration corporation 10 year 6% convertible gold note. Incorporated in the state of Michigan. $1,000. 2. Emma Silver Mines company stock.—R. L. G.

Electric Refrigeration corporation [now Kelvinator corporation] 6 per cent convertible notes were issued in January, 1926, to provide funds for the acquisition of stock of Grand Rapids Refrigerator company. These notes are due Jan. 1, 1936. Since Jan. 1, 1928, they have been convertible into no par stock at the rate of one share of stock for each $100 of notes.

The notes are a direct obligation of the company, but are not secured by mortgage, although the company and its subsidiaries agree not to pledge any assets without securing these notes equally. These notes are speculative.

The Emma Silver Mines company does not publish earnings statements. It is controlled by Alta Michigan Mines company.

The company's $1 par common stock in 1929 was quoted in Salt Lake City at prices ranging from 2¼ cents to ¾ of one cent per share. In May, 1930, it was quoted at ¾ of one cent bid, 1¼ cents asked.

Coty, Inc.

Will you be kind enough to give me information concerning Coty, Inc., stock? Have dividends been paid regularly this year.—R. H.

Coty, Inc., manufacturer and distributor of perfumes and cosmetics, after reporting a smaller net income in the first quarter of 1930, on June 5 voted to omit the quarterly dividend on its stock. Previously dividends had been 50 cents quarterly.

Earnings of the company increased steadily from 1922 to 1929, reaching a high point last year, when net income, including earnings of foreign subsidiaries, was equal to $3.01 per share on 1,492,655 no par shares.

The stock is considered speculative. The omission of dividends, the management stated, was decided on in order to provide out of earnings funds to meet payments due on the purchase of foreign Coty companies.

American Smelting and Refining.

Will you kindly let me know if American Smelting and Refining first 5s of 1947 are a sound investment? What denominations do they come in? —Miss F. A.

American Smelting and Refining company first 5s, series A, due April 1, 1947, are a sound investment.

They are available in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000 and up.

CHICAGO CURB EXCHANGE STOCKS

A general advance on a small scale marked trading on the Chicago curb yesterday, interrupted chiefly by Chicago Rapid Transit, which eased almost a point by the close. Oil and gas stocks were in line with the dominant trend. Niagara Hudson and Canadian Marconi attracted most trading attention without marked price changes.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(AP)—RAW SUGAR was quiet today, but the undertone was easier and sugars were offered at concessions of several points without attracting buyers. Both duty free and Cuban in prompt positions were available at 3.14c delivered with buyers showing no interest. The futures market declined to new low records for all time for the September position, which declined to 1.08c and closed at that level or 3 points below the previous close. Other months were off in sympathy and closed with net losses of 2 to 3 points. The trend was downward throughout the session with final prices at the lowest. Approximate sales were 55,500 tons, of which more than half was in the form of September liquidation, or exchanging from that month to later positions. Prices follow:

REVIEWS LOOK TO UPTURN WITH PRUDENT HOPE

Usual Sept. Pickup Is Expected.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Just as the parched traveler in the desert hails an oasis on the horizon, so American business and finance is eagerly looking toward September for the traditional pickup from summer lassitude. It must be admitted, however, that hope and belief in better things are somewhat mixed with fears of a mirage. It is in some such vein as this that the weekly mercantile reviews appearing yesterday are couched.

"With a new season in business drawing nearer," Dun's review says, "the main attention now converges on the probable degree to which the change will prove stimulating. That some impetus will be given to trade as strictly summer restraints are removed is a logical conclusion, but exceptional conditions prevailing this year make for conservative expectations. Yet a more cheerful feeling in various quarters at this time is considered natural.

Among Hopeful Auguries.

"In certain measure, the rather better sentiment is supported by actual gains, although these are only moderate and scattered and by no means reflect a trend toward general uplift. The slight rise in steel output, the improved weather for crops and for retail distribution, the extensive road-building and other construction programs and more stability in some commodities are among the hopeful auguries."

Generally more cheerful sentiment also is reported by Bradstreet's review and it has been accompanied by slightly better buying of fall goods and a slight extension of the pace of some manufacturing industries.

"The change, however, has been slight," it adds. "That the sharp rise in farm commodity prices of early August, even though followed by subsequent slight reactions, has tended to retard, if not wholly check, the earlier downswing of prices generally seems evident and the approach of autumn weather contains promise of at least a seasonal turn toward greater activity. The majority of trade reports seem to testify to wholesale and jobbing business being still of a moderate fill-in type, while at retail the influence of sales is still evident."

Developments Mixed.

Developments in trade and industry yesterday were mixed. Reflecting curtailment in automobile production this year, the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company during the first week in September will cut its output to about 80 per cent of the present rate in the manufacture of large sized tires and to about 25 per cent of the present rate for smaller sizes. The combined production rate will be about 70 per cent of current operations, which means a reduction from 44,000 to about 30,000 tires a day.

Reflecting both slack trade and dullness in the security markets, the volume of bank clearings this week is placed at $8,067,387,000, a decline of 32.4 per cent from a year ago. The record of business failures, however, shows some improvement, the number of 436 this week comparing with 441 last week and 452 two weeks ago. Decreases in commercial failures in the east and far west this week offset increases in the south and middle west. In the same week last year there were 390 failures.

Meat Packing Industry.

The meat packing industry isn't doing at all badly, according to the weekly review of Armour & Co.

"Meats continued in high favor on the menu of the American people this week, with demand good, accumulations well cleared and prices, for the most part, firm to strong," it says. "Seasonable weather was a factor in promoting the movement of meats into consumptive channels in excellent volume. A considerable improvement in demand for dressed beef and live cattle resulted in substantially higher prices for both. Fresh pork advanced in sympathy with live costs, which moved up from day to day."

DAYS DECLINE IN MEXICAN SILVER TO SMUGGLING

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Albert Mascarenas, general manager of the Bank of Mexico, in a statement today claimed that the fall of the Mexican silver peso in value was due to smuggling operations which took Mexican gold into the United States.

Mascarenas estimated that $100,000 in gold was smuggled across the border daily between Nuevo Laredo and Piedras Negras. Removal of the gold, he said, brought the value of the silver coins down. When the exchange was low enough the gold would reappear again and be used to purchase the silver, which immediately is enhanced in value. He termed the gold smugglers traitors to their country.

Report Panama Seeks Loan of $1,000,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 22.—The government of Panama is reported to be seeking a loan of $1,000,000, the proceeds to be used to pay the balance on the loan from the National City bank for the purchase of rolling stock for the Chiriqui railroad and for the construction of government buildings. Offers have been asked from National City bank, Chase National bank, Royal Bank of Canada, and National bank of the Republic.

3 Months' Sales of Radio Equipment $87,000,000

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Retail dealers sold radio equipment valued at $87,000,000 during the second quarter of 1930, against $92,000,000 in the like period of 1929, the United States commerce department estimated.

Dividend Is Reduced by Big Drug Firm

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 22.—Directors of McKesson & Robbins, large drug distributors, announced today a downward revision in the dividend on the common stock, placing the issue on a $1 annual basis against $2 as heretofore. A quarterly payment of 25 cents a share was declared, payable Sept. 15 to owners of record Sept. 5.

Net earnings for the first half of 1930 amounted to $1,457,715 after all charges, compared with $1,962,933 in the corresponding half of 1929. Regarding operations the company stated that the revised dividend rate was earned in the first six months in spite of business depression and substantial advertising expenses.

"The executive committee of the board of directors," the company said, "feels establishment of such a dividend is in line with present conditions and to the best interests of its retail customers and stockholders, as it will permit the company to continue policies of liberal advertising expenses for its dealers and of developing its facilities further for their service."

Omits Ship Dividend.

Directors of the Canadian Steamship Lines, Ltd., announced that the regular quarterly dividend on the 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock, due Oct. 1, will be deferred with a view to maintaining the credit position of the company. The dividend has been paid since Jan. 1, 1927.

Directors of the Chelsea Exchange corporation voted to omit the quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share on the class A and B stocks, due at this time, in order to conserve the assets and build up surplus account. Previous dividend action was taken at the close of July last year, when four quarterly payments of 25 cents each were declared on both classes.

The North American Water Works and Electric company omitted the quarterly dividend due on its preferred and preferred A stocks. The C. M. Hall Lamp company declared a quarterly dividend of 15 cents a share on its common. Previously 37½ cents quarterly had been paid.

Inaugurates Dividend.

The South American Railways company inaugurated dividends on the $3.50 cumulative preferred no par stock with the declaration of the first regular semi-annual dividend of $1.75 per share, payable Sept. 1 to stockholders of record Aug. 20.

I. Zellerbach, president of Crown Zellerbach corporation, today said that no consideration has been given to any change in the present dividend policy of the company. "The monthly meeting of the board of directors will be held next Thursday," he said, "and it is anticipated that the usual dividend action will be taken with regard to the current business situation." He added that sales are showing "a healthy increase" this month over July.

CEDAR RAPIDS TO BEGIN FIRST CATTLE CO-OP

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 22.—(AP)—The first coöperative live stock concentration yard and sales agency in the United States under the federal farm board sponsorship will begin operation here before Sept. 1, directors of the Eastern Iowa Live Stock Marketing association decided today.

Live stock will be concentrated here under the management of the marketing group and will be sold on direct order or through terminal coöperative sales agencies in accordance with farm board plans.

The new selling system will take over the business of the Farmers' Reload association.

SINCLAIR OIL EARNS 49 CENTS ON COMMON STOCK, AGAINST $1.02

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 22.—The Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation reports for the six months ended June 30 a consolidated net income of $3,251,709 after all charges and reserves for depreciation, depletion and amortization equivalent, after preferred dividends, to 49 cents a share on the 5,545,280 common shares outstanding. This compares with $6,196,194 in the first half of 1929, or $1.02 a share on the common stock outstanding at the end of that period. Gross earnings totaled $88,423,055, as compared with $89,712,506 in the first six months of 1929.

"Lessened profits are attributed to unsatisfactory prices prevailing during the period and to generally unfavorable business conditions," statement by the company said. "Full advantage has not been obtained from investment in owned marketing facilities, although the increase in gallonage through such facilities showed a large gain in the first six months of the year. Extensive drilling was necessary in the Oklahoma City field, involving large expense, but, owing to proration, the corporation was unable to realize on this investment, since the flow of the wells is limited to a small fraction of developed production."

DIRECTORS VOTE FOR MERGER OF GUARDIAN, UNION BANK OF CHICAGO

Plans for another consolidation of Chicago downtown banks were announced last night. Directors of the Union Bank of Chicago and the Guardian National bank held special meetings and agreed to merge, subject to approval of stockholders of both institutions, who will be called to special meetings in the near future.

The name of the Union Bank of Chicago will be retained and the consolidated business will be conducted in the building owned by the Union bank at 25 North Dearborn street. The personnel will include officers and directors of both institutions. The combined institutions will have capital of $1,300,000, surplus of $1,000,000, undivided profits of $300,000, and total deposits of approximately $11,000,000.

In connection with the merger each bank will retain certain assets for the purpose of adjusting book values. These assets will be distributed among the stockholders of the respective institutions at a later date. In addition, the stockholders of the Union bank will receive the assets of its subsidiary, the Union Securities company.

Charles E. Schlytern is chairman of the Union Bank of Chicago and Daniel V. Harkin is president. Henry R. Kent is chairman of the Guardian National bank and Andrew T. Murphy is president.

ARRANGES SALE OF CUBA SUGAR TO CHINA AT 1.04C

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Arrangements for the sale to China of 14,000 tons of Cuban raw sugar for September shipment at 1.04 cents a pound, f. o. b. Cuba, have been made by a subcommittee of the New York committee of bankers and sugar interests which was appointed to make a thorough study of the actual sugar situation of Cuba in its relation to the world markets.

This sale is in addition to a sale of 6,500 tons reported yesterday to China at 1 cent a pound, f. o. b. Cuba, a new low.

The committee is to hold a meeting in New York on Tuesday, which will be attended by Dr. Viraito Cutierrez of the Cuban senate and former chairman of the Single Seller, as well as by representatives of United States cane and beet sugar interests and Hawaiian, Porto Rican and Philippines sugar interests.

Estimates July Income of I. C. to Be $1,325,000

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP) — Dow, Jones & Co. estimates that net operating income of the Illinois Central railroad for July will aggregate $1,325,000, against $1,486,072, and that net for the year ended June 30 will be around $7.01 a share, compared with $9.14 a share in the calendar year of 1929 and $8.96 in 1928.

During July U. S. Makes Nearly 12 Billion Cigarets

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Domestic cigarette production in July totaled 11,859,395,542, an increase of 1,134,138,751 cigarettes over July last year. Cigar production totaled 562,990,133, a decrease of 57,646,935.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Watch Aviation Stocks.

Wall street is beginning to take a bigger interest in the aviation securities. Traders are looking over the field for the probable leaders of the next bull market. One of the chief reasons why they have become attracted to the airplane stocks is that this industry is one of the few which appear to have already turned the corner in business. The Chicago show, which begins today, will be the most elaborate the country has ever seen, and the prediction is made that the public will be really astounded at the progress that has been made in the industry.

Talk of Big Things.

Several of the biggest market operators in the street have taken a position on the constructive side of Radio Keith. Big things are being talked for the stock, and merger rumors are beginning to go the rounds in connection with the company. The stock has been acting extremely well.

American Austin.

Increased activity in the stock of American Austin in the last few days has followed announcement of the company's statement of unfilled orders for its product. As of June 30 last, the company had on hand orders for 184,117 vehicles with retail value of $81,930,000, according to Samuel Vallance, vice president.

Baker Wants Eaton Put to Veracity Test

Youngstown, O., Aug. 22.—(AP)—A searching cross-examination into the background of Cyrus S. Eaton's various investment companies to test his veracity and credibility as a witness in the suit against the Youngstown Sheet and Tube-Bethlehem Steel merger, which he seeks to enjoin, was authorized by Common Pleas Judge David Jenkins today.

When Newton D. Baker of defense counsel started an inquiry into the founding of Continental Shares, Inc., by Otis & Co., in which Eaton is a partner, he was swamped with objections by Luther Day, attorney for the plaintiffs. Day claimed the testimony was irrelevant.

Baker Attacks Eaton.

Attacking Eaton's good faith in opposing the Youngstown - Bethlehem deal, Baker told the court:

"Eaton has said, although he has denied it, that he had other plans for Youngstown Sheet and Tube. I will prove that this company (Continental Shares) was formed to aid mergers. Eaton has aided in other mergers, and he had other plans which were thwarted by this proposed merger."

Judge Jenkins' decision in overruling the objection was based on Eaton's testimony in direct examination yesterday when he related in detail how the merger agreement with Bethlehem was negotiated without his knowledge at a time when he was working, at the direction of Sheet and Tube officers, on a merger with Inland Steel of Chicago.

It was on direct examination that Eaton denied ever making the statement that he had other plans for Sheet and Tube.

Rules for Defense.

Attorney Harry Crawford, who joined in the plaintiff's argument, contended the defense had no right to inquire into Eaton's good faith because International Shares, another of Eaton's investment concerns, is the plaintiff in the injunction suit and not himself.

So Judge Jenkins overruled the objection with this statement:

"The defense has a right, in view of the testimony given by Mr. Eaton yesterday, to go into the background as far as it likes and to the most searching cross-examination bearing upon the veracity of the witness, as to his motives and interests which would bear upon the question of credibility."

The attempt to prove Eaton's other plans for Youngstown will get under way when court reconvenes on Monday. Baker got partly into the founding of the $150,000,000 Continental Shares company today.

CITY GROWS IN TRANSOCEANIC SHIP ACTIVITY

Chicago's position in transoceanic shipping activity has reached a point where steamers serving the city now are carrying cargoes valued at an annual sum running well into eight figures, the Chicago Association of Commerce announces.

While the great bulk of Chicago's foreign shipments is being carried by ships sailing under the American flag, considerable tonnage is now being cleared from here on Norwegian, Swedish, Danish, and British vessels. According to the association of commerce, exports from Chicago in 1929 totaled $6,010,528 and consisted of grain, manufactured iron, tin plate, agriculture machinery, radio sets, and hundreds of other varieties of the city's manufactured products.

A combined valuation of $15,606,659 is placed on imports brought to Chicago by lake steamers during 1928 and 1929. These imports included food products, china, glass, toys, paper, minerals, and chemicals.

At the present time the great part of the tonnage cleared from Chicago is carried through the lakes to the seaboard where it is transferred to oceangoing vessels. However, greater interest in direct shipping is being shown by Chicago exporters, and it is predicted that boats bound for foreign countries soon will be loaded here in increasingly large numbers.

CHICAGO STOCK EXCHANGE NOW HAS 387 MEMBERS

Only 87 of the 325 new memberships created by the seat dividend declared last September by the Chicago Stock exchange have not been sold, according to exchange officials. Persons now owning seats number 387. When the 87 members dispose of their dividend seats the exchange will have a membership of 435.

Seats on the exchange are currently selling around $30,000. Previously the increase in membership seats reached a high of $110,000. Following the increase seats sold as high as $50,000, and after the October-November break went as low as $24,000. The high so far this year was $45,000, while the last sale was made at $30,000.

The exchange has placed no time limit as to when members should dispose of their dividend seats.

WHEAT HOLDING OF FARM BOARD LESSENS TRADE

Speculators Fear Unloading.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The holding of 60,000,000 bu cash wheat by the farm board and the fear that the board would start to unload its grain on the world's market are responsible for the unsatisfactory action of all grain futures, according to brokers who were interviewed yesterday in an effort to determine why speculative interest remains so light. Added to this is the uncertainty regarding the pool situation in the Canadian northwest.

Wheat and corn prices fluctuated in a most erratic manner yesterday, with local professionals on the selling side of corn following an opening bulge of around ¾c. Corn prices dropped 1⅝@2c from the top, only to rally toward the last, when buying orders appeared, and the finish was ⅛c lower to ¾c higher, the September showing the decline, closing at 98@98¼c. December was 92⅜@92½c; March, 94¼c, and May, 96⅛c.

A marked revival in the cash corn demand, with sales of 245,000 bu made by Chicago handlers, was responsible for the upturn in the September early, and the trade had reported that boats were loading 450,000 bu out of local elevators. Profit taking by local longs checked the upturn, but there was no evidence of any country offerings of consequence.

Corp Crop Deteriorates.

Reports received by the trade of late have not suggested any material improvement in the new corn crop since the recent rains. The official South and North Dakota mid-month reports indicate that further deterioration has occurred since Aug. 1. The South Dakota summary commented on the poor pollenization with the resultant barren stalks. In North Dakota corn tasseled very short and will yield poorly, as weather has been too dry.

Crop Observer George M. Le Count continues to find the same conditions in South Dakota as in other northern sections of the corn belt, with barren stalks and poorly filled ears. Farmers in the Bancroft, Ia., and Brookings, S. D., territory look for only a half crop, he says.

Get Other Reports.

Returns to J. E. Bennett & Co. from its traveling representative in Iowa showed 14 to 21 barren stalks per 100 in an actual field count made at 12 points in part of the best section of that state. E. H. Miller found considerable damage to the crop between Chicago and Omaha.

Argentina shipped 193,000 bu corn to the United States the last week, against 8,000 bu the previous week. This is said to be the first round lot cleared for this country in some years, but its destination was not given. A little Argentine corn was bought earlier in the season by New York, Boston, and New Orleans.

Local Trade in Wheat.

Hedging and scattered commission house pressure in small lots combined with local selling caused a break of ⅞@1⅜c in futures early, the action of Winnipeg having some effect. However, the market rallied later with coarse grains and closed ½c lower to ¼c higher, the former on September, which was 88@88¼c at the last, while December finished at 93⅛@93¼c; March, 97⅝@97¾c, and May, $1.00¼@1.00⅝.

Exporters were after No. 1 hard winter wheat at Chicago yesterday with bids from Montreal of 10c over Chicago September and 2c over Buffalo, both figuring out about 1c below a working basis. The Liverpool October-Chicago September spread figured out around 17¾c difference at the time the former closed.

Winnipeg closed ⅝@1⅛c lower, while Liverpool was ¾@1d lower, and Bueno Aires was off ¼c for the day. Canadian wheat is being marketed freely, with 1,448,000 bu delivered at interior points on Thursday, against 309,000 bu last year.

Larger Trade in Oats.

Oats showed independent strength as the result of free buying by commission houses and by a leading local professional. Opposition of local traders was swept aside and prices advanced 1⅜@1⅝c from the early low, with the finish at the top with net gains of 1⅜@1¼c. September closed at 41⅝c, and December, 44⅛@44⅝c.

Ohio and Indiana were reported as in the market for cash rye at Chicago yesterday, presumably for feed, and sales were estimated at 27,000 bu to all points, a few cars being taken by the east. New No. 1 red sold on track at 9c over September, and there was some demand for elevator No. 2 rye. Local operators were on the buying side of futures, which advanced 1⅛@2¾c despite the weakness in wheat. September closed at 59¼c and December, 65c.

Receiver Is Sought for Warner Bros.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 22.—(AP)—A petition asking for the appointment of a receiver for Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., and an accounting, was filed today with the clerk of the Court of Chancery here.

R. I. Nelson, a Boston business man, who said he was a stockholder in the corporation, is the plaintiff in the suit, which is also directed against Renwar, Inc., a holding company of Warner Brothers pictures. The officers and directors are named as defendants although no names are specified.

The petition charges mismanagement on the part of the officers and alleges that "excessive prices have been paid for theaters and real estate."

Renwar, Inc., the petition cites, bought up the theaters and theater sites and sold them to Warner Brothers.

The Court of Chancery is not scheduled to convene until September.

Warner Denies Charges.

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., said today that charges contained in the suit for a receivership filed in Wilmington, Del., by Ira I. Nelson of Boston were unfounded and that proper answer and adequate proof disproving them would be made at the earliest possible moment. Records of the company show that Nelson has 300 shares of stock registered in his name.

H. M. Warner, president of Warner Brothers Pictures, issued a statement in which he said "the allegations are false and apparently maliciously made" and that "the presumption is the petition was filed for the purpose of injuriously affecting the price of the stock."

U. S. INCREASES LEAD IN OUTPUT OF CHEMICALS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 22.—United States production of chemicals increased in value from $816,000,000 in 1913 to $2,268,000,000 in 1927, a growth of 278 per cent, according to the index published by the New York Trust company. This compares with an increase of 220 per cent in world production.

"While in 1913 the United States accounted for 34 per cent of the world production," the survey said, "in 1927 its contribution had increased to approximately 43 per cent. In comparison, Germany, the next largest producer, was responsible for 24 per cent of the total in 1913, but only for 16 per cent in 1927.

"Similarly, Great Britain's share fell from 11 per cent in 1913 to 9.5 per cent in 1927, and that of France fell from 8.5 per cent to 6.8 per cent. In 1913 Germany and Great Britain together produced more chemicals than the United States, but by 1927 we had far outdistanced them and accounted for the equivalent of the production of the eight leading European countries combined.

"With immensely increased production, the United States has progressed much further than other countries in the common aim to reduce national dependence upon outside sources of supply. Approximately 90 per cent of the total domestic consumption last year was produced in the United States. While our imports exceed in total value those of any other country, our per capita ratio is considerably lower.

Chicago Great Western Pushes Improvement Plans

The Chicago Great Western railroad is continuing its program of improvement for 1930, according to President V. V. Boatner. "Our attitude is best evidenced by the fact that we have just ordered fifteen new heavy freight locomotives which is a duplicate of the order filled earlier in the year." He stated that the road's officials are making every effort to prepare for the increased traffic which will come with an upturn in business.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 22.—Some of the boys tried to get steamed up over the tobacco shares in the late trading on the stock exchange today. Others took a sudden liking to some of the utility issues. Both groups did some brisk buying for a little spell and succeeded in stirring up enough of a rally to wipe out a majority of the earlier losses and get the market on its feet again.

Like everything else connected with this quiet market here of late, it was a professional show, pure and simple. That is to say, it didn't mean much so far as pointing a course for the future is concerned.

In Singsong Fashion.

Outside of the flurry in the tobacco stocks—based on the July report for the trade published earlier in the day showing increased output in all domestic manufacturers for the first seven months—and the lesser display of activity in the utilities, market operations went on in a singsong fashion throughout the five hour session. Price changes in the main were fractional and the ticker had long periods of inactivity between sales. The total turnover was only 1,335,680 more shares, one of the smallest of the year.

There was nothing in the day's news of sufficient importance to influence heavy undertakings on either side. Announcement of the filing of a receivership suit against Warner Brothers was reckoned an unfavorable factor, but rumor of such a move had been current yesterday, and its effect was not so marked as it might have been. Then, too, it was reflected that the suit was by a small stockholder dissatisfied with the management—another of a growing series of such actions, most of which are thrown out of court before they get far.

That the financial community is becoming rather case-hardened to such actions was evidenced by the fact that the shares of the picture concern rallied impressively after the news came out, showing a net loss of only a fraction on the day, against a 2 point dip recorded during the forenoon.

Razor Stocks Advance.

The razor stocks which have been thumbed all over the board for the last week on rumors that negotiations for a mig merger had fallen through took a new lease on life, Gillette and Auto Strop both advancing smartly. Auto Strop's closing price registered a net gain on the day of 3 points.

Another feature on the upside was a spurt of nearly six points in Diamond Match, carrying it to a new price peak. Action of this stock tended to indicate that there may be some-

Top yesterday, $10.75; average, $9.65.

Receipts at Chicago today, 500 cattle, 8,000 hogs, and 5,000 sheep.

Cattle and lambs yesterday held their recent sharp gains, while hogs declined unevenly 10@50c, lightest weights leading the way down from the year's peak—established on Thursday. Although hog receipts continued small, available supplies exceeded trade requirements and local interests were quick to take advantage of the situation.

Packer buyers put up the largest loa l droves of the week, Armour, Swift and Wilson handling a combined total of about 8,000, including 4,000 direct.

Prevailing quotations are still $1.50 @2.00 above two weeks ago. Reports from packing houses state that the demand for meat is the best of the season. Pork loins in mid-week advanced to 17@33c on the wholesale market, equaling the highest point in two years. Prices have gained 4@7c during the week and are 6@11c above late last month.

Monday Hogs Bid $11.60.

Traders regarded yesterday's sharp break in the cash trade as a temporary setback and were bidding steadily for contracts for future delivery. Bids of $11.60 were made on the "to arrive" market for next Monday's delivery, but there were no sellers at that figure.

Five carloads of December light were sold at $8.90. Volume of trade in the hog future market this week has been the largest since middle of June. Bids for feeding lambs for future delivery were raised 25c more yesterday. Bids of $7.50 were made on 10 loads of feeders for September delivery.

The cattle market was firm at the week's $1.00@2.00 advance, with the top sale above $11.00 for the first time for Friday in many weeks. Good 1,094 lb long yearlings reached $11.25, while $11.10 was paid for some baby beef heifers averaging 810 lbs.

Butcher stock showed little change yesterday, but gains for the week amounted to 25@50c in most instances. Light heifers are closing $1.00 above a week ago. Calves were steady, but show $1.00 advance for the week. Stockers and feeders are in good demand at the 50@75c advance.

Sheep Receipts Small.

Yesterday's supply of lambs changed hands at about steady prices, although trading was not as active as Thursday's market. Natives topped the list at $10.75, prime westerns going at $10.60 and yearlings at $7.75@8.50. Aged sheep were scarce and unchanged at $4.00@4.50 for old ewes.

Demand for feeding lambs continued good at $7.25@7.75. Sheep receipts continue small for the time of year. Arrivals at Chicago so far this month at 216,000 show a decrease of 20 per cent compared with a year ago.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 500 cattle, 8,000 hogs, and 5,000 sheep, against 698 cattle, 6,386 hogs, and 961 sheep the previous Saturday, and 342 cattle, 4,151 hogs, and 405 sheep a year ago.

Probable receipts of hogs at Chicago for next Monday are estimated from 35,000 to 50,000. J. A. Bunyan marked 35,000, M. J. Berkery 37,000, W. T. Reneker 38,000, H. C. Carlson 39,000, C. Southwick, A. G. Welhener and H. Pattison 40,000, F. M. Sherwood 41,000, F. Knutzen and E. S. Waterbury 42,000, J. T. Brown and G. Brittain 44,000, W. C. White and J. M. Waters 45,000, and C. thing to recent rumors of a pending split-up in the shares and the payment of a handsome extra dividend.

Copper, Rail Shares Heavy.

Copper and rail shares generally were rather heavy, several issues of each group selling to new lows for the year or longer. Baltimore and Ohio and Illinois Central were among the carriers dipping to new 1930 bottoms. Anaconda, Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco and Calumet and Arizona in the red metals division were all under pressure in response to unfavorable conditions in the industry.

Most of the big leaders reached their best prices of the recent movement, while the buying wave was on. U. S. Steel, General Electric, General Motors, and American Can were among the stronger ones. General Electric was helped by the declaration of its regular dividend and its price moved up nearly two points following the announcement; but eased off fractionally again toward the last.

Features Utilities.

Standard Gas was a feature of the utilities, going ahead for more than 2 points.

International Business Machine advanced some 4 points on a few sales, but was unable to hold more than half of its gain in the face of later selling.

Money closed the week without essential change in its character. Call funds were quoted at 2 per cent throughout the day, but accommodations as usual were available in the "outside" market at the 1½ per cent level.

REGINA, SASKATCHEWAN AIRPORT.

The official opening of Regina, Saskatchewan, new $100,000 municipal airport will take place Sept. 15.

PRICE OF PENN CRUDE OIL IS BOOSTED TO 35C

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 22.—The Joseph Seep purchasing agency of the South Penn Oil company today advanced the price of Pennsylvania rude oil from 25 to 35 cents a barrel.

Oil in the Bradford district was advanced the maximum of 35 cents a barrel to $2.50. Oil run through the National Transit line outside Bradford district was advanced 25 cents a barrel to $2.25. Oil run through the South West Penn pipe lines and that run through the Eureka pipe lines also was advanced 25 cents a barrel to $2.25 and $2.15, respectively.

The Tide Water Oil company also advanced prices. It posted an increase of 25 cents a barrel on Bradford and Allegheny crude oil run in Bradford transit lines, making the new price $2.50 a barrel.

These advances are the first to be made after a series of cuts made over a period of several months. They are a recognition of the action of the producers of crude oil in the Pennsylvania field in curtailing output this summer, it was said here today. A 50 per cent curtailment was put into effect in Bradford and Allegheny counties, while in adjacent districts production was cut about 30 per cent following the general slash in the price of crude oil.

Another factor in the restoration of prices is the improved demand for Pennsylvania crude oil, it was stated in the oil trade today.

OWNER OF ST. LOUIS BROWNS PURCHASES RYAN AVIATION PLANT

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 22.—(AP)—The plant of the Ryan Air Craft corporation, makers of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's famous Spirit of St. Louis, which was closed Aug. 1 because of business depression, has been purchased by Phil de C. Ball, aviation enthusiast and owner of the St. Louis Browns American league baseball club, it was announced today.

Ball bought the property from the Detroit Aircraft corporation, in which he is a stockholder. It includes the building and machinery, but does not involve the manufacturing rights for Ryan planes, which will be manufactured in Detroit. Ball said he has no immediate plans for using the factory. He declined to reveal the purchase price.

Japanese Exports to U. S. Drop in First Six Months

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Exports from Japan proper to the United States during the first six months of 1930 were valued at $108,872,000, as against $185,294,000 for the corresponding period in 1929, the United States commerce department announced today.

CANADA FUR FARMS.

The fur farm industry of Canada continues to expand. During 1928, according to a report of the bureau of statistics, there were 4,326 fur farms in operation, against 3,565 in 1927. The value of the fur bearing animals on these farms was $16,401,400 and the annual revenue from them $6,336,446.

BOND MARKET IN GOTHAM REACHES NEW HIGH LEVEL

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The listed bond market was carried to a new high level for the year today on the strength of selective buying of domestic issues. It was the second time this week that the former high mark for the year has been revised in the averages.

The advance was ascribed to the strength of railroad and utility issues, with the latter profiting from increased buying. Many seasoned issues, which have previously reached new peaks on the present forward movement, were conspicuous in the list of carrier issues which sold at new top prices.

They included Chicago and Alton 3s, Canadian National 4½s, Cincinnati, Indiana, St. Louis, and Chicago 4s, Rock Island and Pacific 4s of 1988, Lehigh and New York 4s, Toledo and Ohio Central 5s, Wabash second 5s, and Western Maryland 4s of 1952.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Cotton goods were quieter and slightly firmer in the gray goods division today. Sales of print cloths and sheetings will approximate 300,000 pieces for the week. Burlaps were firmer and moderate buying was reported for spot and shipment deliveries. Wool goods were selling in small lots. Raw silk was unchanged. Fall merchandise is moving very moderately.

$72,822,020 in Bonds Due Next Month

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 22.—Corporate bonds and notes falling due in September, 1930, aggregate $72,822,020, against $68,827,950 in August and $33,986,180 in September, 1929. Most of the issues falling due have already been provided for, so that little or no new financing will be necessary.

Industrial obligations constitute more than half of the maturities next month, with a total of $38,794,030. Among these, the largest and most important item is $17,476,500 Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation 6 per cent note, due Sept. 1, payment of which has already been provided. Another large issue, due Sept. 1, is $11,500,000 Morris & Co. 7½ per cent notes.

Erie Issue Largest Item.

Railroad bonds and notes falling due total $28,506,490. Of this amount $11,569,000 Erie Railway 7 per cent bonds, due Sept. 1, comprise the largest item. New York, Lake Erie & Western also has $2,005,500 consolidated 7 per cent bonds due Sept. 1.

Public utility maturities are comparatively light and all of them will be payable on the first day of the month. Hartford Street Rail company $2,493,000 first mortgage 4 per cent bonds comprise the largest item.

Money Market Helps.

Corporations finding it necessary to refund loans in the near future will be aided by the money market, which is likely to be in good position, thus making it possible to float loans at comparatively low figures. The security market also is in good position to receive and digest new offerings, as very few bonds have been placed on the market in the last fortnight.

CANADIAN NEWSPRINT.

With one exception—that of 1929—the production of newsprint in Canada for the seven months ended July 31 has been a record one, at 1,500,341 tons, as compared with 1,540,343 tons in 1929.

[illegible]2,822,020 [illegible]n Bonds Due [illegible] Next Month

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[illegible] York, Aug. 22.—Corporate bonds [illegible]otes falling due in September, [illegible] aggregate $72,822,020, against [illegible]7,950 in August and $33,956,180 [illegible]ptember, 1929. Most of the issues [illegible] due have already been provided [illegible] that little or no new financing [illegible]e necessary.

[illegible]ustrial obligations constitute [illegible] than half of the maturities next [illegible]h, with a total of $38,794,630. [illegible] these, the largest and most im[illegible]nt item is $17,476,500 Sinclair [illegible]olidated Oil corporation 6 per [illegible] note, due Sept. 1, payment of [illegible] has already been provided. An[illegible] large issue, due Sept. 1, is $11,[illegible]0 Morris & Co. 7½ per cent [illegible]

Erie Issue Largest Item.

[illegible]lroad bonds and notes falling due [illegible] $28,506,490. Of this amount $15,[illegible]0 Erie Railway 7 per cent bonds, [illegible]Sept. 1, comprise the largest item. [illegible] York, Lake Erie & Western also [illegible]$2,095,500 consolidated 7 per cent [illegible]s due Sept. 1.

[illegible]blic utility maturities are com[illegible]ively light and all of them will [illegible]ayable on the first day of the [illegible]h. Hartford Street Rail com[illegible] $2,493,000 first mortgage 4 per [illegible] bonds comprise the largest item.

Money Market Helps.

[illegible]rporations finding it necessary to [illegible]d loans in the near future will [illegible]ded by the money market, which [illegible]kely to be in good position, thus [illegible]ing it possible to float loans at [illegible]paratively low figures. PLANS TWENTY BRICK HOMES ON NORTHWEST SIDE

On Rutherford and Oak Park Avenues.

BY AL CHASE.

Permits have been taken out by A. J. Schorsch for the erection of twenty brick residences to be erected on Oak Park avenue and Rutherford avenue, near School street, at a total cost of $120,000. Mr. Schorsch also took out a permit for a $40,000 one story store building, now under construction at 5936-46 Irving Park boulevard. It will contain four stores, one of which already has been leased to the Scott Stores, Inc., subsidiary of Butler Bros. Mr. Schorsch is erecting a total of forty-five houses this year, including the twenty for which permits have just been issued. Tiesen & Monberg are the architects for both the Irving Park boulevard business building and the residences. Work will start on the houses immediately.

Construction Still Lags.

New construction contracts let in Chicago during the last week totaled $1,222,000, according to the F. W. Dodge corporation. These were distributed as follows: $581,500 for commercial buildings; $348,500 for residential buildings; $120,000 for religious and memorial; $108,000 for social and recreational buildings and $64,000 for industrial structures.

For the month to Aug. 16 construction contracts in Chicago totaled $3,484,000, as compared with $8,621,800 for the corresponding period of 1929. For the year to date new construction undertaken in Chicago amounted to $79,057,900, as compared with $235,887,700 for the corresponding period ended Aug. 16, 1929.

Northern Illinois Figures.

Construction contracts awarded in northern Illinois, inclusive of Chicago, during the week from Aug. 9 through Aug. 15 total $4,122,800. This brought the August total to date to $14,281,300, which was at the rate of $1,098,600 per business day. In the preceding month the daily rate of contract letting was $775,100, while for August, 1929, the daily rate was $1,474,100.

Lerner Stores corporation of New York has leased the store at 6340 South Halsted street from Morris Seigan for a period of years at an undisclosed consideration. Harry M. & Louis Englestein were brokers.

CROPS IN THE DAKOTAS HAVE SPOTTED YIELDS

The mid-month report of the federal agricultural statistician at Grand Forks, N. D., shows crop conditions in a further decline. He says that while crops in the Red river valley have not shown the same decline as is evidenced west of the valley, the effects of the prolonged dry period has been felt there as well as over the entire state. Crops planted late will probably fail to make a crop as in some cases rain now cannot help them. Flax planted early shows good promise but stands planted later are very poor, also there will be a poor yield of corn on account of the dry weather as indicated by short tasseling. Potatoes are much in need of moisture and unless some is received very soon the yield will be below the average for the state.

Rainfall in South Dakota during the first half of this month was below average practically all over the state, and this together with the excessive heat made the outlook less favorable for corn on Aug. 15 than on the first of the month. The excessive heat which prevailed in this district during the corn pollination period parched the corn silk as soon as it was exposed and this prevented fertilization, resulting in barren stalks.

LARD ACTIVE AND HIGHER

Active buying of December and January lard by speculators who picked up more than the usual lines, combined with selling of September by scattered holders which was taken by cash interests, was a feature of the market. Close on lard futures was a gain of 2½@12½c. Liverpool lard was unchanged to 3d higher. Export clearances from the seaboard were 2,795,425 lbs. Bacon, 70,000 lbs. Cash trade in lard and meat was said to be good.

A reversal in the action of hog values resulted in net losses of 25 to 40c, mostly on light weights. Receipts at western markets were increased, and not only exceeded a week ago but also for the same time the last two years. Prices follow:

IOWA CORN CROP PROSPECTS

An unusually large percentage of barren stalks are to be found in corn fields in Iowa, according to a special investigation made by J. E. Bennett & Co.'s representative. Field count of the actual number of ears found on 100 stalks at 12 points in the best section of the state shows the following:

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

While there were intimations of a good export business in hard winter wheat at the Gulf, the seaboard generally reported foreign demand as slow, and no sales of consequence were claimed. The basis at the Gulf, however, was firmer, with first half September quoted at 7½c over Chicago September, the best price so far this season. Russia, it was claimed, sold 1,000,000 bu wheat to Europe on Thursday.

Southeastern states were in the Chicago market yesterday for supplies of red winter wheat. Ordinarily the demand is filled from Ohio and Indiana, but the latter states seem to be holding back their grain. No. 1 red on track here was quoted at 2@2¼c over the future, the best basis so far, with No. 2 red 1½@1¾c over. At St. Louis No. 1 red was said to have brought 4c over Chicago September, against 10c under a month ago.

Offerings of cash wheat in all markets were smaller, with the basis on hard winter here ¼@½c higher, with No. 1 hard ⅜@1¼c over September. Spring wheat was firm at ½@1c over for No. 1 northern.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Friday: Wheat, 61 cars; corn, 222 cars; oats, 74 cars; rye, 3 cars; barley, 23 cars.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Butter futures worked toward a higher level on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, gaining ½c early in the session, but easing at the close. November ended the day at 41⅛@41¼c, up ⅛@¼c from the previous close. Egg futures held firm. November gaining fractionally at the opening but closing unchanged at 28⅜c.

November butter opened higher and advanced as a few longs added to their holdings. The market hesitated at the higher level and selling pressure entered, bringing about a recession from the peak. The four principal storage markets reported 344,000 pounds more removed than last year, while the spot market was firm. Out of storage movement of eggs is liberal, the four markets taking 6,700 cases more than a year ago, and steadiness in the spot market also helped the distant delivery. Sales: butter, 161 cars; eggs, 51 cars; receipts, butter, 10,543 tubs; eggs, 7,331 cases. Prices follow:

VISIT CHICAGO'S GREATEST USED CAR SHOWROOM

BEFORE YOU BUY AN AUTOMOBILE

Legitimate Reductions of $300 on Every Car

We have the greatest selection of used cars under one roof in Chicago. No matter what you buy, you are protected by the famous Studebaker Used Car Pledge—that guarantees 5 days free driving trial.

PACKARD TOURING. This str. 8 is in wonderful all-around condition. Has a wealth of extra equipment. $245.

DODGE SEDAN. This car must be seen to be appreciated. The motor runs smoothly and quietly and the upholstery, tires and finish are okay. $175.

DIANA 8 SEDAN. Here is a distinguished looking car that still has years of satisfactory performance in it. Painted an attractive two-tone green. Many extras. $395.

STUDEBAKER VICTORIA. Spec. 6. From the standpoint of performance and appearance this car will satisfy you in every respect. The tires, finish and upholstery are in splendid condition. $95.

HUDSON BROUGHAM. This is the last word for sparkling performance and attractive appearance. Has every essential extra. $165.

NASH COUPE. Std. 6 that is finished in maroon. The owner of this car only used it to drive up to the golf course and back. Consequently it's in splendid condition today. 4 whl. brakes and many extras. $185.

PIERCE-ARROW TOURING. Here is probably the best open car buy in Chicago. The motor runs very smoothly and every detail of the exterior and interior is in splendid shape. Many extras. $195.

JORDAN SEDAN. It's a line 8 with 4 whl. brakes, driving light, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. The motor runs efficiently. Nice appearance. $195.

PACKARD SEDAN. Here is an expensive car at an inexpensive price. Was chauffeur driven so it's in topnotch condition now. Has a wealth of extra equipment. $195.

OAKLAND COACH. A school teacher owned this car and she gave it very good attention. We checked over the motor, equipped it with new tires and priced it unusually low for quick sale. 4 whl. brakes and many extras. $250.

CADILLAC SEDAN. 7 pass. that was turned in by an elderly couple who gave it unusual care. Equipped with 4 wheel brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. It will give you new car satisfaction today. $250.

STUDEBAKER DICTATOR. Late 5 pass. sedan that will stand the most exacting inspection you could make. The blue finish looks as though it were freshly ducoed, and the upholstery is expensive mohair. Motor is A1; 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $350.

ERSKINE CLUB SEDAN, 1929, that's a quality car throughout. It would take an expert to tell this car has ever been driven before. 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $395.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER SEDAN, 1928, that's 100% throughout; equipped with shock absorbers, driving light, bumpers, spare tire, etc. It's a beauty and will not last long at our special reduced price of $495.

CHRYSLER CABRIOLET. Late conv. model with a spacious rumble seat and a wealth of extras. Has an attractive paint job and the upholstery appears unworn. New tires. $545.

VIKING SEDAN. Late model 8. Finished a beautiful color. Has every essential extra. This car is an absolute knockout in appearance and the motor is unusually smooth. $685.

HUPMOBILE 8 SEDAN, 1929 7 pass. Has Pullman car comfort and exceptional performance. The upholstery appears unworn, and there are a dozen valuable extras. $985.

LIBERAL TERMS. OPEN EVES., SUN.
